Mission
Under the lordship of Jesus Christ, the mission of
The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary is to be totally committed to the Bible as the Word of God and to be a servant of the churches of the Southern Baptist Convention by training, educating, and preparing ministers of the gospel for more faithful service.
God calls ministers to serve His church, to feed His sheep, and to increase His glory through the preaching of the Gospel and the teaching of God’s Word.

Therefore, theological education is of eternal significance. The task of a theological seminary is to train, educate, and prepare God-called ministers of the Gospel for more faithful service. We do not have the power to make nor to call a minister. That power is God’s alone and the ministers He calls are a gift to His church. Southern Seminary stands ready to offer theological education marked by the highest standards of academic excellence and theological faithfulness. Our commitment is to be a servant institution to the church of the Lord Jesus Christ and to do all within our power to arm and equip ministers of the gospel for the task to which they are called.

Now in our 15th decade of service, Southern Seminary has a proud legacy and a promising future. We are committed to stand for the inerrancy of Scripture and for the faith “once for all delivered to the saints.”

Our faculty is marked by the highest standards of academic achievement and scholarly application. Beyond this, they are also gifted teachers who invest themselves in their students through classroom teaching and other opportunities.

Southern Seminary is determined to shape the minister in heart, soul, mind, and the application of ministry. To that end, we offer programs covering an array of specialized ministries. Within this institution are first-rate programs ranging from baccalaureate to doctoral degrees. At the core of all of these is the commitment to biblical truth, to ministerial excellence, and a faithfulness in the service of the church. Each of the schools of the Seminary shares an absolute commitment to this common task and vision.

The beginning and end of our work, as the beginning of our lives, must be measured in light of the glory of God. If God has called you to ministry, do not settle for anything less than a theological education that will prepare you for even greater service to the church, even greater faithfulness to the Lord Jesus Christ, and to the greater glory of God.

R. Albert Mohler, Jr.
President
Office of the President

R. Albert Mohler, J r.
President of The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary; Professor of Christian Theology (1993)
B.A., Samford University; M.Div., Ph.D., The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary

Dr. R. Albert Mohler, Jr., serves as the ninth president of The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary—the flagship school of the Southern Baptist Convention and one of the largest seminaries in the world.

A leader among American evangelicals, Dr. Mohler was listed in a TIME magazine cover story as one of its “50 for the Future”—fifty persons under age 40 who are emerging national leaders in their fields. Christianity Today described Dr. Mohler as one of the 40 emerging evangelical leaders. Change, a national higher education magazine, named Dr. Mohler one of 40 “Young Leaders of the Academy,” and Louisville-based Business First hailed him as one of 40 emerging leaders under the age of 40 in the city.

Dr. Mohler is a theologian and an ordained minister, having served as pastor and staff minister of several Southern Baptist churches. He came to the presidency of Southern Seminary from service as editor of The Christian Index, the oldest of the state papers serving the Southern Baptist Convention.

A native of Lakeland, Florida, Dr. Mohler was a Faculty Scholar at Florida Atlantic University before receiving his Bachelor of Arts degree from Samford University in Birmingham, Alabama. He holds a Master of Divinity degree and the Doctor of Philosophy (in systematic and historical theology) from Southern Seminary. He has pursued additional study at the St. Meinrad School of Theology and has done research at Oxford University (England).

Dr. Mohler’s writings have been published throughout the United States and Europe. He has contributed chapters to several recent books including Here We Stand: A Call From Confessing Evangelicals and The Coming Evangelical Crisis. He served as General Editor of The Gods of the Age or the God of the Ages: Essays by Carl F. H. Henry and served from 1985 to 1993 as Associate Editor of Preaching, a journal for evangelical preachers. He currently serves as Editor-in-Chief of The Southern Baptist Journal of Theology. Forthcoming book projects include works on the future of evangelical theology and on the evangelical responses to the cultural crisis.

As a regular syndicated columnist for Religion News Service and correspondent for the evangelical newsweekly WORLD, Dr. Mohler’s articles on theological, moral, and cultural issues have been published extensively. Widely sought as a columnist and commentator, Dr. Mohler has been quoted in the leading newspapers of the nation, including The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, USA Today, The Washington Post, The Atlanta Journal/Constitution, The Dallas Morning News, and many others. He has also appeared on such national news programs as CNN’s “Larry King Live,” the “Today Show,” “Dateline NBC” and Fox’s “O’Reilly Factor,” among others. Dr. Mohler hosts his own radio program “Truth on the Line” and also provides commentary for the Salem Radio Network, the largest Christian radio network in the United States. Called “an articulate voice for conservative Christianity at large” by The Chicago Tribune, Dr. Mohler’s mission is to address contemporary theological and cultural issues from a consistent and explicit Christian worldview.

A leader within the Southern Baptist Convention, Dr. Mohler has served in several offices including a term as Chairman of the SBC Committee on Resolutions which is responsible for the denomination’s official statements on moral and doctrinal issues. He also served on the seven-person Program and Structure Study Committee which recommended the 1995 restructuring of the nation’s largest Protestant denomination. In 2000, Dr. Mohler served on a blue-ribbon panel which made recommendations to the Southern Baptist Convention for revisions to the Baptist Faith and Message, the statement of faith most widely held among Southern Baptists.

He has presented lectures or addresses at institutions including Wheaton College, Samford University, Trinity Evangelical Divinity School, the University of Richmond, Mercer University, Cedarville College, Beeson Divinity School, Reformed Theological Seminary, Geneva College, Covenant Theological Seminary, The Cumberland School of Law, The Regent University School of Law, and the historic Chautauqua Institution, among many others.

In addition to his presidential duties at Southern Baptists’ flagship seminary, Dr. Mohler is Professor of Christian Theology and also serves as host of “The Bible and Life,” a weekly television program which reaches over thirty million homes throughout the FamilyNet television system.

He is listed in Who’s Who in America and other biographical reference works and serves on the boards of several organizations including the Kentuckiana Metroversity and the Theological Education Association of Mid-America. He serves on the Board of Reference serving The Council for Biblical Manhood and Womanhood.

Abstract of Principles

When the original charter of The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary was adopted in 1858, it contained the following statement which continues as a part of the “fundamental laws.”

Every professor of the institution shall be a member of a regular Baptist church; and all persons accepting professorships in this seminary shall be considered, by such acceptance, as engaging to teach in accordance with, and not contrary to, the Abstract of Principles hereinafter laid down, a departure from which principles on his part shall be considered grounds for his resignation or removal by the Trustees, to wit:

I. The Scriptures

The Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments were given by inspiration of God, and are the only sufficient, certain and authoritative rule of all saving knowledge, faith and obedience.

II. God

There is but one God, the Maker, Preserver and Ruler of all things, having in and of Himself, all perfections, and being infinite in them all; and to Him all creatures owe the highest love, reverence and obedience.

III. The Trinity

God is revealed to us as Father, Son and Holy Spirit each with distinct personal attributes, but without division of nature, essence or being.

IV. Providence

God from eternity, decrees or permits all things that come to pass, and perpetually upholds, directs and governs all creatures and all events; yet so as not in any wise to be the author or approver of sin nor to destroy the free will and responsibility of intelligent creatures.

V. Election

Election is God’s eternal choice of some persons unto everlasting life—not because of foreseen merit in them, but of His mere mercy in Christ—in consequence of which choice they are called, justified and glorified.

VI. The Fall of Man

God originally created Man in His own image, and free from sin; but, through the temptation of Satan, he transgressed the command of God, and fell from his original holiness and righteousness; whereby his posterity inherit a nature corrupt and wholly opposed to God and His law, are under condemnation, and as soon as they are capable of moral action, become actual transgressors.

VII. The Mediator

Jesus Christ, the only begotten Son of God, is the divinely appointed mediator between God and man. Having taken upon Himself human nature, yet without sin, He perfectly fulfilled the law; suffered and died upon the cross for the salvation of sinners. He was buried, and rose again the third day, and ascended to His Father, at whose right hand He ever liveth to make intercession for His people. He is the only Mediator, the Prophet, Priest and King of the Church, and Sovereign of the Universe.

VIII. Regeneration

Regeneration is a change of heart, wrought by the Holy Spirit, who quickeneth the dead in trespasses and sins enlightening their minds spiritually and savingly to understand the Word of God, and renewing their whole nature, so that they love and practice holiness. It is a work of God’s free and special grace alone.

IX. Repentance

Repentance is an evangelical grace, wherein a person being by the Holy Spirit, made sensible of the manifold evil of his sin, humbleth himself for it, with godly sorrow, detestation of it, and self-abhorrence, with a purpose and endeavor to walk before God so as to please Him in all things.

X. Faith

Saving faith is the belief, on God’s authority, of whatsoever is revealed in His Word concerning Christ; accepting and resting upon Him alone for justification and eternal life. It is wrought in the heart by the Holy Spirit, and is accompanied by all other saving graces, and leads to a life of holiness.

XI. Justification

Justification is God’s gracious and full acquittal of sinners, who believe in Christ, from all sin, through the satisfaction that Christ has made; not for anything wrought in them or done by them; but on account of the obedience and satisfaction of Christ, they receiving and resting on Him and His righteousness by faith.

XII. Sanctification

Those who have been regenerated are also sanctified by God’s word and Spirit dwelling in them. This sanctification is progressive through the supply of Divine strength, which all saints seek to obtain, pressing after a heavenly life in cordial obedience to all Christ’s commands.

XIII. Perseverance of the Saints

Those whom God hath accepted in the Beloved, and sanctified by His Spirit, will never totally nor finally fall away from the state of grace, but shall certainly persevere to the end; and though they may fall through neglect and temptation, into sin, whereby they grieve the Spirit, impair their graces and comforts, bring reproach on the Church, and temporal judgments on themselves, yet they shall be renewed again unto repentance, and be kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation.

XIV. The Church
The Lord Jesus is the head of the Church, which is composed of all His true disciples, and in Him is invested supremely all power for its government. According to His commandment, Christians are to associate themselves into particular societies or churches; and to each of these churches He hath given needful authority for administering that order, discipline and worship which He hath appointed. The regular officers of a Church are Bishops or Elders, and Deacons.

XV. Baptism
Baptism is an ordinance of the Lord Jesus, obligatory upon every believer, wherein he is immersed in water in the name of the Father, and the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, as a sign of his fellowship with the death and resurrection of Christ, of remission of sins, and of giving himself up to God, to live and walk in newness of life. It is prerequisite to church fellowship, and to participation in the Lord’s Supper.

XVI. The Lord’s Supper
The Lord’s Supper is an ordinance of Jesus Christ, to be administered with the elements of bread and wine, and to be observed by His churches till the end of the world. It is in no sense a sacrifice, but is designed to commemorate His death, to confirm the faith and other graces of Christians, and to be a bond, pledge and renewal of their communion with Him, and of their church fellowship.

XVII. The Lord’s Day
The Lord’s Day is a Christian institution for regular observance, and should be employed in exercises of worship and spiritual devotion, both public and private, resting from worldly employments and amusements, works of necessity and mercy only excepted.

XVIII. Liberty of Conscience
God alone is Lord of the conscience; and He hath left it free from the doctrines and commandments of men, which are in anything contrary to His word, or not contained in it. Civil magistrates being ordained of God, sucession in all lawful things commanded by them ought to be yielded by us in the Lord, not only for wrath, but also for conscience sake.

XIX. The Resurrection
The bodies of men after death return to dust, but their spirits return immediately to God—the righteous to rest with Him; the wicked, to be reserved under darkness to the judgment. At the last day, the bodies of all the dead, both just and unjust, will be raised.

XX. The Judgment
God hath appointed a day, wherein He will judge the world by Jesus Christ, when every one shall receive according to his deeds; the wicked shall go into everlasting punishment; the righteous, into everlasting life.

The Baptist Faith and Message

Report of the Baptist Faith and Message Study Committee to the Southern Baptist Convention June 14, 2000

The 1999 session of the Southern Baptist Convention, meeting in Atlanta, Georgia, adopted the following motion addressed to the President of the Convention:

“I move that in your capacity as Southern Baptist Convention chairman, you appoint a blue ribbon committee to review the Baptist Faith and Message statement with the responsibility to report and bring any recommendations to this meeting next June in Orlando.”

President Paige Patterson appointed the committee as follows:
Max Barnett (OK), Steve Gaines (AL), Susie Hawkins (TX), Rudy A. Hernandez (TX), Charles S. Kelley, Jr. (LA), Heather King (IN), Richard D. Land (TN), Fred Luter (LA), R. Albert Mohler, Jr. (KY), T. C. Pinckney (VA), Nelson Price (GA), Adrian Rogers (TN), Roger Spradlin (CA), Simon Tsoi (AZ), Jerry Vines (FL). Adrian Rogers (TN) was appointed chairman.

Your committee thus constituted begs leave to present its report as follows:

Baptists are a people of deep beliefs and cherished doctrines. Throughout our history we have been a confessional people, adopting statements of faith as a witness to our beliefs and a pledge of our faithfulness to the doctrines revealed in Holy Scripture.

Our confessions of faith are rooted in historical precedent, as the church in every age has been called upon to define and defend its beliefs. Each generation of Christians bears the responsibility of guarding the treasury of truth that has been entrusted to us [II Timothy 1:14]. Facing a new century, Southern Baptists must meet the demands and duties of the present hour.

New challenges to faith appear in every age. A pervasive anti-supernaturalism in the culture was answered by Southern Baptists in 1925, when the Baptist Faith and Message was first adopted by this Convention. In 1963, Southern Baptists responded to assaults upon the authority and truthfulness of the Bible by adopting revisions to the Baptist Faith and Message. The Convention added an article on “The Family” in 1998, thus answering cultural confusion with the clear teachings of Scripture. Now, faced with a culture hostile to the very notion of truth, this generation of Baptists must claim anew the eternal truths of the Christian faith.

Your committee respects and celebrates the heritage of the Baptist Faith and Message, and affirms the decision of the Convention in 1925 to adopt the New Hampshire Confession of Faith, “revised at certain points and with some additional articles growing out of certain needs . . . .” We also respect the important contributions of the 1925 and 1963 editions of the Baptist Faith and Message.

With the 1963 committee, we have been guided in our work by the 1925 “statement of the historic Baptist conception of the nature and function of confessions of faith in our religious and denominational life . . . .” It is, therefore, quoted in full as a part of this report to the Convention:

(1) That they constitute a consensus of opinion of some Baptist body, large or small, for the general instruction and guidance of our own people and others concerning those articles of the Christian faith which are most surely held among us. They are not intended to add anything to the simple conditions of salvation revealed in the New Testament, viz., repentance toward God and faith in Jesus Christ as Saviour and Lord.

(2) That we do not regard them as complete statements of our faith, having any quality of finality or infallibility. As in the past so in the future, Baptists should hold themselves free to revise their statements of faith as may seem to them wise and expedient at any time.

(3) That any group of Baptists, large or small, have the inherent right to draw up for themselves and publish to the world a confession of their faith whenever they may think it advisable to do so.

(4) That the sole authority for faith and practice among Baptists is the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments. Confessions are only guides in interpretation, having no authority over the conscience.

(5) That they are statements of religious convictions, drawn from the Scriptures, and are not to be used to hamper freedom of thought or investigation in other realms of life.

Baptists cherish and defend religious liberty, and deny the right of any secular or religious authority to impose a confession of faith upon a church or body of churches. We honor the principles of soul competency and the priesthood of believers, affirming together both our liberty in Christ and our accountability to each other under the Word of God.

Baptist churches, associations, and general bodies have adopted confessions of faith as a witness to the world, and as instruments of doctrinal accountability. We are not embarrassed to state before the world that these are doctrines we hold precious and as essential to the Baptist tradition of faith and practice.

As a committee, we have been charged to address the “certain needs” of our own generation. In an age increasingly hostile to Christian truth, our challenge is to express the truth as revealed in Scripture, and to bear witness to Jesus Christ, who is “the Way, the Truth, and the Life.”

The 1963 committee rightly sought to identify and affirm “certain definite doctrines that Baptists believe, cherish, and with which they have been and are now closely identified.” Our living faith is established upon eternal truths. “Thus this generation of Southern Baptists is in historic succession of intent and purpose as it endeavors to state for its time and theological climate those articles of the Christian faith which are most surely held among us.”

It is the purpose of this statement of faith and message to set forth certain teachings which we believe.

I. The Scriptures

The Holy Bible was written by men divinely inspired and is God’s revelation of Himself to man. It is a perfect treasure of divine instruction. It has God for its author, salvation for its end, and truth, without any mixture of error, for its matter. Therefore, all Scripture is totally true and trustworthy. It reveals the principles by which God judges us, and therefore, is, and will remain to the end of the world, the true center of Christian union, and the supreme standard by which all human conduct, creeds, and religious opinions should be tried. All Scripture is a testimony to Christ, who is Himself the focus of divine revelation.

II. God

There is one and only one living and true God. He is an intelligent, spiritual, and personal Being, the Creator, Redeemer, Preserver, and Ruler of the universe. God is infinite in holiness and all other perfections. God is all powerful and all knowing; and His perfect knowledge extends to all things, past, present, and future, including the future decisions of His free creatures. To Him we owe the highest love, reverence, and obedience. The eternal triune God reveals Himself to us as Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, with distinct personal attributes, but without division of nature, essence, or being.

A. God the Father

God as Father reigns with providential care over His universe, His creatures, and the flow of the stream of human history according to the purposes of His grace. He is all powerful, all knowing, all loving, and all wise. God is Father in truth to those who become children of God through faith in Jesus Christ. He is fatherly in His attitude toward all men.

B. God the Son

Christ is the eternal Son of God. In His incarnation as Jesus Christ He was conceived of the Holy Spirit and born of the virgin Mary. Jesus perfectly revealed and did the will of God, taking upon Himself human nature with its demands and necessities and identifying Himself completely with mankind yet without sin. He honored the divine law by His personal obedience, and in His substitutionary death on the cross He made provision for the redemption of men from sin. He was raised from the dead with a glorified body and appeared to His disciples as the person who was with them before His crucifixion. He ascended into heaven and is now exalted at the right hand of God where He is the One Mediator, fully God, fully man, in whose Person is effected the reconciliation between God and man. He will return in power and glory to judge the world and to consummate His redemptive mission. He now dwells in all believers as the living and ever present Lord.

C. God the Holy Spirit

The Holy Spirit is the Spirit of God, fully divine. He inspired holy men of old to write the Scriptures. Through illumination He enables men to understand truth. He exalts Christ. He convicts men of sin, of righteousness, and of judgment. He calls men to the Saviour, and effects regeneration. At the moment of regeneration He baptizes every believer into the Body of Christ. He cultivates Christian character, comforts believers, and bestows the spiritual gifts by which they serve God through His church. He seals the believer unto the day of final redemption. His presence in the Christian is the guarantee that God will bring the believer into the fullness of the stature of Christ. He enlightens and empowers the believer and the church in worship, evangelism, and service.

IV. Salvation

Salvation involves the redemption of the whole man, and is offered freely to all who accept Jesus Christ as Lord and Saviour, who by His own blood obtained eternal redemption for the believer. In its broadest sense salvation includes regeneration, justification, sanctification, and glorification. There is no salvation apart from personal faith in Jesus Christ as Lord.

A. Regeneration, or the new birth, is a work of God’s grace whereby believers become new creatures in Christ Jesus. It is a change of heart wrought by the Holy Spirit through conviction of sin, to which the sinner responds in repentance toward God and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. Repentance and faith are inseparable experiences of grace.

B. Justification is God’s gracious and full acquittal upon principles of His righteousness of all sinners who repent and believe in Christ. Justification brings the believer unto a relationship of peace with God.

C. Sanctification is the experience, beginning in regeneration, by which the believer is set apart to God’s purposes, and is enabled to progress toward moral and spiritual maturity through the presence and power of the Holy Spirit dwelling in him. Growth in grace should continue throughout the regenerate person’s life.

D. Glorification is the culmination of salvation and is the final blessed and abiding state of the redeemed.

V. God’s Purpose of Grace

Election is the gracious purpose of God, according to which He regenerates, justifies, sanctifies, and glorifies sinners. It is consistent with the free agency of man, and comprehends all the means in connection with the end. It is the glorious display of God’s sovereign goodness, and is infinitely wise, holy, and unchangeable. It excludes boasting and promotes humility.

All true believers endure to the end. Those whom God has accepted in Christ, and sanctified by His Spirit, will never fall away from the state of grace, but shall persevere to the end. Believers may fall into sin through neglect and temptation, whereby they grieve the Spirit, impair their graces and comforts, and bring reproach on the cause of Christ and temporal judgments on themselves; yet they shall be kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation.

VII. Baptism and the Lord’s Supper

Christian baptism is the immersion of a believer in water in the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. It is an act of obedience symbolizing the believer’s faith in a crucified, buried, and risen Saviour, the believer’s death to sin, the burial of the old life, and the resurrection to walk in newness of life in Christ Jesus. It is a testimony to His faith in the final resurrection of the dead. Being a church ordinance, it is prerequisite to the privileges of church membership and to the Lord’s Supper.

The Lord’s Supper is a symbolic act of obedience whereby members of the church, through partaking of the bread and the fruit of the vine, memorialize the death of the Redeemer and anticipate His second coming.

VIII. The Lord’s Day

The first day of the week is the Lord’s Day. It is a Christian institution for regular observance. It commemorates the resurrection of Christ from the dead and should include exercises of worship and spiritual devotion, both public and private. Activities on the Lord’s Day should be commensurate with the Christian’s conscience under the Lordship of Jesus Christ.

IX. The Kingdom

The Kingdom of God includes both His general sovereignty over the universe and His particular kingship over men who willfully acknowledge Him as King. Particularly the Kingdom is the realm of salvation into which men enter by trustful, childlike commitment to Jesus Christ. Christians ought to pray and to labor that the Kingdom may come and God’s Will shall be done on earth. The full consummation of the Kingdom awaits the return of Jesus Christ and the end of this age.

X. Last Things

God, in His own time and in His own way, will bring the world to its appropriate end. According to His promise, Jesus Christ will return personally and visibly in glory to the earth; the dead will be raised; and Christ will judge all men in righteousness. The unrighteous will be consigned to Hell, the place of everlasting punishment. The righteous in their resurrected and glorified bodies will receive their reward and will dwell forever in Heaven with the Lord.

XI. Evangelism and Missions

It is the duty and privilege of every follower of Christ and of every church of the Lord Jesus Christ to endeavor to make disciples of all nations. The new birth of man’s spirit by God’s Holy Spirit means the birth of love for others. Missionary effort on the part of all Christians is mandated by the Great Commission and by other methods in harmony with the gospel of Christ.

XII. Education

Christianity is the faith of enlightenment and intelligence. In Jesus Christ aside all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge. All sound learning is, therefore, a part of our Christian heritage. The new birth opens all human faculties and creates a thirst for knowledge. Moreover, the cause of education in the Kingdom of Christ is co-ordinate with the causes of missions and general benevolence, and should receive along with these the liberal support of the churches. An adequate system of Christian education is necessary to a complete education of Christ’s people.

In Christian education there should be a proper balance between academic freedom and academic responsibility. Freedom in any orderly relationship of human life is always limited and never absolute. The freedom of a teacher in a Christian school, college, or seminary is limited by the pre-eminence of Jesus Christ, by the authoritative nature of the Scriptures, and by the distinct purpose for which the school exists.

XIII. Stewardship

God is the source of all blessings, temporal and spiritual; all that we have and are we owe to Him. Christians have a spiritual stewardship to the whole world, a holy trustship in the gospel, and a binding stewardship in their possessions. They are therefore under obligation to use the time, talents, and material possessions; and should recognize all these as entrusted to them to use for the glory of God and for helping others. According to the Scriptures, Christians should contribute of their means cheerfully, regularly, systematically, proportionately, and liberally for the advancement of the Redeemer’s cause on earth.

XIV. Cooperation

Christ’s people should, as occasion requires, organize such associations and conventions as may best secure cooperation for the great objects of the Kingdom of God. Such organizations have no authority over one another or over the churches. They are voluntary and advisory bodies designed to elicit, combine, and direct the energies of our people in the most effective manner. Members of New Testament churches should cooperate with one another in carrying forward the missionary, educational, and benevolent ministries for the extension of Christ’s Kingdom. Christian unity in the New Testament sense is spiritual harmony and voluntary cooperation for common ends by various groups of Christ’s people. Cooperation is desirable between the various Christian denominations, when the end to be attained is itself justified, and when such cooperation involves no violation of conscience or compromise of loyalty to Christ and His Word as revealed in the New Testament.

XV. The Christian and the Social Order

All Christians are under obligation to seek to make the will of Christ supreme in our own lives and in human society. Means and methods used for the improvement of society and the establishment of righteousness among men can be truly and permanently helpful only when they are rooted in the regeneration of the individual by the saving grace of God in Jesus Christ. In the spirit of Christ, Christians should oppose racism, every form of greed, selfishness, and vice, and all forms of sexual immorality, including adultery, homosexuality, and pornography. We should work to provide for the orphaned, the needy, the abused, the aged, the helpless, and the sick. We should speak on behalf of the unborn and contend for the sanctity of all human life from conception to natural death. Every Christian should seek to bring industry, government, and society as a whole under the sway of the principles of righteousness, truth, and brotherly love. In order to promote these ends Christians should be ready to work with all men of good will in any good cause, always being careful to act in the spirit of love without compromising their loyalty to Christ and His truth.

XVI. Peace and War

It is the duty of Christians to seek peace with all men on principles of righteousness. In accordance with the spirit and teachings of Christ they should do all in their power to put an end to war.

The true remedy for the war spirit is the gospel of our Lord. The supreme need of the world is the acceptance of His teachings in all the affairs of men and nations, and the practical application of His law of love. Christian people throughout the world should pray for the reign of the Prince of Peace.

XVII. Religious Liberty

God alone is Lord of the conscience, and He has left it free from the doctrines and commandments of men which are contrary to His Word or not contained in it. Church and state should be separate. The state owes to every church protection and full freedom in the pursuit of its spiritual ends. In providing for such freedom no ecclesiastical group or denomination should be favored by the state more than others. Christian government being ordained of God, it is the duty of Christians to render loyal obedience thereto in all things not contrary to the revealed will of God. The church should not resort to the civil power to carry on its work. The gospel of Christ contemplates spiritual means alone for the pursuit of its ends. The state has no right to impose penalties for religious opinions of any kind. The state has no right to impose taxes for the support of any form of religion. A free church in a free state is the Christian ideal, and this implies the right of free and unhindered access to God on the part of all men, and the right to form and propagate opinions in the sphere of religion without interference by the civil power.

XVIII. The Family

God has ordained the family as the foundational institution of human society. It is composed of persons related to one another by marriage, blood, or adoption.

Marriage is the uniting of one man and one woman in covenant commitment for a lifetime. It is God’s unique gift to reveal the union between Christ and His church and to provide for the man and the woman in marriage the framework for intimate companionship, the channel of sexual expression according to biblical standards, and the means for procreation of the human race.

The husband and wife are of equal worth before God, since both are created in God’s image. The marriage relationship models the way God relates to His people. A husband is to love his wife as Christ loved the church. He has the God-given responsibility to provide for, to protect, and to lead his family. A wife is to submit herself graciously to the servant leadership of her husband even as the church willingly submits to the headship of Christ. She, being in the image of God as is her husband and thus equal to him, has the God-given responsibility to respect her husband and to serve as his helper in managing the household and nurturing the next generation.

Children, from the moment of conception, are a blessing and heritage from the Lord. Parents are to teach their children spiritual and moral values and to lead them, through consistent lifestyle example and loving discipline, to make choices based on biblical truth. Children are to honor and obey their parents.

that such pre-seminary training could not be required of all students in the new school. On the other hand, he realized that the Southern Baptist Convention needed an institution that challenged and nurtured the brightest minds of the denomination.

Boyce’s bold initiative took root in humble circumstances. Southern Baptists’ first seminary began offering classes on October 3, 1859, in a borrowed building with 26 students and 4 professors—Boyce, John A. Broadus, Basil Manly, Jr., and William Williams. The early faculty brought untiring commitment and sterling academic credentials to their duties. They held degrees from schools such as Princeton, Brown, Harvard, and the University of Virginia.

The best efforts of Boyce and his faculty, however, could not shield the school from the ravaging effects of the Civil War. The war’s turmoil prompted the school to suspend operations in 1862.

At the war’s end, the seminary had no guarantee that it could resume classes. The school’s faculty and students were scattered and what remained of its endowment was in worthless Confederate bonds. The economy of the South was in ruins, and likewise, Southern Baptists were suffering tremendous financial distress. Thus the school faced a more daunting challenge than at its founding. Amid these circumstances, the faculty gathered to determine the school’s future. In that meeting, Broadus, who would become the seminary’s second president, uttered his now famous words: “Let us quietly agree that the seminary may die; but that we will die first.”

In order for the school to regain its financial footing, trustees and faculty realized the seminary must find a new location outside the war-torn economy of the Deep South. While several cities vied for the honor of hosting the fledgling Baptist institution, the clear choice was the bustling river city of Louisville, Kentucky. In addition to a vibrant economy, the city’s strong Baptist churches and civic leadership had promised financial support and other assistance. Louisvillians who promised and later delivered substantial aid to the seminary included two brothers, George and W. F. Norton.

In 1877 the seminary made the move to Louisville and began offering classes in rented space in the city’s public library building. Three years later the seminary gained its first measure of financial security with a large gift from Joseph Emerson Brown, a former governor of Georgia. Due to the generosity of John D. Rockefeller and other New York Baptists, the seminary in 1888 constructed its own building at the corner of Fifth and Broadway in downtown Louisville.

By the mid-1890’s, the original founding faculty had died. Their dream for superb theological education, however, continued to live at Southern Seminary. Southern became one of the first seminaries in the nation to offer the Doctor of Philosophy degree in 1894. Near the turn of the century, Southern became the first American institution to establish a department of comparative religions and missions. In 1906 Southern inaugurated the nation’s first seminary program of study in religious education. This program later became a school of the seminary and is now known as the School of Leadership and Church Ministry.

Southern moved to its current campus on Lexington Road, five miles east of downtown Louisville, in 1926. From this picturesque setting, Southern has continued its ground-breaking educational legacy. The seminary launched a School of Church Music in 1944 that has grown to be one of the largest and most prestigious schools of its kind. In keeping with the vision of Boyce, the seminary founded Boyce Bible School in 1974, which is a division of the seminary exclusively designed to provide ministerial training for people without college degrees. In 1998, this undergraduate school of the seminary was transformed and began offering a bachelor’s degree in addition to an associate’s degree. The Billy Graham School of Missions, Evangelism and Church Growth was inaugurated in 1994. As the only school world-renowned evangelist Billy Graham has allowed to carry his name, the school provides a platform for Great Commission studies.

In recent years, evidence that the seminary was fulfilling the founding president’s desire for excellence was furnished through a study by the American Council of Learned Societies. That study ranked Southern Seminary with Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Chicago as one of the 16 outstanding graduate programs in religion in the nation. The seminary’s history has not been without controversy. Two distinguished professors of the nineteenth century, Crawford Toy and William Whitsitt (who was also the seminary’s president), were forced to resign for presenting concepts considered too radical for their times. The fundamentalist-modernist controversies that produced strife in many denominations and institutions in the early twentieth century have not ceased to create friction between Southern Seminary and its critics.

Because Southern Seminary is an institution for theological education, it finds its identity ultimately in relationship to God. Its rationale for existence is the carrying out of a mission, carefully defined in its essence but evolving in its implications in the light of Christian faith.

Southern has over 18,000 alumni/ae who serve in all 50 states and 80 foreign nations. Primarily, they serve as ministers of Southern Baptist churches and as missionaries throughout the world. Alumni/ae also include college and university presidents, several former presidents of the Southern Baptist Convention, deans of Baptist, Presbyterian, and Roman Catholic seminaries, and the dean of an Anglican cathedral. For students past and present, their preparation has been underscored by a school with a heritage of innovation and excellence. But that preparation is rooted in the tradition of faith and commitment that brought this institution into being and which has sustained Southern Seminary from its founding to the brink of the twenty-first century.

Academic Programs

Throughout its history, Southern Seminary has maintained the unitary purpose of preparing persons for Christian ministry. As the Southern Baptist Convention has grown in both numbers and in services of ministry to persons, new needs in ministerial education have arisen. The seminary has responded to these needs by reworking existing academic programs and creating new degrees and opportunities for curricular specialization.

The seminary currently has five schools:

- School of Theology
- School of Church Music and Worship
- School of Leadership and Church Ministry
- Billy Graham School of Missions, Evangelism and Church Growth
- Boyce College

Boyce College (the undergraduate school of the seminary) offers an associate degree and two baccalaureate degrees. The other schools of the seminary offer diploma programs, for which an undergraduate degree is not an entrance requirement, and degree programs. The degree programs are divided into two categories: master’s (professional) level programs entered on the basis of a college degree and doctoral (professional and research) level programs entered on the basis of a seminary professional degree.
Associate and Baccalaureate Programs

Boyce College is the undergraduate school of Southern Seminary. Students may earn the Associate of Arts (66 credit hours), Bachelor of Science (129 credit hours), or Bachelor of Arts degrees (129 credit hours).

The college’s main campus is located in the Carver Building on the seminary campus. Extension sites operate in various cities in the following states: Georgia, Maryland, and Tennessee.

The college’s degree programs are as follows:

• Bachelor of Arts in Biblical and Theological Studies
  This program is designed for students who are called to pastoral or other ministry settings. It is also beneficial for students who want a thorough knowledge of the Bible (including the biblical languages), theology, and practical ministry training as preparation for graduate study.
• Bachelor of Science in Biblical Studies: Youth Ministry Major
  The purpose of this program is to recruit, train, place and network youth leaders globally. Students will be equipped for a variety of youth ministry positions.
• Bachelor of Science in Biblical Studies: Music Major
  Students will be trained as musicians and will be able to serve as worship leaders and music program directors in churches or other ministry settings. Graduates who continue their education at Southern Seminary’s School of Music and Worship will have met all the placement requirements for the School.
• Bachelor of Science in Biblical Studies: Leadership and Church Ministry Major
  Students who complete this program will be equipped to work as ministers of education in the local church, as well as in other ministry positions related to teaching and leadership ministry.
• Bachelor of Science in Biblical Studies: Counseling Major
  This program prepares persons for seminary or graduate school, leading to licensure in Christian counseling.
• Bachelor of Science in Biblical Studies: Missions, Evangelism and Church Growth Major
  This program will prepare students for a number of ministry opportunities: church staff members with specific leadership responsibilities in missions, evangelism and church growth; itinerant evangelists and missionaries; para-church ministries, and church planters.
• Associate of Arts in Biblical and Theological Studies
  This program features many of the same courses as the Bachelor of Arts in Biblical and Theological Studies. It is designed to give basic training in a broad range of areas to those called to ministry.
  Through an off-campus center, students can earn either the Associate of Arts degree or the Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Missions, Evangelism and Church Growth. Students may take up to 63 hours toward the Associate of Arts degree off-campus with the remaining three hours taken at the Louisville campus of the college. They may take up to 117 hours of the Bachelor of Science degree off-campus with the remaining 12 hours taken at the Louisville campus.

Information on Boyce College (including extension centers), a college catalog, and/or a class schedule may be obtained by contacting either the Admissions office at Southern Seminary or Boyce College.

Boyce College graduates with a grade of “B” or higher in certain undergraduate courses may be eligible for advanced standing in comparable Southern Seminary courses. See the Senior Associate Dean in Southern’s School of Theology, the Senior Associate Dean in the Billy Graham School, or the Associate Dean at Boyce College for further information.

Seminary Wives Institute

At Southern Seminary, we recognize the need for God-called ministers’ wives to be prepared for ministry. We believe that a minister’s wife needs to be educated and equipped as she and her husband prepare for service in the churches and beyond.

The time a student wife is in the seminary setting with her husband is the perfect time to undertake this training. She has opportunity to network with other wives who are preparing for the place God has for them. She will benefit from her study with faculty wives who can share from their rich experience.

The courses in the Seminary Wives Institute (SWI) are designed to give ministers’ wives biblically based and practically applied teaching. They are taught by our own seminary faculty as well as faculty wives and guest speakers.

Following successful completion of 13 units, the student will be awarded a Certificate of Ministry Studies through Boyce College.

We are committed to making this institute a vital part of the seminary wife’s experience at Southern Seminary.

Extension Centers
Southern Seminary provides opportunities for persons to pursue theological education at sites other than the main campus in Louisville. Extension centers for master’s level work are located in Alabama, Arkansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, and Tennessee. These sites offer courses for a basic Master of Divinity degree, with no guarantees for another degree. Off-campus Doctor of Ministry study is offered in different settings when needed.

For specific information about extension centers, contact the Admissions office or the Director of Extension Programs.

Southern Seminary Online—Internet Courses
It is recognized that commitment to work and ministry make it impossible for some to physically attend a brick and mortar seminary classroom. Therefore a new innovative system of delivering theological education has been developed to supplement the educational needs of students currently unable to leave those to whom they are ministering.

Specific master’s level courses are being offered online and can be applied to a variety of degree programs. Students may take a limited number of these courses to fulfill degree program requirements, but only a portion of a degree may be earned online. A complete degree still requires on-campus study. An additional fee will be assessed for these courses.

For more information concerning these courses go to www.sbts.edu and click on the Online Education, contact the Associate Vice President of Distance Education and Innovative Learning at campus extension 4701, or e-mail your inquiry to sso@sbts.edu.

Additional Educational Programs
In addition to diploma and degree programs, Southern Seminary provides the following additional educational programs.

Visiting Scholar Program
The Visiting Scholar Program is designed for mature scholars, pastors, and denominational staff persons who wish to improve their professional skills by pursuing individually tailored programs of study and research. Visiting scholars are free to pursue their own specialized interests in ways most appropriate to their goals by using library facilities, consulting with professors and professional peers, and auditing classes or seminars.

For further information about any aspect of the Visiting Scholar Program, contact the Director of Academic Records.

Continuing Education
The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary was among the pioneers of continuing theological education in the United States. For those persons who are involved in various church-related ministries, the seminary offers numerous conferences, workshops, and institutes related to theological disciplines, Christian education and leadership, church growth, and church music. Many of these special events are co-sponsored by denominational agencies.

These conferences, workshops, and institutes are conducted throughout the year in the facilities of the seminary as well as in locations off the main campus of Southern Seminary. Individuals desiring the following information should contact the Associate Vice President of Distance Education and Innovative Learning.
At Southern Seminary you will have the opportunity to study under leading scholars, develop spiritually and gain hands-on experience in ministry.

The traditional background for master’s level seminary education has been a broad liberal arts baccalaureate degree. However, because of the wide range of baccalaureate programs now available, the diversity of ministerial objectives, and the breadth of course offerings within Southern’s curriculum, it is not possible to identify a single course of study as proper preparation for seminary entrance. An individual’s objective in pre-seminary study should be to develop knowledge and skills in a broad range of areas. Particular emphasis should be given to developing communication skills because the ability to think, to write, and to speak clearly is essential in professional ministry. Development of skills in interpersonal relationships is another highly desirable component of pre-seminary study.

ADMISSION Requirements for Professional Doctoral Degrees

Applicants for Professional Doctoral Degrees will be considered on the basis of an overall profile rather than on a single, disqualifying score. Applicants will be evaluated in light of the student’s academic record, performance on examinations, personal aptitude, and motivation for graduate study.

International applicants considering professional doctoral degree programs, except the Doctor of Missiology, should first contact the Supervisor of International and Disability Services to discuss the program’s special visa requirements, as student (F-1) visas cannot be issued for these programs.

Admission Prerequisites

- A Master of Divinity (M.Div.) or its equivalent from a regionally accredited institution.
- A minimum master’s level cumulative grade point average of “B” (8.0 on a 12.0 scale, 2.83 on a 4.0 scale). D.Min. applicants with a cumulative grade point average between 7.5 and 8.0 (on a 12.0 scale) may be admitted on academic probation if they successfully complete all other application requirements, including any required standardized exam. Students whose work is not doctoral level will not be permitted to continue in the program.
- For D.Miss. applicants, a minimum master’s level cumulative grade point average of “B” (8.5 on a 12.0 scale, 3.17 on a 4.0 scale). Any exception must be cleared through the missions faculty of the Billy Graham School and the Director of Professional Doctoral Studies.
- A minimum of three years of full-time ministry experience after graduating with the master’s degree.
- See below for additional prerequisites.

Application Requirements

- Seminary application form and a $35 non-refundable application fee.
- Church affirmation from the church of which the applicant is a member.
- Three personal recommendations.
- Three page autobiographical essay documenting conversion, spiritual pilgrimage, call to ministry, life experiences, current ministry position, reasons for desiring to pursue the degree, and expectations related to the program of study.
- Official transcripts of all academic work beyond high school, mailed directly from the institution(s) to the seminary.
- A personal interview with the Director of Professional Doctoral Studies or a designated representative. The purpose of this interview is to provide insight into the applicant’s motivation for pursuing the degree and the applicant’s professional goals.
- An essay in response to a case calling for the application of biblical or theological insights into a ministry situation. The essay will help determine the applicant’s quality and style of writing. Contact the Professional Doctoral Studies office for more information.
- The Director of Professional Doctoral Studies may require the Miller Analogies Test for any applicant whose master’s level cumulative grade point average is below the required minimum.
- See below for additional requirements.

Applicants with Special Circumstances

International Students

The seminary is authorized under Federal law to enroll non-immigrant alien students. Students with F-1 visas can study only at the Louisville campus. Because of United States immigration laws and the practical dimension of adjusting to a new culture and community, the admission of international applicants involves additional factors. International applicants must meet the following admission guidelines:

For applicants whose native language is not English, an official report score on the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) is required prior to admission. Applicants for Master of Arts or Master of Divinity programs must score at least 220 (560, paper-based); applicants for Master of Theology or Doctor of Philosophy programs must score at least 233 (575, paper-based).

Applicants, other than Professional Doctoral or Research Doctoral applicants, who are graduates of a United States college or university may request a waiver of the TOEFL requirement. In addition, Research Doctoral applicants are also required to submit both the Test of Written English and the Test of Spoken English which are administered by TOEFL. Most colleges and universities have information on the TOEFL, or students can go to www.toefl.org for more information.

International students must provide proof of adequate financial support prior to being issued a student visa. Minimum amounts of support have been set, and guidelines are available through the Admissions office or the Student Life office. Applicants must certify specific sources and amounts of income, and the seminary’s Supervisor of International and Disability Services will determine if financial support is adequate. The seminary will not issue documentation for a student visa if the applicant cannot demonstrate adequate financial support.

In addition to certification of financial support, the applicant must make a deposit with the seminary before a student visa will be issued. This deposit must be equal to or greater than the amount needed to support the applicant for six months. This deposit is necessary in order to ensure at least minimum funds to begin studies.

Since the admission process of international students is unusually complex, international applicants are advised to submit their applications at least nine months prior to the semester or term in which they wish to begin studies. If an applicant’s admission materials are not complete at least 45 days prior to the date when the applicant wishes to begin studies at Southern, that applicant’s application will be withdrawn. Applicants will be notified that their application has, in fact, been withdrawn. Applicants for Research Doctoral Programs must have all required application materials in the Admissions office by February 1 (for Fall semester) or September 1 (for Spring semester) in order to be eligible to take the Graduate Field Essay or Qualifying Examination and to be interviewed by the faculty.

All financial requirements must be met at least 30 days prior to the beginning of the term in order to allow time for the student visa to be processed. No I-20 form will be issued without approval for admission, the deposit, and a valid affidavit of support.

Once accepted, applicants should plan to arrive on campus at least one week before new student orientation (but may not arrive more than 30 days before classes begin) in order to adjust to the community and receive assistance for special needs. Health insurance must be obtained before the student can enroll in courses.

Questions concerning admission to master’s programs may be directed to the Admissions office. Questions concerning admission to doctoral programs should be addressed to the appropriate doctoral studies office (either professional or research). Questions about financial or visa matters should be directed to the Supervisor of International and Disability Services of Southern Seminary.

Applicants with an Incomplete Undergraduate Degree

Some applicants* with a strong college cumulative grade point average and who are within nine semester hours of completing an undergraduate degree from a regionally accredited institution may be granted Admission with Academic Deficiency with respect to master’s programs of study. In such cases, the Admissions Committee must approve specific arrangements for completing the bachelor’s degree within 12 months of initial registration at the seminary. In no case will a person be permitted to enroll for a third semester at the seminary without meeting this requirement.

*This does not apply to Boyce College students.
Applicants With a Baccalaureate Degree from a School without Regional Accreditation

Provisional admission to master’s level programs may be granted on an individual basis to an applicant who graduated from an institution lacking regional accreditation in the U.S. and Canada. To be provisionally admitted, the applicant’s cumulative grade point average must be particularly strong. The applicant’s course of study must have included at least 60 credit hours in the areas listed below. The applicant must have taken courses in at least six of these areas. No more than 12 hours from a single area can be counted toward the 60-hour total.

- English/speech
- History/geography/cultural studies
- Philosophy/ethics
- Psychology/social science/management
- Fine arts (music, art, drama, cinema)
- Natural science
- Mathematics/statistics
- Modern foreign languages
- Biblical studies
- Religious studies (history, theology, ministry)
- Biblical languages
- Professional studies

If an applicant is provisionally accepted for admission, the following guideline will apply:

- As a student, he or she must achieve at least a “C–” average (4.0 on a 12.0 scale) for the first 15 semester hours taken.
- Upon successful completion of this probationary period, the Director of Academic Counseling in Academic Records will notify the student of his or her release from academic probation.

Applicants Recently Divorced

For applicants who are divorced, there is a minimum of a one calendar year waiting period prior to consideration for admission. Upon receipt of the application materials, additional information may be required on an individual basis including a personal interview with the Dean of Students.

Student Spouses

Student spouses, who are not seeking a degree, may enroll in classes as a Special Student through an abbreviated application process. The following materials are required for admission:

- Application form (the $35 non-refundable application fee is waived).
- Church affirmation from the church of which the applicant is a member.
- Two to three page autobiographical essay documenting the applicant’s conversion, spiritual pilgrimage, and life experiences.
- Those who desire to take classes in the music and worship area must obtain permission from the Dean of the School of Church Music and Worship.

If the spouse desires to continue taking classes, he or she must contact the Admissions office one month prior to the start of the intended term. Additionally, students in the music and worship area must obtain permission from the Dean of the School of Church Music and Worship before the start of each term.

Non-Southern Baptist Applicants

An applicant to Southern Seminary does not need to be a Southern Baptist. In fact, Southern Seminary trains Christians of many denominations for ministry. Non-Southern Baptist students, however, pay course fees that are twice the amount paid by Southern Baptist students. This fee structure was created because a major portion of student academic cost is defrayed by a direct subsidy from the Southern Baptist Convention (SBC) through the Cooperative Program as an investment in the future ministerial leadership of the churches affiliated with the SBC.

Non-Degree Program Applicants (Special Students)

In the interest of continuing education, an individual may apply for enrollment as a special student through an abbreviated process, provided that person is not intending to complete a degree program. Students may attend Southern Seminary as a special student for one semester only. To enroll as a special student, the applicant must complete a church affirmation form, the autobiographical essay, and an application form through the Admissions office. Payment of a $35 non-refundable application fee is also required.

If the student later decides to pursue a degree program, that student must complete the regular admission process. Approval to attend the seminary as a special student does not guarantee admission to a degree program.

Extension center students who are unable to complete the admissions process, may complete a “Special Student Agreement Form” prior to the close of online registration. Registration for classes and fees must be paid while registration is open. No “Special Student Agreement Form” will be accepted after the close of online registration. Permission to register as a special student does not ensure acceptance to a degree program.
Auditors

Persons may enroll as auditors in classes if space is available. An auditor is defined as a student who participates in classroom experiences but who does not receive grades for completed assignments. A course taken as an audit does not produce academic credit. Any course that has been audited may not be taken later for credit. To enroll as an auditor, the applicant must complete an application form, submit a $35 non-refundable application fee, a church affirmation form and a brief autobiographical essay. Normally, no person is allowed to audit courses for more than two semesters without being approved for credit work.

Visiting Students

A student who is regularly enrolled in another accredited institution may enroll at Southern Seminary for a limited period (usually one term or semester) upon the recommendation of the dean and registrar of the student’s home institution. This visiting student enrollment is contingent upon the fact that any course(s) taken will be accepted for transfer to the home institution. To enroll as a Visiting Student, the applicant must complete an application form, submit a $35 non-refundable application fee, a complete church affirmation form, and a two-three page autobiographical essay.

The applicant is responsible to see that all required application items are sent to the Admissions office by these dates.

A complete application file normally is considered by the Admissions Committee within two weeks. The Director of Admissions then reports the committee’s decision to the applicant.

Application Deadlines for Extension Centers

All application materials must be submitted directly to the Office of Admissions at the main campus no later than three weeks before classes begin. A student cannot register for classes until he or she has been approved for admission unless the student is granted Special Student status.

A complete application file normally is considered by the Admissions Committee within two weeks. The Director of Admissions then reports the committee’s decision to the applicant.

If a student is not approved prior to the first meeting of the class, that student may register as a special student for one semester only. The student must submit a “Special Student Admission Agreement” along with the course request form and degree fees. Permission to register as a Special Student does not ensure acceptance to a degree program.
Since its inception in 1859, Southern Seminary has attempted to keep student costs as low as possible. The seminary offers assistance to its students while they are equipping themselves to be more effective ministers. The major portion of academic costs for Southern Baptist students is defrayed by a direct subsidy from the Southern Baptist Convention through its Cooperative Program. This is an investment in the future ministerial leadership of Southern Baptist churches. Master’s level students pay only a flat, per-hour course fee, while doctoral students pay either a semester fee or program fee. Southern Baptist students pay one-half the amount of fees paid by non-Southern Baptist students. The remainder of the seminary budget is met by income from endowment and from gifts to the institution by interested friends.

Through the Financial Aid office, the seminary administers scholarships, loan funds, and emergency aid grants. These types of financial assistance are funded by generous contributions. Financial assistance is granted on the basis of demonstrated need. In addition to administering financial assistance, the Financial Aid office provides financial counsel.

Scholarships Awarded through Southern Seminary

Each year many students benefit from a variety of scholarship funds. These funds recognize the donor or honor the memory of loved ones. Some scholarships are awarded through the seminary, whereas others are awarded through private organizations.

Seminary-funded scholarships are available only to students who reside in seminary housing unless the student qualifies for an exception.

Scholarships are awarded to full-time students only. Boyce and all diploma students must carry a minimum of 12 credit hours per semester to be considered full-time. Master’s students must carry a minimum of 9 credit hours per semester to be considered full-time. Applications are available in the Financial Aid office or on the web at www.sbts.edu/resources/forms.php.

Four categories of scholarships are awarded through the seminary. Each of those categories is described in detail below.

Rice-Judson Scholarships

The Rice-Judson Scholarship honors two Baptist missionaries, Luther Rice and Adoniram Judson. This $2,500 scholarship is granted the first two semesters to selected full-time master’s degree candidates on the basis of demonstrated leadership, ministry experience and potential, and academic achievement.

Mission Scholarships

Mission scholarships, in amounts up to $2,200 per semester for three semesters, are awarded to full-time students who have completed US/C-2 or Journeyman programs or who have other significant missions experience and who have a vocational commitment to missions service, including IMB and NAMB personnel.

General Scholarships

General scholarships are awarded to full-time students who have demonstrated financial need. The amount of these scholarships ranges from $100 to $1,800.

Research Doctoral Grant

Research doctoral students should contact the Research Doctoral Studies Office, extension 4119, for information on this grant.

Scholarships from Outside Sources

The Financial Aid office publishes a list of scholarships from home states. This list may be obtained from the Financial Aid office or on the web at www.sbts.edu/admissions/statescholars.php.

Chances or individuals wishing to support specific students at Southern Seminary may send checks that are non-tax deductible to the Financial Aid office.

Anyone wishing to give a tax-deductible donation towards student scholarships should contact the Institutional Relations office.

Loans

Short-term Loans

Short-term loans are available to students who face emergency situations. These loans are to be repaid within six months of issue. For information on short-term loans, contact the Financial Aid office.

Government Loans

The seminary does not participate in government loan or grant programs. However, any government loans or grants already issued for previous educational experience may be deferred during enrollment at Southern. Specific course load requirements may be obtained from the loan company. For more information, contact the Office of Academic Records.

Payment Plan for Course Fees

The seminary participates in F.A.C.T.S., which is a program that allows students to make payment in full or monthly payments toward the course fees and other fees charged to them at the time of registration. A student who wishes to participate in F.A.C.T.S. monthly payment plan must pay $250 at the time of registration. The remainder of the course fee amount is automatically withdrawn from the student’s bank account or credit card during the three-month period following registration. The program is interest-free, but has a $25 enrollment fee each semester. All credit card payments are assessed a convenience fee.

“And God is able to provide you with every blessing in abundance, so that you may always have enough of everything and may provide in abundance for every good work.”

– 2 Corinthians 9:8

Emergency Aid Grants

At times a student may face an unexpected financial crisis caused by serious illness, death, or some other unforeseen circumstance. At such times, the seminary seeks to help with a grant that does not need to be repaid. The Financial Aid office should be advised of such emergencies.

Veteran Benefits

The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary is an accredited school recognized by the Veterans Administration. Through the Veterans Administration, entitled veterans may receive financial assistance for education. Since eligibility criteria and benefits are different for each veterans’ educational assistance program, including veterans’ vocational rehabilitation, potential students should contact the Veterans Administration Regional Office to determine eligibility prior to enrolling in seminary.

A potential student who wishes to receive veterans’ benefits must be certified. To be certified, that potential student must apply to the seminary, meet all admissions criteria, be accepted as a student, and register for classes. Once he or she has done so, the Office of Academic Records will contact the Veterans Administration Regional Office and indicate that the person is certified, enrolled, and pursuing an approved program of education.

Questions concerning veterans’ benefits should be directed to the Office of Academic Records.

Vocational Rehabilitation

Southern Seminary is an accredited school that is recognized to provide education for students undergoing vocational rehabilitation. The process for receiving financial assistance for vocational rehabilitation other than that provided by the Veterans Administration begins with the potential student’s vocational rehabilitation counselor.

Questions concerning vocational rehabilitation should be directed to the Accounting Services office.
counseling is provided for students and their family members through referrals authorized by the Dean of Students. All counseling is confidential, led by qualified Christian counselors approved by the Vice President for Student Services. Fees are based upon a sliding scale and subsidized by the seminary for a maximum of eight sessions per semester, though exceptions are made as needed. Premarital counseling is granted without cost to students currently engaged or recently married. Other non-academic counseling services on campus include financial advising through Student Life; vocational counsel through Ministry Referral; health care counsel through the Hagan Clinic; fitness counsel through the Recreation Center.

Student Activities

Student activities on campus are rich and varied, designed for the specific interests and needs of students. Campus activities are intended to complement the commitment of students to their families, churches, work, and academic studies. In accordance with the seminary’s purpose of preparing ministers, student activities foster fellowship and leadership as well as mutual support within the seminary community.

Student Councils and Organizations

Student councils and organizations are led by representatives of the student body. The five school councils seek to facilitate the development of community, to enhance social interaction, and to communicate interests and concerns between the students, faculty and staff.

There are various organizations for students with particular interests and talents with regular meetings on campus. All Boyce and Seminary students are encouraged to participate. A list of approved organizations is available from the Office of Student Life.

Health

Clinic and Insurance

The Seminary Clinic is staffed with two physicians and two nurses. The general medical clinic, as a supplemental service to regular health care, is available on weekday afternoons and evenings at a minimal cost to all students and their immediate families, as well as to the faculty and staff.

Student medical insurance plans are available through the Annuity Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, and application for coverage through the Annuity Board can be made during orientation. Every student and student dependent is encouraged to have medical insurance, whether that insurance is provided by the Annuity Board or by another plan.

Recreation and Fitness

The seminary’s health and recreation program is designed to provide structured and unstructured recreational activities that will contribute to the personal growth and development of members of the seminary community. Each member of the community is encouraged to participate in activities suited to his or her personal interests.

The Health and Recreation Center, located in the Honeycutt Campus Center, has game rooms, gymnasiums, racquetball courts, saunas, steam rooms, a climbing wall, toddler pool, outside fountain pool, swimming pool, whirlpool, walking/running track, and conditioning room.

The Seminary Lawn, the quadrangle of the seminary campus, is a grassy field ideal for recreational activities, including intramural sports. Seasonal competition is scheduled.
Library

The James P. Boyce Centennial Library, founded in 1859, ranks as one of the largest and finest seminary libraries in the United States. It is a multimedia teaching and learning resource center for theological education. It contains over 360,000 volumes of books alone and more than 850,000 total items including books, periodicals, minutes, music, pamphlets, microforms, and audio-visuals.

The library card catalog is provided in two formats: traditional hard copy and electronic. The card catalog can be accessed through the seminary web page (http://www.sbts.edu).

Computer Lab

The Computer Lab, which is located in Norton Hall, contains 31 personal computers. The standard word processing programs provided are Microsoft Word and WordPerfect. Word study and research programs are available for Greek and Hebrew language study and other biblical research. Specialized software includes SPSS/PC+ statistical programs and Microsoft PowerPoint presentation programs. For music study, Music History tutorial and SongWright Publisher software are available.

The personal computers are connected in a network to laser printers and to a color ink jet printer. Internet access is available in the lab at no charge.

Dining Services

Meals are served in dining services Monday through Friday. Hours of operation are 7:00 – 9:30 a.m. (breakfast), 11:00 a.m. – 2:00 p.m. (lunch), and 4:00 – 6:00 p.m. (dinner). Contact Dining Services for summer and holiday hours. Meal cards are available with several contract plans.

Bookstore

LifeWay Christian Resources of the Southern Baptist Convention operates the campus bookstore, located in the Honeycutt Center. It is one of the chain of Baptist bookstores across America. The bookstore carries all required textbooks and supplies as well as other merchandise.

The Conference Center at Southern Seminary

This newest addition to the campus opened in October 2002. By serving as a site to host conferences, seminars, and retreats of various sizes, the Conference Center is integral to the continuing mission of Southern Seminary. The Conference Center features state-of-the-art meeting rooms which comfortably accommodate groups of 15 to 200 people. The Conference Center also provides overnight accommodations in 70 guest rooms, including 36 two-room suites. As an exclusive service to non-resident students, special rates have been developed. Discounted rates are available on a daily, half-week, and weekly basis and are offered especially to DMin, EdD, and J-Term students. Detailed rates and reservation information can be obtained by calling 1-877-444-SBTS.

Missions Opportunities

The Center for Missions Mobilization facilitates a variety of missionary experiences for all seminary students and their spouses. These opportunities, usually during the January and summer terms, are offered for academic credit. In recent years students have served in Africa, Latin America, and the Pacific Rim, as well as in local and national settings.

Worship

Seminary worship is an integral facet of campus life. While classes are in session during the Fall and Spring semesters, the entire community gathers on Tuesday and Thursday in Alumni chapel for an hour of worship, instruction, and inspiration.

Housing

The benefits of living in campus housing are numerous. In addition to enjoying camaraderie with fellow students, our residents are protected by 24-hour campus security. Living on campus is definitely convenient—you will never have to walk more than a few minutes to reach the library, the cafeteria, or the Health & Recreation Center. You will also avoid the problem of locating a parking space and you will find it easy to get to your classes, the computer lab, and Alumni Chapel. Since the monthly charge for most seminary housing units includes high-speed internet access, private telephone service and utilities, most students generally find it less expensive to live here than to rent an apartment off campus. Finally, resident students have the added bonus of becoming a part of the seminary to a greater extent than is possible for students living off campus.

An application for campus housing is included in the seminary admissions material. Although confirmation of housing cannot be made until you have been officially accepted for admission, we encourage you to submit your application for housing and your housing deposit at the time you apply for admission in order to enable Housing Services to better meet your needs. Please do not wait until you are accepted to the seminary before applying for housing. Once admission to the seminary is confirmed, campus housing is reserved in the order that each housing application and deposit are received.

Dormitory rooms and apartments are available for single students, students who are not accompanied by their families, and married student couples without children. Coin-operated washers and dryers are available at various locations across campus. Pets are not allowed. For locations of on-campus housing facilities, see the campus map in the back of this catalog. For more information or current rates, please contact the Housing Services office.

Residence Halls

Carver, Manly, Mullins, Sampey, Whitsitt, and Williams Halls offer single and double rooms for single students or married students not accompanied by families. Age restrictions apply for certain halls.

Fuller Hall

These one bedroom apartments feature living room, bath and kitchen/dining areas and are available either furnished or unfurnished.

Foster Hall

These 12 unfurnished one bedroom apartments are for married students without children. Preference is given to doctoral students. They include a living room, dining room, bathroom, and kitchen. Residents pay their own electric charges.

Samuels Missionary Apartments

These two-bedroom apartments are available to missionaries on furlough. Each apartment is completely furnished and contains all necessary housewares such as dishes and flatware. Storage lockers for small items are available in the basement of the building.

Springdale Apartments

These unfurnished two-bedroom apartments are for married students without children and feature a living room, dining room, kitchen, bath, and a small utility room/study. These apartments have central heat and air, and rent includes water but does not include telephone service or utilities. Washer and dryer connections are available in first-floor apartments.

Commuter Housing

Space is available for students who regularly commute to cam-
Secular

Many seminary students and student spouses find secular employment, either on-campus or off-campus, with the aid of the Personnel office. Qualified applicants with good job experience and work skills are in demand for positions at the seminary. The Personnel office takes applications, administers skills testing, and refers students and student spouses to appropriate positions within the seminary. The Personnel office accepts applications for employment with the seminary at any time during office hours. Applications should be updated at the beginning of each semester.

The Personnel office also offers assistance for students and student spouses who wish to find off-campus employment in the Louisville area. The Employment Opportunities Bulletin is a major source of help as are the other job listings which are available through the Personnel office. The bulletin is published weekly by the Personnel office and lists available job openings in many areas.

In addition to the bulletin, the Personnel office maintains a listing of people who are interested in babysitting or house-sitting. These listings are mailed out to persons in the community who request such services.

Persons interested in any type of secular employment, on- or off-campus, should contact the Personnel office. Final employment arrangements seldom can be made prior to the applicant’s arrival in Louisville, but applications for on-campus work are accepted before students arrive in Louisville.

Child Care

The seminary provides an educational day care program for children who are between the ages of six weeks and four years (or until the child begins kindergarten). The program is licensed by the Kentucky Cabinet for Human Resources.

This five-day-a-week, full-day program includes learning experiences based upon the child’s developmental level, nutritional snacks, hot lunch, sleep, and supervised outdoor play. Seminary students provide music education for children ages three and four while under the supervision of the faculty of the School of Church Music and Worship. Students in the School of Christian Education and Leadership are encouraged to observe and participate at the center in order to enhance and enrich their childhood education courses.

The Child Development Center is under the supervision of the Dean of the School of Christian Education and Leadership. The center is open year round but closes on holidays, for two weeks in August, and for three days in December. Space for specific age groups fills quickly, and waiting lists are often necessary. For information concerning waiting lists, registration forms, and fees, contact the Director of the Child Development Center, 2825 Lexington Road, P. O. Box 80-823, Louisville, Kentucky 40280.

Parents’ Night Out is a special program organized by the Office of Student Services and is designed to enable parents to enjoy an evening together alone. Childcare is provided at the Child Development Center for a nominal charge.
“Necessary norms have been established by the administration to encourage a Christian atmosphere conducive to good academic work.”

Registration

Students register and pay for courses online. Courses are confirmed only by the full payment of fees. Students are responsible for consulting and following the registration and payment instructions posted online at www.sbts.edu under online registration.

Add/Drop courses (schedule changes)

- During online registration schedule adjustments may be made without penalty until online registration closes for the respective semester/term.
- After the close of online registration:
  - Drop
    Courses may be dropped through Academic Records any time before the mid-point of the semester or term. The per-hour registration fee is prorated scale for courses that are dropped after the registration period but before the mid-point. Students must officially drop to avoid receiving an automatic F.
    Students who are taking courses at the Louisville campus and who wish to drop a class must complete a “Course Drop Notice” form and take it to the professor who will sign the form after assigning a grade of “WP” (withdraw passing) or “WF” (withdraw failing). Neither grade entry will affect the student’s grade point average. In the absence of the professor, the dean or associate dean of the school may sign the form and assign a grade. The student must return the signed form to the Academic Records office.
    Students who are taking extension center or internet courses and who wish to drop a course must complete the course drop form online and submit it to Academic Records.
  - Add
    Courses may not be added.
    Applications for exceptions to the policy may be made in writing through the Registrar.

Advising

Main campus and internet only students are academically advised through their respective schools. Appointments can be made by contacting the appropriate dean’s office. Extension center advising requests are to be made in writing via email to extcenteradvising@spts.edu.

Any academic exception to the catalog standards must be approved by the authorized dean and documented in writing to the Office of Academic Records. Exceptions that have been approved through the academic dean are not granted without written documentation in the student file.

Auditing Courses

Students who wish to audit courses, register for the courses online and notify the office of Academic Records of their intention to audit. Priority is given to students who wish to take courses for credit. Fees for auditing courses are the same as for courses taken for credit. After the close of online registration:

- courses with audit status may not be changed to credit status
- courses with credit status may not be changed to audit status

Class Schedules

The school year is divided into semesters and terms. There are two semesters, each of which lasts approximately 15 weeks. There is one term held in January and one term held in summer. During those terms, courses may last one week, two weeks, three weeks, six weeks, or ten weeks. One week in each semester and one day in each term course are devoted to examinations.

The unit of credit given for course work is the semester hour. This unit represents one hour of class per week for a semester or an equivalent amount of study.

During the semester, most classes meet between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:15 p.m., Tuesday through Thursday, except for those in the School of Church Music and Worship, many of which meet Monday through Friday. Some courses meet in the evening; and some meet on Monday only, on Friday only, or on Saturday only. During the January and summer terms, most classes meet either from Monday through Friday or from Tuesday through Friday.

Orientation

Students entering the seminary for their first semester are required to participate in orientation. Orientation occurs the day just before classes begin and includes:

- advanced placement testing (Old Testament, New Testament, Greek, Hebrew, Church History and/or Christian Theology)
- Students who demonstrate proficiency on the placement exams must still take the same number of course hours in the area to meet degree requirements.
- other testing as required by the program of study
- academic and course counseling
- information sessions
- opportunities to become acquainted with other members of the seminary community

An orientation schedule is mailed to all approved applicants prior to their first semester. This schedule can be found on the SBTS website as well.
Registering for Courses at Other Schools

While in seminary, students may wish to take courses through other educational institutions in order to enhance their studies. Southern Seminary cooperates with other schools in two programs: Metroversity and TEAM-A (Theological Association of Mid-America).

Metroversity

- Full-time Southern Seminary students enrolled in a degree program who meet the Metroversity requirement can take courses at one of the following schools without paying tuition at these schools. They must pay registration fees to Southern Seminary and any applicable course fees to the institution at which they are taking the course. Courses must be taken during fall and spring semesters only—not January or summer terms.
  - Bellarmine College (Louisville, Kentucky)
  - Indiana University Southeast (New Albany, Indiana)
  - Jefferson Community College (Louisville, Kentucky)
  - Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary (Louisville, Kentucky)
  - Spalding University (Louisville, Kentucky)
  - University of Louisville (Louisville, Kentucky)

Application to take Metroversity courses is made through the office of Academic Records.

TEAM-A

- Students enrolled in a Southern Seminary degree program can take courses at one of the following TEAM-A schools during the January term only without paying tuition at these schools. They must pay registration fees to Southern Seminary and any applicable course fees to the institution at which they are taking the course.
  - Asbury Theological Seminary (Wilmore, Kentucky)
  - Lexington Theological Seminary (Lexington, Kentucky)
  - Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary (Louisville, Kentucky)
  - St. Meinrad School of Theology (St. Meinrad, Indiana)

Application to take TEAM-A courses is made through the office of Academic Records.

Written Communication Requirement

All seminary students must demonstrate an acceptable level of written communication proficiency by achieving a “B-” or better in college English courses prior to attending seminary, or through taking Written Communication (31980) and submitting written assignments as part of its larger course assignments.

Course 31980 carries 2 credit hours for purposes of calculating a student’s course load; however, no credit is given toward degree requirements because this course is construed to be undergraduate level (or remedial).

College transcripts will be evaluated to determine whether students need to take Written Communication (31980). All college level English Composition and/or Grammar classes will be averaged. If a “B-” average or higher is found, the student will not be required to take Written Communication.

Students will meet the continuing written communication skills requirements by submitting written assignments that meet the standards of acceptable written communication. Faculty members reserve the right not to evaluate papers that do not reflect attention and care in writing and to lower the overall grade because of deficiencies in written communication.

*Please note that a professor also has the right to require a student to take Written Communication if the professor deems it necessary, regardless of the student’s college average.

Student Status

Academic Standing

Every student’s academic standing is reviewed at the end of each semester. Each diploma and master’s level student is categorized into one of the following classifications of academic standing. Standards for research and professional doctoral students (including ThM.) are described in sections of the catalog that relate to each specific degree.

Good Standing

A student is considered to be in good standing if that student has a grade point average of at least a “C-” (4.0 on a 12.0 scale), both in the grading period that is the subject of academic review and in the cumulative total.

Academic Warning

If a student’s grade point average in the last grading period is below “C-” (4.0 on a 12.0 scale), the student is placed on academic warning. He or she must achieve at least a “C-” average (4.0 on a 12.0 scale) evaluated over the subsequent 12 hours of course work. The student must contract with the dean or designated representative for course load and course selection in light of all factors affecting academic performance. Academic warning and academic probation may occur simultaneously.

Academic Probation

A student is considered to be on academic probation when his or her cumulative grade point average falls below “C-” (4.0 on a 12.0 scale). He or she must achieve at least a “C-” average (4.0 on a 12.0 scale) evaluated over the subsequent 12 hours of course work. The student must contract with the dean or designated representative for course load and course selection in light of all factors affecting academic performance.

Academic Suspension

Failure to satisfy requirements for removal from academic probation will result in academic suspension. This standing requires that the student withdraw from seminary for at least one semester. If the individual desires to re-enter the seminary, he or she must apply for readmission. Readmission, however, is not automatic. If readmission is granted, the student will be admitted on academic probation.

Academic Dismissal

Academic dismissal results when a student fails to satisfy the requirements necessary for removal from academic probation once that student has been readmitted following academic suspension. This academic standing requires the student to withdraw. The student is then ineligible for readmission.

Attendance in Classes

The breadth of the seminary curriculum requires a variety of approaches to teaching and learning. Therefore, no uniform requirement for class attendance is prescribed. To allow for flexibility in the teaching/learning process, each professor will establish the attendance requirements in his or her course. Failure to meet these requirements may be reflected in a student’s grade.

Course Load

Each course is assigned a credit hour value based upon the semester system. The semester load for full-time status and part-time status varies with the program of study in which a student is enrolled and when the student is enrolled (semester, January term, or summer term).

Maintaining Student Status

The administration of Southern Seminary is concerned about the spiritual maturity and continuing spiritual development of each student. Necessary norms have been established to encourage a Christian atmosphere conducive to good academic work. The faculty and administration reserve the right to determine continued student status.

A student’s continuing enrollment may become the subject of a formal review at any time during any semester. Any member of the administrative staff, faculty, or student body may request that the Admissions Committee examine a student if any of the following appear to be present:
• The inability to live in harmony with members of the seminary community or the persistent inconvenience of others within the community.
• Evidence that characteristics assumed to be present at the time of admission are lacking in the student’s life in the seminary community, including but not limited to:
  • skill in relating to others
  • potential for effective ministry
  • moral character
  • appropriate involvement in congregational life

At the time a review is requested, the student will be notified of the request and will be asked to provide in writing whatever response he or she desires. This response will be included in the review process.

Following the review, the Admissions Committee will make a decision regarding continued admission. This decision will be communicated to the student in writing. A student may appeal the decision of the Admissions Committee. This appeal must be made in writing to the Vice President for Student Services.

Residency Requirements

Extension Center and Internet Only Students

In order to graduate with a degree from Southern Seminary, a student must take courses at the main campus of Southern Seminary in addition to courses taken online or at his or her extension center. The number of courses varies with each program of study. The standard of residency requires that the equivalent of one year of study must be taken at Southern’s main campus. For example, extension students in a 60-credit-hour (two-year) program must take 30 credit hours at the main campus. Extension students in a 91-credit-hour (three-year) program must also take a minimum of 30 credit hours at the main campus. Internationals with F-1 student visas may not enroll at extension centers.

Students Enrolled at the Louisville Campus

Students who are taking courses toward a degree program and who find themselves having to relocate may wish to complete some of their work at another regionally accredited school and then transfer courses back to Southern Seminary. If a student chooses to do so, he or she must ensure that the last 24 credit hours of his or her degree program are taken consecutively at Southern. This means that no courses taken at another school may be transferred in toward the degree during the time when the last 24 credit hours are being completed. The dean must grant any exceptions to this rule. In order to complete the last 24 credit hours, a student may take courses during regular semesters or during January or summer terms.

Grades

Grading System

The minimum passing grade in any class is a “D-“. When percentages are used as a basis for assigning letter grades, the following guidelines apply:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grade</th>
<th>Percentage</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A+</td>
<td>99-100</td>

The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary awards grade points on a 12-point system. The quality point value per credit hour for each letter grade is as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>

<tbody>

Some courses are graded on a satisfactory/unsatisfactory basis. Instead of one of the letter grades listed above, the student receives either “S” for satisfactorily completing the course or “U” for unsatisfactorily completing the course. Other courses are graded on a Pass/Fail basis.

Change of Grade

Approximately 3 weeks after the close of each semester, the student is sent a grade report listing his or her grades for courses taken during that semester. If a student feels that he or she has been assigned an incorrect grade for a course, the following procedure should be followed:

- An appointment should be scheduled with the professor as soon as possible after receipt of the official grade from the Academic Records office. When making the appointment, the student should indicate that the purpose of the meeting is to review the grade that has been received.
- This consultation with the professor regarding the grade must take place within 30 days of the issuance of the official grade. When the professor is not available, the student should consult with the Dean of the school in which the course was taught (for master’s work) or the chairman of the appropriate doctoral studies committee for an extension of time or for other instructions.
- If the consultation with the professor results in change of the previously assigned grade, the professor will notify the Academic Records office of the grade change.

Incomplete Course Work

The seminary faculty discourages granting “incomplete” grades except in special cases (such as medical or family emergencies). The faculty member must deem any special cases appropriate.

Students receiving an incomplete during any semester or summer term are required to complete the work necessary to remove the incomplete prior to the close of registration for the next scheduled semester. Students receiving an incomplete in the January term must complete their work prior to the midpoint of the spring semester. If a student does not complete the required work by the deadline, the incomplete will be changed to an “F.”

Exceptions to this policy can be made on the recommendation of a faculty member to the Registrar/Director of Academic Records.

Repeated Courses

Any course may be repeated regardless of the grade received for that course although a course will count toward the student’s degree requirements only once. Each attempt and each grade received will remain on the student’s transcript and will be used to calculate the student’s grade point average (GPA) with one exception. If a course is repeated for which a grade of “F” was received, each attempt remains on the student’s transcript, but only the grade received for the second attempt will be used to calculate the GPA. It is the student’s responsibility to notify the Office of Academic Records if he or she is repeating a class in which a “ZF” or “F” grade was previously received.

Transcripts

Transcripts are confidential documents and are issued only upon the written request of the student via mail or fax. Requests submitted through e-mail are not accepted.

To request a transcript, the student may either:
- complete the “Transcript Order” form through the Academic Records office, or
- submit a request that includes the following information along with the transcript fee:
  - full name at time of enrollment—first name, middle name or initial, and last name
  - current address
  - social security number
  - date of birth
  - degree program
• place(s) of enrollment (main campus in Louisville and/or extension center)
• years of enrollment (first semester/term and last semester/term)
• address to which the transcript is to be sent
• signature of the student requesting the transcript

The charge for issuance of a transcript is noted in the “Schedule of Fees and Charges” at the end of this section.

Most transcripts are issued within 3 to 5 working days. More time may be necessary for older records, for students who just completed course work and who have not received their grade reports, and/or for doctoral work. No transcript will be issued for persons who do not have financial clearance from the Accounting Services office. The office of Academic Records reserves the right at any time to withhold a transcript for further verification of the request.

Policies

Access to Student Information

A student has the right to examine some of the information in his or her student record. To do so, the student should contact the Academic Records office. A member of the Academic Records staff will obtain the file and be present when the student examines it.

Seminary personnel may be given access to student files for routine purposes of processing. Third parties outside the institution may be given only specified items of directory information. Additional access may be granted with the written consent of the student or where the welfare of the student or others requires disclosure. Questions regarding directory information or student files should be directed to the Academic Records office.

The full policy on access to student records is available in the Academic Records office.

FERPA Annual Notification to Students

Students may contact the office of Academic Records for the complete policy regarding Student Records Access.

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) affords students certain rights with respect to their education records. These rights are:

1. The right to inspect and review the student’s education records within 45 days of the day the seminary receives a request for access. Students should submit to the registrar written requests that identify the record(s) they wish to inspect. The seminary official will make arrangements for access and notify the student of the time and place where the records may be inspected. If the records are not maintained by the seminary official to whom the request was submitted, the official shall advise the student of the correct official to whom the request should be addressed.

2. The right to request the amendment of the student’s education records that the student believes is inaccurate or misleading. Students may ask the seminary to amend a record that they believe is inaccurate or misleading. They should write to the seminary official responsible for the record, clearly identify the part of the record they want changed, and specify why it is inaccurate or misleading. If the seminary decides not to amend the record as requested by the student, the seminary will notify the student of the decision and advise the student of his or her rights for further appeal.

3. The right to consent to disclosures of personally identifiable information contained in the student’s education records, except to the extent the FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent. One exception, which permits disclosure without consent, is disclosure to school officials with legitimate educational interests. A school official is defined as a person employed by the seminary in an administrative, supervisory, academic, or support staff position (including law enforcement unit and health staff); a person or company with whom the seminary has contracted (such as an attorney, auditor, or collection agent); a person serving on the Board of Trustees; or assisting another school official in performing his or her tasks.

A school official has a legitimate educational interest if the official needs to review an education record in order to fulfill his or her professional responsibility.

4. The right to refuse disclosure of directory information to third parties. Students may state such a refusal in writing on a form obtained in the Academic Services office. If immediate action is necessary, a phone request is accepted until paperwork can be obtained, but is only valid for 30 days from the time of the call.

5. The right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by the seminary to comply with the requirements of FERPA. The name and address of the Office that administers FERPA is:

Family Policy Compliance Office
U.S. Department of Education
400 Maryland Avenue, SW
Washington, DC 20202-4605

Finals

A final examination for a course may not be taken before the time scheduled by the Academic Records office. With permission of the professor of the course, a student may take a final examination at a date later than the scheduled date. In such instances, the student may be assigned a grade of “Incomplete” for the course.

Graduation

In order to graduate from Southern Seminary, a student must meet all of the following obligations:

Application for Graduation

An “Intent to Graduate” form must be completed and submitted to the Academic Records office by September 15 for fall graduation or February 15 for spring graduation.

Satisfaction of Degree Requirements

A student may graduate under the requirements stated in the seminary catalog at the time he or she enters a degree program, provided that the student does not withdraw from the seminary for two or more years. If course requirements change while a student is pursuing a degree, he or she may elect to graduate under the new requirements. If the student elects this option, all of the new requirements must be met.

The student is responsible to ensure that all requirements for graduation have been satisfied. Graduation audits are automatically conducted by the Academic Records office during a student's final semester.

Satisfactory Cumulative Grade Point Average

Unless otherwise stated in degree program requirements, graduation from any master’s level program requires satisfactory completion of the number of hours specified for the degree with a minimum cumulative grade point average of “C-” (4.0 on a 12.0 scale).

Faculty Approval to Graduate

Even if a student has met the degree requirements for his/her program of study and has earned the minimum cumulative grade point average, the student still may not be permitted to graduate. The faculty of Southern Seminary has the right to recommend that a student not graduate even though all curricular requirements have been satisfied.
Satisfaction of Financial Obligations

All financial obligations due Southern Seminary must be paid before graduation.

Earning Two Degrees

A person who has earned a two-year master’s degree at Southern Seminary may enroll in a three-year master’s degree program and apply one-half of the credits earned for the conferred degree toward the requirements of the new degree. A student who does so may retain the two-year degree and graduate with the three-year degree if he or she meets the following criteria:

- has met the degree requirements for the three-year degree
- has a satisfactory cumulative grade point average
- has received faculty approval to graduate
- has met all financial obligations to Southern Seminary.

If, within five years of receiving a two-year master’s degree, a person enrolls in a three-year master’s degree program, he or she may apply all applicable credit earned toward the new degree. He or she may do so only with the understanding that the first degree earned will be renounced simultaneously with the receipt of the second degree. Hence, the person upon graduation will hold only the second degree.

Readmission

A student must apply for readmission in order to resume study if any of the following is true:

- the student has graduated from Southern Seminary.
- the student, who attends the Louisville campus, has not enrolled in classes for one semester or longer.
- the student, who attends an extension center, has not enrolled in classes for two consecutive semesters or longer.
- the student, who is an internet only student, has not enrolled in classes for two consecutive semesters or longer.

Transfer of Credit

Credits earned at other educational institutions may be considered for transfer toward master’s degree and diploma programs. Potential transfer courses must be of equal academic level and content to the course for which they will be substituted and must have a grade of “C” or better. Furthermore, they must have been taken at educational institutions that are accredited by a regional accrediting commission or a recognized specialized agency. Transfer credit from institutions outside the United States and Canada will be evaluated on an individual basis.

In addition to the above-mentioned criteria for transfer credit, transfer courses for diploma programs may be from institutions that are accredited by the American Association of Bible Colleges. A maximum of 16 hours of master’s level transfer credit may be granted for course work taken by way of an alternative delivery system through a regionally accredited institution. This credit is available only at the time of admission and is subject to the approval of the student’s dean or associate dean.

The maximum amount of transfer credit varies with the program of study in which the student is enrolled. The Master of Divinity student must take a minimum of one-third of the credit hours in residence at Southern Seminary. Any other master-level student must take a minimum of one-half of the credit hours in residence at Southern. He or she may transfer in the remaining credit hours toward a diploma or degree program if the courses parallel requirements in his or her program and if the student did not earn a master’s degree at the institution from which he or she wishes to transfer credit.

Transfer of credit evaluations are done only upon the written request of the student to the Office of Academic Records. A request form is found online. The following standards apply regarding transfer of credit:

- Evaluations are done after the student has been accepted for admission.
- Prospective student evaluations are processed only when a $35 (non-refundable) transcript evaluation fee accompanies the request. This fee will serve as the application fee should the student choose to apply.
- Tools necessary for an evaluation include: official transcript(s) and copies of course catalog descriptions for all courses to be evaluated. Copies of syllabi are also required for all biblical language courses. Transfer of credit evaluations are conducted only after the receipt of all necessary documents.
- Transfer credits will not be officially entered into our system until the student has completed and received grades for one full semester/term.
- Dean approval must be obtained to transfer any course work during the last 24 degree hours.

Transfer of Degree Program

Most students who wish to transfer from one degree program to another must make application through the Office of Academic Records. If the student is enrolled in the Master of Arts in Theological Studies or the Master of Music program, however, he or she must request this change through the Office of Admissions. A non-refundable fee is charged for each application for transfer.

Students who change degree programs will be required to meet course requirements that are in effect for that degree at the time of transfer. The student must also be enrolled in the degree program from which he or she intends to graduate for a minimum of one semester.

Withdrawal

A student who finds it necessary to withdraw from the seminary while classes are in session is required to complete the withdrawal process which includes:

- submitting a “Request for Withdrawal” form to the Office of Academic Records
- clearing one’s academic record
- satisfying any other responsibilities within the seminary community

If the student withdraws after the midpoint of the semester or term, that student will receive grades of “F.” Appeals to this policy can be made in writing to the Office of Academic Records.

A student who is enrolled at the Louisville campus and who does not register for a semester is considered to be withdrawn. An extension center or an internet only student is permitted to sit out for two semesters without penalty. During the second semester the student is requested to complete the withdrawal process:

- to protect his or her record in case he or she wishes to be considered for readmission at a later date
• to avoid being charged the $25 readmission fee if he or she wishes to be considered for readmission at a later date

Fees and Charges

The major portion of student academic costs is defrayed by a direct subsidy from the Southern Baptist Convention, through the Cooperative Program, as an investment in the future ministerial leadership of the churches affiliated with it. Academic expenses borne by the seminary student are:

• degree fees that cover a portion of the cost of classroom instruction, academic support services, and auxiliary benefits such as an annual directory, social and recreational programs, computer lab, and medical clinic services
• special fees such as those for courses that require personal supervision beyond that available from the faculty in the classroom setting; costs for processing dissertations, theses, or projects; and extension-of-time fees for doctoral programs
• service fees for graduation articles (academic regalia, diploma, and class picture) and specific materials
• processing fees that are assessed for registration, exceptions and extension of time in graduate programs
• campus fees
• degree fees for programs such as internet courses that are not subsidized by the Cooperative Program

Southern Seminary trains Christians of many denominations for ministry. Non-Southern Baptist students pay degree fees that are twice the amount paid by Southern Baptist students. A student is considered to be Southern Baptist only if he/she is a member of a Southern Baptist Convention church that contributes to the Cooperative Program.

Financial Obligations

All applicable academic fees are payable by the close of online registration. Payment must be made on-line by checking or savings, Visa or Master Card. Students may pay in full or use the F.A.C.T.S. monthly payment plan. All accounts with the seminary must be paid promptly. Neglect of financial obligations may be cause for disciplinary action.

A student must pay all current financial obligations before registering for any semester/term. A student must satisfy any outstanding financial obligations before grades and/or transcripts can be issued to or for the student.

Dormitory room and apartment rentals are due one month in advance and are payable at the beginning of each calendar month. If rent on student housing becomes as much as two months in arrears, the student may be required to vacate his or her dormitory room or apartment and may be withdrawn from all classes.

Refunds

Situations occasionally occur which require a student to drop a class/es or withdraw from seminary after registration has closed. Requests to drop classes and requests for withdrawal are made to the Office of Academic Records. If approved, refunds of the per-hour degree fee will be made according to the following schedule:

• drop any class before the close of online registration ........ 100%
• complete withdrawal from all classes before the close of online registration ...................................................... 100%
• drop or withdrawal after the close of registration but within the first quarter of the semester or term .......... 75%
• drop or withdrawal after the end of the first quarter of a semester or term but by the midpoint ............... 50%

Schedule of Fees and Charges

2. The spouse/dependent is the student taking the lesser amount of hours unless he/she is a doctoral student;
3. If one spouse/dependent refund is allowed for each full paying student;

Purpose

The primary purpose of the School of Theology is to conduct post-baccalaureate professional and graduate theological programs in order to equip students for ministry as pastors, teachers, Christian counselors, chaplains, and urban ministers. In addition, the School of Theology seeks to provide the biblical and theological training that is foundational for other church-related ministries as well as for roles where advanced theological training is required. Central to these educational functions is the development of persons of Christian character, commitment, and integrity. The wide spectrum within which the Christian minister functions necessitates both comprehensive and highly specialized education. To meet the demand for comprehensiveness, students are exposed to a nucleus of courses and seminars that will enable them to think theologically and will equip them with appropriate knowledge and skills. To meet the demand for specialization, students have the opportunity to select an area of concentrated vocational preparation. The School of Theology seeks both to serve and to lead the denomination of which it is a part. While closely related to the academic and Christian communities of the world, its chief concern is the Christian ministry of Southern Baptist churches.

Overview of Academic Programs

Academic programs in the School of Theology consist of three types. The basic professional programs designed to equip qualified students for the practice of ministry are the Diploma in Theology, the Master of Arts in Theological Studies, the Master of Arts in Christian Counseling, the Master of Divinity degree, and the Advanced Master of Divinity degree. The professional doctoral degree is the Doctor of Ministry. The research doctoral programs designed to qualify advanced students for research and teaching, as well as for other specialized leadership positions, are the Master of Theology degree and the Doctor of Philosophy degree.

Professional Programs

Professional studies in theology are offered to equip qualified students for the practice of effective Christian ministry. The goal of this faculty is for every graduate:
- to be a called disciple and minister of Jesus Christ, serving His Kingdom
- to possess a deep and growing love for God and a desire to bring glory to His name
- to possess an abiding love for people and the work of Christian ministry in the context of the church
- to bear witness to the complete truthfulness of Holy Scripture
- to maintain the historic principles of the Christian faith and of the Baptist heritage
- to be ethically informed and to embody the moral imperatives of the Kingdom of God
- to integrate theological understandings with human need in the contemporary world

Such a ministry demands nurture and preparation in at least four distinct yet related dimensions:
- Christian commitment, maturity, and spirituality
- strength and integrity of character and wholeness of personhood
- knowledge of the Bible and of historic and contemporary Christian thought and practice
- specialized training and skill development in specific areas of ministry

Research Doctoral Programs

Research doctoral programs in the School of Theology are designed to give students of superior ability an opportunity to prepare themselves thoroughly for effective leadership in Christian thought and life. This purpose embraces the preparation of students for many areas of service. Its main objective is the advanced preparation of pastors and teachers of Christian truth. Each program of study is designed to equip the student for excellence in advanced scholarship and its application to Christian ministry.

Diploma in Theology
A Diploma in Theology program is offered for students who cannot enroll in a master’s degree program because they do not have a baccalaureate degree. Candidates must be at least 30 years of age to be admitted to the Diploma in Theology program.
Up to twelve semester hours of transfer credit can be applied to the Diploma in Theology program. Those credit hours must have been taken through Seminary Extension (a ministry education system of the six theological seminaries of the Southern Baptist Convention) or Boyce College. Students should consult with the Director of Academic Counseling in the Academic Records office regarding such transfer of credit or consideration of an exceptional case. To graduate with a Diploma in Theology, the student must complete the requirements for any one of the Master of Divinity curricular options tracks with the exception of the language requirement of Hebrew and Greek, and must earn a minimum of 85 credit hours.
Master of Arts in Theological Studies

The Master of Arts in Theological Studies (MATS) is designed to offer ministry training for those persons who are not preparing for a professional ministry vocation. The purpose of this degree is to provide biblical, theological, historical, and practical training to laypersons who desire to be better equipped to do ministry in the local church. In order to provide laypersons this opportunity to pursue theological education, the seminary offers the following MATS degree on the Louisville campus.

The full MATS degree is offered in the evenings, with completion possible in 2, 3, or 4 years. (Note: 3 or 4 year sequences can be completed on Tuesday and Thursday evening classes only).

Master of Arts in Christian Counseling

The Master of Arts in Christian Counseling is designed to prepare persons for a ministry of Christian counseling to individuals, couples, and families in a congregational, denominational agency, counseling center, or missions setting. The degree blends academic/classroom preparation with clinical experience in a hospital or counseling ministry setting. All students applying for admission to the MACC degree will be interviewed and screened by a professor in the Christian Counseling Department as part of their application process. Admission into the MACC program will be limited to a maximum of 50 students in the program at one time. Each student will also be under the ongoing guidance and supervision of a faculty mentor throughout the duration of his or her degree program. This faculty mentor will consult regularly with the student and the student’s clinical supervisor to maintain optimum quality assurance of the training objectives of this degree. Students desiring to pursue D.Min. or Ph.D. studies should seek entry into the M.Div. in Pastoral Counseling degree.

Master of Divinity Degree

The Master of Divinity is the foundational professional degree program for persons in ministry. The program of study is designed to give the student comprehensive knowledge in biblical and theological studies and to help the student develop the specific skills needed for effective ministry. The need of today’s student for specialized preparation in specific forms of ministry is met through curricular options. The school also offers the following emphases: pastoral studies, biblical and theological studies, Christian ministry, pastoral counseling, higher education, family ministry, and pastoral care. Students with questions about which emphasis to choose should seek advisement from the Senior Associate Dean of the School of Theology.

Master of Divinity with Emphasis in Pastoral Studies

This degree is primarily designed to prepare men who are called to serve in the office of pastor in local congregations. A balance of biblical, theological, and ministry courses makes this a broad program of pastoral training, allowing for exposure to a range of knowledge and skills needed.

Master of Divinity with emphasis in Biblical and Theological Studies

This option within the Master of Divinity program is designed to give concentrated focus upon biblical and theological studies. Through this emphasis, students engage in intensive biblical language study and explore theology, philosophy, and history in depth. Students with this emphasis take Hebrew and Greek simultaneously in varying degrees of intensity. Since students in this emphasis do not have room for the Old and New Testament Introduction classes within the required program of studies, they are advised to attend the introductory lectures to increase their general knowledge of the Scriptures. Permission of the instructor is required.

Master of Divinity with emphasis in Family Ministry

The family ministry emphasis is designed to prepare persons for service in ministry to families, whether in the local church or through a denominational agency. This option differs from all the others in that controlled electives, rather than free electives, predominate. This is because of the particular demands facing the family minister, which require intensive preparation in specific areas. Students choosing this curricular option for family ministry should seek academic advise-ment through Dr. Leigh Conver, Professor of Psychology of Religion and Pastoral Counseling.

Master of Divinity with emphasis in Pastoral Care

The pastoral care emphasis is designed to prepare persons for enhanced effectiveness in the pastoral care and counseling dimension of the Christian ministry. This option is suitable for pastors or other ministerial staff members who will do a significant amount of pastoral care and counseling. It is also suitable for those seeking placement as chaplains in hospital, business, military, or industrial settings. This emphasis does not in itself provide adequate preparation for certification as a pastoral counselor. Persons wishing to receive certification should enroll in the Master of Divinity with emphasis in Pastoral Counseling program. Students choosing the pastoral care emphasis should seek academic advisement through the Chair of the Department of Christian Counseling and Marriage and Family Studies or through the Office of the Dean of the School of Theology.

- Biblical and theological studies
- Christian counseling

Master of Divinity with emphasis in Pastoral Counseling

The Master of Divinity with emphasis in Pastoral Counseling program offers rigorous and specialized training to prepare men and women for the ministry of pastoral counseling. The emphasis is designed for mature persons with life experience beyond that of being a full-time student. Two track options are available: the Professional Counselor track and the Marriage and Family Therapy track. The Master of Divinity with emphasis in Pastoral Counseling program is supervised by the Department of Christian Counseling and Marriage and Family Studies.

Professional Counselor Track

The professional counselor track includes both the academic and clinical components required for certification by the American Association of Pastoral Counselors. Although the program is intended to prepare students for eventual AAPC certification, Southern cannot guarantee such certification.

Marriage and Family Therapy Track

The marriage and family therapy track includes academic courses and clinical experience components which can be recognized for possible equivalencies by the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy.

The 4 hr. SME requirement is fulfilled as follows: Each Adv. M.Div. student will take 1) one 2 hr. Supervised Research Experience, to be satisfied through supervised research at home or abroad (students are encouraged to travel to Oxford, England to satisfy this SRE); and 2) one 2 hr. Church-based SME, in which Adv. M.Div. students are involved in the regular SME program as are other M.Div. students arranged in conjunction with the SME office.

If a student takes Ministry of Proclamation (30000) because of an entrance deficiency, then that student must take Preaching Practicum (30020) to fulfill the preaching elective requirement.

A two-track Adv. M.Div. option is offered: 1) Track One is a thesis track. Here, the student will take 40375 “Adv. M.Div. Thesis Writing” (2 hrs.), and write a 40-60 pp. thesis. 2) Track Two is a non-thesis track. Here the student will take a 3 hr. elective in place of the 2 hr. Thesis Writing Course.

Policies for Doctor of Ministry Programs

Overview of Doctor of Ministry Programs

The Doctor of Ministry (D.Min.) degree is an advanced professional doctorate degree in ministry. The purpose of this program of study is to equip persons, who are committed to a Christian vocation, for a high level of excellence in the practice of ministry.

The distinctive features of the Doctor of Ministry degree program include:
- participation in interdisciplinary academic seminars
- practical application of classroom learning to the student’s ministry setting
- a written research project or thesis that is related to the student’s ministry setting
- an oral defense of the written project or thesis

In the School of Theology, the degree is offered in two distinct areas:
- Expository Preaching
- Christian Counseling

Registration

Students accepted into the Doctor of Ministry program must register for their first seminar no later than one year after acceptance to the program. After initial registration, a student is expected to register every term for seminars and every semester for Applied Ministry Experience (or Applied Clinical Supervision in the Doctor of Ministry–Christian Counseling program). Unforeseen circumstances do at times require that students temporarily halt their studies. Any interruptions in study, however, are strongly discouraged for several reasons. First, students who interrupt their studies must recognize that faculty supervision may be affected by prolonged interruptions. As a result, the student may not be readmitted to the program unless alternative and acceptable departmental supervision can be arranged. Second, programs with a cohort experience are disrupted and progress toward graduation is delayed.

Students who must take time off from the program of study must request permission for “Continuing Enrollment Status” for the Director of Professional Doctoral Studies at least one month prior to the first day of classes in the semester.

Length of Time Allowed

Students in the program are expected to pursue their degree concurrently with full-time vocational involvement in ministry. Students should allow at least three years of study to complete their program. Students should take no more than four years to finish their degree. If a student takes time off from the program, that absence does not count toward the four-year limit. Students who take longer than four years will be assessed an additional fee for each semester of extension beyond the four-year limit. Under no circumstances shall a student extend the time of completion beyond six years.

Minimum Grade Point

For each component of the program, a student must receive a minimum grade of “B-” (7.0 on a 12.0 scale). If a student receives a grade that is lower than a “B-” (7.0 on a 12.0 scale) on any individual component, that component must be repeated. Furthermore, that student is placed on probation. If a student receives two successive grades that are lower than a “B-” (7.0 on a 12.0 scale), the student will be terminated from the program.

Attendance

Because the foundational seminars are accelerated, attendance is required at every session for the entire duration of these seminars. Absence from any portion of any foundational seminar will necessitate retaking that seminar. Class participation will affect the student’s final grade.

Assignments

The accelerated plan for the foundational seminars mandates that all assignments be completed on time, including reading and book critiques that are to be done before the seminar and the papers that are to be done after the seminar. Faculty supervisors will work with students to maintain a submission schedule for all assignments.

Doctor of Ministry Program Descriptions and Requirements

Doctor of Ministry—Expository Preaching

The Doctor of Ministry degree with emphasis in Expository Preaching is designed to equip pastors and other church leaders in the skills of sermon preparation and public exposition of Scripture. This program of study will meet the needs of those persons who want to engage in the classical disciplines of biblical interpretation, theological reflection, and sermon preparation. It is a non-resident degree program that is intended for ministry professionals who desire further education but who simultaneously wish to remain on the field of service where God has placed them.

Curriculum Plan

The program of study consists of four areas:
- foundational seminars: 16
- applied ministry experience: 8
- project methodology: 2
- ministry research project: 6

Total D.Min. credit hours: 32

Foundational Seminars

Four on-campus foundational seminars, for a total of 16 credit hours, are required:
- 80311 Theological, Historical, and Practical Issues in Expository Preaching ........................................ 4
- 80312 Expository Preaching and the Old Testament .................................. 4
- 80313 Expository Preaching and the New Testament .................................. 4
- 80314 Methods and Models of Expository Preaching .................................. 4

These seminars are not taken concurrently and may be taken in one of two ways. A student can enroll in the seminars when they are offered on the Louisville campus. Each seminar meets for five days (Monday through Friday all day and in the evenings) during a January or summer term. A student also can enroll in the seminars when they are offered at selected extension sites.

Prior to the time the seminar meets, students are required to complete a significant amount of work (such as reading a minimum of 2500 pages plus completing written assignments). After attending the seminar, students are to write a reflection paper.

Applied Ministry Experience

Because this degree is a professional degree, it is expected that students will incorporate classroom material into their ministry setting. Through Applied Ministry Experience, students can develop higher competence and can increase skills in the performance of ministry. Students are to complete the following courses, each of which corresponds to a specific foundational seminar:
- 80321 Applied Ministry Experience I ........................................... 2
- 80322 Applied Ministry Experience II ........................................... 2
- 80323 Applied Ministry Experience III ........................................... 2
- 80324 Applied Ministry Experience IV ........................................... 2

Each course requires one or more projects or assignments related directly to course material covered in the foundational seminar that accompanied it. A written summary for each project is also required. The projects accomplish two purposes:
• to reinforce, expand, and provide a practical experience relative to the seminar content
• to assist the student in preparing for the research project that will culminate the student’s degree program

Project Methodology

Students are required to complete two project methodology courses for a total of 2 credit hours:
• 80601 Project Methodology I .............................................. 1
• 80602 Project Methodology II ............................................... 1

Course 80601 is attached to the second foundational seminar. Course 80602 is attached to the fourth foundational seminar. Each project methodology course is held during a three-day period of time and provides preparation for the research project.

Ministry Research Project

The ministry research project (course 80700), is the culmination of the program of study. Through a written report of 75-100 pages, the student has the opportunity to apply professional knowledge and documented research into the context of ministry. The entire project is supervised by a committee comprised of the faculty supervisor and the professor who taught courses 80601 and 80602. Prior to beginning the ministry research project, the student must secure approval of a proposal. To secure approval, the student must submit a project prospectus to the two-person committee mentioned above. Once this committee approves the prospectus, the Director of the Doctor of Ministry program will recommend the prospectus to the Associate Vice President for Doctoral Studies for recommendation to the faculty for final approval. Once the prospectus is approved, the student engages in simultaneous research and practice to conduct the project. The results of the project are compiled in written form per specific guidelines. After the project paper has been written, the student must successfully defend the project in an oral exam before a committee of three persons. This committee includes the faculty supervisor, the professor of the project methodology courses, and a third professor who has expertise in the area in which the student prepared his or her project but who has not been involved with the student’s project. The Director of Professional Doctoral Studies will select this third person.

Cohort Group

Each student is part of a cohort group composed of several students. The cohort system helps to foster and maintain collegiality as well as help to provide an open, effective learning atmosphere. Cohorts are expected to complete together the prescribed sequence of seminars, applied ministry experience, and research project.

Faculty Supervision

Upon acceptance into the program, a student is assigned to a cohort group and to a faculty supervisor. The supervisor will guide the student throughout the program of study.

Doctor of Ministry—Christian Counseling

The Doctor of Ministry degree with emphasis in Christian Counseling is designed to equip ministry professionals for leadership in the care of souls. Specifically, the degree is designed for congregational ministers, hospital chaplains, pastoral counselors, clinical social workers, family ministers, addiction counselors, psychologists, and the like who serve in counseling roles. The program provides advanced training that integrates the clinical skills of the behavioral sciences with the biblical and theological hermeneutics of the Christian faith. The Doctor of Ministry is a non-resident degree program that is intended for ministry professionals who desire further academic and clinical training but whose professional responsibilities do not allow them to suspend full-time employment to relocate in order to pursue an education. One desired outcome of the degree program is to aid in the professional advancement of persons who need a professional doctoral degree in order to meet certification requirements and/or academic prerequisites for further studies at the Doctor of Philosophy level. A second desired outcome is the potential publication of an original contribution to the fields of pastoral theology and Christian counseling.

Curriculum Plan

The program of study consists of four areas:
• foundational seminars: 8
• functional seminars: 16
• project or thesis methodology: 2
• thesis: 6

Foundational Seminars

Two on-campus foundational seminars, for a total of 8 credit hours, are required. The seminars, which are tailored to the critical issues facing pastoral care and counseling specialists, set the theological foundation for the rest of the program of study. The seminars are taught by a professor from the area of Christian Counseling and Marriage and Family Studies and a professor from the Scripture and Interpretation Division (course 80531) or the Theology and Traditions Division (course 80541). The courses are:
• 80541 Biblical-Theological Foundations of Care 4
• 80542 Historical-Theological Foundations of the Care of Souls 4

Each seminar meets for 5 days (Monday through Friday all day and in the evenings) during a January or summer term. Prior to the time the seminar meets, students are required to complete a significant amount of work (such as reading a minimum of 2500 pages plus completing written assignments). After attending the seminar, students are to write a 40-page research paper.

Functional Seminars

The second portion of the program is structured to wrap around a two-year clinical residency training program that is accredited to offer advanced training in some area of Christian counseling, such as clinical pastoral education, pastoral counseling, marriage and family therapy, or group psychotherapy. The curriculum for the functional seminars will be negotiated on a semester basis between the area of Christian Counseling and Marriage and Family Studies and the external training center director. The curriculum will help move the student towards his or her professional goals.

The four off-campus functional seminars must be chosen from the following options:
• 80550 Theory and Practice of Family Ministry ................. 4
• 80560 Ministry Supervision ............................................. 4
• 80570 Theories of Personality ........................................... 4
• 80580 Pastoral Theology and Ministry ............................... 4
• 80590 Theory and Practice of Group Psychotherapy ............. 4

Students take the functional seminars and their approved clinical supervision (ACS) under the direction and supervision of an approved field supervisor who is with the external training center. The approved clinical supervision consists of a minimum of one hour of individual supervision and one hour of group supervision each week during the semester. Said supervision is done by an approved supervisor(s) in one of the clinical disciplines—chaplaincy or Christian counseling.

Students who are able to commute to the Louisville campus of Southern Seminary and are not enrolled in an accredited clinical residency training program as stated above may substitute up to a maximum of three Doctor of Philosophy seminars and two doctoral colloquia for the 16 hours of functional seminars. In order to make these substitutions, the student must also receive two hours of approved clinical supervision (ACS) per week while he or she is taking the seminars and colloquia. The clinical supervisor of the ACS must agree to serve and become approved as a Doctor of Ministry field supervisor. Students who choose this option will complete all the Doctor of Philosophy seminar requirements according to the schedule prescribed by the professor.

Project/Thesis Methodology

Students are required to complete course work in project methodology or graduate research. Students have the option of choosing one of the following options to complete this requirement.

- 80601 Project Methodology I and 80602 Project Methodology II or
- 81020 Graduate Research Seminar

Each project methodology course is held during a three-day period of time. The graduate research seminar is held during the regular semester and meets one day per week for the duration of the semester.

During the course(s), the student will begin to write the prospectus, which is a proposal of the original academic research in which the student wishes to engage. To secure approval, the student must submit the prospectus to a committee composed of three persons: the faculty supervisor, the field supervisor, and the professor of the project/thesis methodology course(s). Once this committee deems the prospectus to be satisfactory, it forwards the prospectus to the Vice President for Doctoral Studies for his approval. If it is satisfactory, the Director of Professional Doctoral Studies will recommend the prospectus to the seminary faculty for final approval. The approved prospectus will denote successful completion of the thesis methodology course(s).

Ministry Research Project/Thesis

The thesis is the culmination of the program of study and is to be one hundred pages long. The goal of the thesis is to produce original research that makes a potentially publishable contribution to the fields of pastoral theology and Christian counseling. Once the prospectus is approved, a three-member thesis Committee of Instruction will be formed. One member of the committee is a faculty member from the area of Christian Counseling and Marriage and Family Studies, who will act as chairperson. The second member is the student’s project methodology supervisor. The third member is the student’s field supervisor. The student is to engage in simultaneous research and practice in order to conduct the project. The results of the project are compiled in written form per specific guidelines. After the project paper has been written, the student must successfully defend the project in an oral exam before the Committee of Instruction.

Supervision

Upon acceptance into the program, a faculty supervisor from the area of Christian Counseling and Marriage and Family Studies will be assigned to the student. This supervisor will guide the student’s progress in the program, from the beginning of studies until the approval of the prospectus. A field supervisor from the student’s clinical residency training program will provide academic and clinical supervision during the approved clinical supervision portion of the program.

Policies for Research Doctoral Studies

Overview of Research Doctoral Programs

The purpose of the Master of Theology (Th.M.) degree program and the Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) degree program is to give students of superior ability an opportunity to prepare themselves thoroughly for effective leadership in areas requiring advanced Christian scholarship and the application of scholarship to ministry. This purpose embraces the preparation of students for many areas of service. Its main objective is the advanced preparation of teachers and pastors.

Residency Requirements

Both the Master of Theology and the Doctor of Philosophy are residential degree programs. Students are expected to live in the Louisville area (normally within a 50 mile radius) and to engage in full-time study (normally 40 hours) on campus. Students are expected to remain in residence until their program is completed (normally until dissertation or thesis has been submitted). Petitions for exemption to the residency requirements must be approved by the student’s faculty supervisor and by the Associate Vice President for Doctoral Studies.

Research Doctoral Fields and Areas of Study

The Master of Theology program and the Doctor of Philosophy program involve specific divisions, fields, and areas (i.e. subfields) of study. These are as follows:

Scripture and Interpretation Division
- Field of Old Testament Studies
- Field of New Testament Studies
- Field of Biblical Studies (combined studies in Old and New Testaments including both biblical Hebrew and biblical Greek)

Theology and Tradition Division
- Field of Church History and Historical Theology
- Field of Systematic Theology

Worldview and Culture Division
- Field of Christian Philosophy
- Field of Christian Ethics
- Field of Christian Apologetics and Worldview Studies

Ministry and Proclamation Division
- Field of Christian Preaching
- Field of Christian Counseling and Family Studies
  - Pastoral Theology
  - Psychology of Religion
  - Marriage and Family Studies
  - Psychology and Counseling
  - Ministry Supervision

With the approval of the student’s faculty supervisor, the student may include an area of study outside of the School of Theology. For instance, an area of study may be chosen in the Billy Graham School of Missions, Evangelism and Church Growth (see areas of study in the “Policies for Research Doctoral Studies” portion of the Billy Graham School of Missions, Evangelism and Church Growth section of this catalog).

Research Doctoral Program Descriptions and Requirements

Master of Theology Degree

The primary purpose of the Master of Theology program is to equip students for advanced scholarship and its application to Christian ministry. Through this program, students have opportunity to cultivate their competencies in a chosen field of specialization.
Faculty Supervisor

Each Th.M. student will work under the direction of a faculty supervisor. The faculty supervisor will guide the student’s entire program of study.

Length of Time Allowed

The Master of Theology degree is designed to be completed in two semesters (one year). After three semesters, a student must apply, through the Office of Doctoral Studies, for an extension in order to continue in the program. An extension of up to two additional semesters may be allowed. Under no circumstances shall a student extend the time of completion beyond a total program length of five semesters (two and a half years).

Students who are granted extensions will be assessed an additional fee for each semester beyond the one and a half-year limit. The extension fee, however, will be waived for each semester a student has served as grader, teaching assistant, or sole instructor of a class during his or her program of study.

Course Load

The normal course load is 12 credit hours per semester. The maximum course load is 14 credit hours per semester.

Minimum Grade Point

The minimum passing grade in any course (doctoral seminar, advanced master’s level elective, or colloquium) is a “B-” (7.0 on a 12.0 scale). Any student who earns a grade lower than a “B-” (7.0 on a 12.0 scale) on any course will:
• lose credit for the work done in that course
• be placed on probation
• forfeit the Resident Doctoral Grant for that semester
• have his or her status reviewed

If after two semesters of probation a student cannot maintain a “B-” average (7.0 on a 12.0 scale), the student will be terminated from the program. Furthermore, the student will need to reimburse the seminary for the amount of the Research Doctoral Studies Grant issued to that student.

Curriculum Plan

Normally, no academic work done prior to acceptance as a student in the Master of Theology degree program will be credited toward that program. The one exception to this policy is course 81020: Graduate Research Seminar, which may be taken as a Master of Divinity student or as a Special Student.

Two programs of study are available to Th.M. students. The traditional program of study leading to the Master of Theology degree requires the submission and defense of a thesis. In addition, the following coursework must be satisfactorily completed. At least one doctoral colloquium must be included in the program of study. The doctoral colloquia and at least two of the seminars/electives must be completed in the student’s major area of study.

A program of study which does not require the writing of a thesis is also available, but should only be pursued upon the recommendation of the student’s faculty supervisor. Two additional doctoral seminars (or advanced level master’s electives) are to be taken in the place of the thesis. At least one doctoral seminar must be included in the program of study. The doctoral colloquia and at least three of the seminars/electives must be completed in the student’s major area of study. The curriculum plan for the no-thesis Th.M. is:

Students who have been admitted to the Th.M. program will need to discuss program options with their faculty supervisors at orientation. Application is made to the Th.M. program at Southern Seminary.

Course Selection

Master of theology students receive four hours of credit for a three-hour Master of Divinity elective when:
• the professor teaching the course gives written approval prior to registration
• the professor submits this approval to the Research Doctoral Studies office and the Academic Services office
• the professor teaching the course assigns appropriate work to warrant the additional credit hour earned

Students who major in biblical studies may be required, by their faculty supervisor, to take advanced courses in Greek and Hebrew.

Thesis

Students pursuing the traditional Th.M. program shall write a thesis of between 50 and 100 pages (in courses 81050 and 81060). The subject is to be in the student’s major field of study and is to be selected in consultation with the student’s faculty supervisor. The thesis is designed to demonstrate the student’s research abilities. The conclusions reached and positions taken in a thesis are the student’s. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the student’s Committee of Instruction or the seminary faculty as a whole. The student is expected to remain in residence until the thesis has been completed and submitted. Information concerning requirements and procedures is available from the Office of Doctoral Studies.

Prospectus and Thesis Committee

Before writing the thesis, the student must prepare a prospectus under the guidance of the faculty supervisor. Once a prospectus is deemed acceptable by the faculty supervisor, two additional faculty members will be invited to serve on a Thesis Committee. This committee will direct and evaluate work on the Th.M. thesis, from submission of the prospectus to the oral defense of the thesis.

Thesis Defense

The Thesis Committee must unanimously approve the thesis. If the student fails the thesis, the committee may allow the thesis to be resubmitted. A second failure will result in termination of the student’s program.
Doctor of Philosophy Degree

The primary purpose of the Doctor of Philosophy program is to provide students of exceptional ability and promise with the highest level of academic training. This training is designed to prepare students for advanced scholarship, effective teaching, and service. The program is intended to qualify graduates for college or seminary teaching, for the pastorate, and for other church-related ministries that utilize such training and expertise.

Program of Study

The program requirements for the Doctor of Philosophy degree in the School of Theology vary somewhat from field to field. At the time of matriculation, the student works with his or her faculty supervisor to develop a coherent plan of study and secure a Committee of Instruction. The plan of study should, in all cases, allow the student to gain depth and breadth in the field of study and in related areas, where appropriate.

Committee of Instruction

The Committee of Instruction is composed of the student’s faculty supervisor and two other professors. This committee normally will work with the student in all matters related to the program of study and Comprehensive Examinations and may serve as the student’s Dissertation Committee.

Length of Time Allowed

Many factors affect the length of time needed to complete the Ph.D. program. Although students typically need four years to meet all requirements, some have finished in as few as three years. Students may apply for extensions for any semester beyond four years through the Office of Doctoral Studies. Students who are granted extensions will be assessed an additional fee for each semester of extension beyond the four-year limit. The extension fee, however, will be waived for each semester a student has served as grader, teaching assistant, or sole instructor of a class during his or her program of study. Under no circumstances shall a student extend the time of completion beyond twelve semesters (six years).

Course Load

The normal course load is 10 credit hours per semester except in the writing phase. The maximum load is 14 credit hours per semester.

Minimum Grade Point

The minimum passing grade in any course (seminar, external work, or colloquium) is a “B” (8.0 on a 12.0 scale). Any student who earns a grade lower than a “B” (8.0 on a 12.0 scale) on any course will:

- lose credit for the work done in that course
- be placed on probation
- forfeit the Resident Doctoral Grant for that semester
- have his or her student status reviewed

A second grade below the “B” level will normally result in the termination of the student’s program.

Curriculum Plan

Normally, no academic work done prior to acceptance as a student will be credited toward a doctoral degree.

Students are allowed considerable flexibility in the order in which required seminars must be taken. The student is to complete the following with passing grades in order to graduate with a Doctor of Philosophy degree:

- working knowledge of two doctoral languages ................................. 0
- eight seminars in doctoral areas ..................................................... 32
- 81020 Graduate Research Seminar ............................................. 2
- 81100 Higher Education .............................................................. 4
- 81300 Higher Education .............................................................. 2
- a minimum of five doctoral colloquia (one per semester) ............... 10
- comprehensive exams .................................................................. 0
- dissertation .................................................................................. 8
- dissertation defense ........................................................................ 8

Total Ph.D. credit hours ................................................................. 66

Language Requirements

Normally, a working knowledge of two modern and/or classical languages is required. A third language may be required if the Committee of Instruction determines that the chosen program of study requires it. One of the two languages should be German. In all cases, the Committee of Instruction must approve the languages chosen (in consultation with the Associate Vice President for Doctoral Studies). The decision as to the languages to be learned will take into consideration the student’s area of specialization and particular needs. Other language options are Latin, French, or Spanish. Students majoring in biblical fields may be required to take additional study in the biblical languages of Hebrew and Greek and/or may have other language requirements.

A working knowledge of one language should normally be demonstrated prior to taking doctoral seminars. If a student is not able to do so, that student will be required to take a reduced load during the first semester of study. Competence in the second language must be demonstrated prior to the beginning of the student’s third semester of study.

A student demonstrates a working knowledge of a language by earning a passing grade in a non-credit course offered under faculty supervision or on a doctoral language proficiency examination. The exams are offered twice a year during Ph.D./Th.M. orientation (August and January), and are administered by the Office of Research Doctoral Studies. Exceptions to these language requirements may be made upon recommendation of the student’s Committee of Instruction and approval of the Associate Vice President for Doctoral Studies. The only instances in which an exception will be granted are for students:

- for whom English is a second language. These students may substitute their native language for one of the modern or classical languages if the substitution would be viewed as an asset to required research within the area of study.
- who are expected or required to engage in empirical research. These students may substitute demonstrated competency in statistics and computer language for one of the modern or classical languages.

Required Eight Seminars

Doctor of Philosophy students pursue their studies in large part through seminar research. The combination of required seminars varies somewhat from field to field, however, a total of eight seminars, which carry four credit hours each, is required of all students. Seminars should be chosen in consultation with the student’s faculty supervisor. The student’s supervisor may recommend seminars outside of the primary area of study in order that the student may acquire some knowledge or skill that will be beneficial to the overall program of study.

External Seminar Option

Upon recommendation of a student’s faculty supervisor and approval by the Associate Vice President for Doctoral Studies, one or two of a student’s eight seminars may be taken at an approved doctoral-granting institution other than Southern Seminary. Upon completion of the external study, the student is to submit a descriptive and evaluative statement of that external study. The student’s faculty supervisor and the Associate Vice President for Doctoral Studies must approve this report. Students engaged in external study will pay fees and tuition charges prescribed by the host institution. The student will also need to register at Southern Seminary under Ph.D. Student: Affiliate Registration (course 81990) to receive credit for the external seminar. If the student is simultaneously taking courses for credit at Southern Seminary, the student also will pay the seminary registration fees. The student is responsible for requesting that an official transcript of course work taken at other institutions be sent to the Academic Services office at Southern Seminary.

Three seminars focusing on academic research and education are required of every Doctor of Philosophy student in the School of Theology.

Graduate Research Seminar (81020) should be taken in the student’s first or second semester. Teaching Principles and Methods (81200), which normally is only offered in Summer term, can be taken any time after the student completes two semesters of study. Higher Education (81300) is offered in the summer only as a two-day conference/workshop. It may be taken during the year in which the student has completed or will complete comprehensive examinations or with special permission.

Doctoral Colloquia

Doctoral colloquia are designed to be a forum for exploration of literature, issues, and developments in a student’s major field of study. Students are required to take a minimum of five doctoral colloquia. Each department reserves the right to require additional colloquia beyond the minimum of five.

Comprehensive Examinations

Comprehensive examinations are examinations that correspond to the student’s areas of doctoral study. In most areas, students will take three comprehensive examinations. Biblical Studies majors have four area comprehensive examinations. Although doctoral seminars and colloquia may help to develop the student’s knowledge, they are normally not sufficient to acquire the breadth of knowledge necessary to pass the comprehensive exams. Thus, preparation for comprehensive exams should begin immediately upon acceptance into the doctoral program and continue up to the time that comprehensive examinations are taken. Guidance in developing a plan of preparation for the exams will be offered by the student’s Committee of Instruction. Students majoring in Old Testament or New Testament are required to take one of their comprehensive examinations in a biblical language.

Comprehensive examinations are offered twice each year (in November and in May). Normally, a student will be required to take comprehensive examinations during the semester which follows the completion of all area seminar requirements. A notice of intention to take the comprehensive examinations must be filed with the Associate Vice President for Doctoral Studies. The Research Doctoral Studies calendar, available from the Office of Doctoral Studies, provides deadlines for filing this notice of intention. Failure on any part of the exam will result in a review of the student’s performance by the Committee of Instruction and the Associate Vice President for Doctoral Studies. Permission for a second examination in the area of the failure may be granted, or the committee may require that the student take a second exam in all areas. A second failure on the comprehensive examinations will result in termination of the student’s program. In such cases, the student will be awarded the Master of Theology degree if the 26 hours of coursework required for the non-thesis Th.M. program have been satisfactorily completed as part of the Ph.D. program.

Dissertation

Each student must demonstrate the ability to conduct original research by submitting a dissertation to the faculty. All conclusions reached and positions taken in a dissertation are the student’s. They do not necessarily represent the views of the student’s faculty supervisor or committee or those of the seminary faculty as a whole.

Before writing the dissertation, the student must submit a prospectus for approval by the student’s committee, the Associate Vice President for Doctoral Studies, and the seminary faculty.

Upon completion, the dissertation is normally submitted to an external reader who has acknowledged competency in the student’s area of study. The external reader will submit a written evaluation to the student’s Committee of Instruction. Information on dissertation requirements is available from the Associate Vice President for Doctoral Studies. Dissertations normally may not be written in absentia.

Dissertation Defense

An oral defense of the dissertation will follow the submission of the defense draft. The committee must unanimously approve the dissertation. If the student fails the dissertation or the dissertation defense, the committee may allow the dissertation to be resubmitted and/or may require a second dissertation defense. A second failure will result in termination of the student’s program. In such cases, the student will be awarded the Master of Theology degree if the 26 hours of coursework required for the non-thesis Th.M. program have been satisfactorily completed as part of the Ph.D. program.

Introduction

Purpose

The primary purpose of the School of Church Music and Worship is to train, educate, and prepare ministers in accordance with the mission of Southern Seminary by conducting post-baccalaureate and doctoral programs in worship and church music. To carry out this purpose, the school seeks to provide a professional, academic, and spiritual context in which the student might mature as a person and minister. In all that it does, the school seeks to underscore that man’s chief aim is to worship God in spirit and truth.

In 1996 the School of Church Music officially became the School of Church Music and Worship. This move put Southern Seminary in the forefront of seminary education in underscoring the importance of worship in today’s churches. The School of Church Music and Worship provides the integral leadership for churches that want to develop and maintain dynamic, biblically-based, corporate worship experiences for their congregations.

In 1999 the School of Church Music and Worship added the Master of Music degree to meet the needs of laypersons who wanted to study at the seminary but who did not feel called to vocational ministry. The Master of Music degree is designed for persons who would like to earn a strong graduate degree in music in a Christian Conservatory setting.

Overview of Academic Programs

Each academic program in the School of Church Music and Worship is designed to meet the individual needs of a variety of callings into Christian ministry, including local church ministry, denominational agencies, missions, and Christian higher education. Therefore, the degree programs vary in the proportion of musical, theological, worship, and ministry-related courses.

Regardless of the focus of the degree program students pursue, they are encouraged to reach their highest potential. With this understanding that God’s work both demands and deserves excellence, the School of Church Music and Worship maintains the following goals throughout its program:

- To strive for musical and academic excellence, regardless of subject, genre, or musical style.
- To instill in the student a personal philosophy of ministry and desire for lifelong spiritual, intellectual, and ministerial development.
- To cultivate a total concept of ministry through ministry applications in the classroom, Supervised Ministry Experience, and development of leadership and interpersonal skills.
- To respect and understand traditional styles, techniques, and programs, alongside change and innovation, while maintaining biblical authority and integrity.
- To provide proper curricular and technological preparation for effective ministry in the modern world.

In 1974 the Converse Collection of Hymnology, funded by a bequest from the estate of Mary B. Converse, was inaugurated and continues today with the income from a $50,000 permanent endowment.

Recitals and Lectures
A Faculty Concert Series, which is sponsored each year, allows members of the faculty to present recitals. The R. Inman Johnson Guest Recital Series brings guest artists and scholars to the campus each year to present recitals and lectures.

The Hugh T. McElrath Lectureship in Church Music allows the community to hear nationally and internationally known scholars, thinkers, and writers present a wide range of topics of interest to church musicians.

Student recitals are presented periodically by the students of the School of Church Music and Worship. All church music majors, regardless of their program of study, present public or jury recitals.

Performing Ensembles
The School of Church Music and Worship provides several avenues of performance for vocalists and instrumentalists. The nuclei of the performing groups are music majors, but membership is open to qualified students in all schools of the seminary and to non-student members of seminary families.

Choral groups include the Oratorio Chorus, Seminary Choir, and Chapel Choir. Instrumental groups include the Seminary Orchestra, Chapel Orchestra, Handbell Ensemble, String Ensemble, and Brass Quintet.

Church Music Drama productions afford opportunities for students to participate in dramatic productions employing a wide range of scope and styles.

Community Cultural Activities
The cultural and musical resources of Louisville are excellent. Outstanding opportunities are available for students to enhance their education by attending and/or participating in local concerts. Seminary choral groups have performed with the Louisville Orchestra, and church music students have performed with the Kentucky Opera both in solo roles and as chorus members.
Policies for Master’s Level Programs in Church Music

Supervised Ministry Experience

In Supervised Ministry Experience (SME), the student is challenged to learn while engaged in the practice of ministry. The student is required to combine a period of actual experience as a minister with the following additional ingredients:

• a goal-oriented ministry process
• reflections on personal occasions of ministry
• a one-hour weekly field supervisory session at the site of the student’s ministry assignment and with an approved minister-supervisor
• thoughtful theological reflection on the process of ministry with a supervised group of peers
• careful attention to biblical, Christian life and thought, and practical resources

Specifics of Supervised Ministry Course Selection

Two semesters of Supervised Ministry Experience (SME) are required for all students in master’s level programs except those pursuing the Master of Music degree. Students are to take the SME courses specified in the degree requirements for their particular program of study. Requests for deviation from the prescribed requirements may be directed to the Director of Supervised Ministry Experience. SME courses or equivalent courses taken in excess of the stipulated SME requirements must be counted as free elective credits.

Enrollment Requirements

Students should enroll in their first SME course no later than the third semester of full-time study. Students may take only one SME course in a single semester.

To enroll in any SME course, the following is necessary:

• successful completion of courses 40010 and 41005
• an approved title and ministry placement which requires a minimum nine-hour-a-week ministry commitment in an approved church or agency
• an approved field supervisor or a supervisory committee

Securing Ministry Placements

Assistance in securing ministry placements with remuneration is available in the Office of Ministry Referral of Southern Seminary. Assistance in obtaining volunteer positions in ministry can be secured from the Supervised Ministry Experience office.

Placement Examinations and Auditions in Music

No entrance examinations or auditions are required for acceptance into degree programs offered by the School of Church Music and Worship. Any student with a bachelor’s degree who satisfactorily demonstrates a calling to vocational ministry in a biographical essay and who are recommended by their church meet the admission requirements for those degrees designed for vocational ministry.

However, in order to diagnose student abilities and to satisfy National Association of Schools of Music (N.A.S.M.) guidelines that students demonstrate proficiency in undergraduate music requirements, placement examinations are given to all new, degree-seeking music and worship students during new student orientation. Placement examinations are given in the major applied area and the applicable minor applied area or areas (piano, voice, and service playing) to assess the level at which the student enters the program.

The placement examinations and auditions are given in August and January as part of the orientation process. A student who does not attempt an exam during the examination period proceeding the first semester of study will be required to take the remedial course in that area.

The transition into graduate study is facilitated for those students who prepare carefully and pass the placement examinations. In contrast, students who are not well prepared often find that remedial (pre-graduate) courses occupy a disproportionate part of their first year of study, which in turn lengthens the time required to complete the degree program.

If a student comes to the seminary without any preparation in a certain area (such as orchestration or music history), he or she may choose not to take the placement examination in that area but rather to enroll automatically in the respective pre-graduate course.

A full-time student with an undergraduate degree in music must satisfy all pre-graduate requirements by successfully passing the placement examinations or by enrolling in the equivalent course during the first four semesters of study. If a student is counseled to enroll in a pre-graduate course, he or she may not drop out of that course without permission from the Dean or Associate Dean for Professional Studies.

A full-time student without an undergraduate degree in music must satisfy all pre-graduate requirements by successfully passing the placement examinations or by enrolling in the equivalent course during the first four semesters of study. Exceptions to these rules must be secured in writing from the Professional Studies Committee of the School of Church Music and Worship.

Areas of Pre-Graduate Study

All students in church music must demonstrate proficiency in written harmony, sight singing and ear training, form and analysis, orchestration, music history, and conducting. Upon evaluation of the placement examinations, the student may be required to take one or more of the following courses:

• 50001 Musicianship I
• 50002 Musicianship II
• 50003 Musicianship III
• 50004 Musicianship IV
• 50220 Orchestration
• 50310 Music History and Literature through the Baroque
• 50320 Music History and Literature after the Baroque
• 50355 Introduction to Conducting
• 51490 Graduate Review of Music Theory
• 52490 Graduate Music History Review

Areas for Audition

Major Applied Area

Every music degree student must perform an audition in his or her major performance area as part of the placement process. In order for the faculty to evaluate the student accurately, the difficulty of the selections should represent the student’s highest level of achievement.

In order to enroll in graduate applied concentration study, the student must have presented a 25-minute recital in his/her undergraduate studies. The student may validate that recital by furnishing the printed program of said recital or by submitting a letter of certification from an appropriate college official. Any student who cannot present such verification must enroll in pre-graduate studies until he or she successfully prepares a 25-minute, pre-graduate recital.

Minor Applied Area

Proficiency auditions in the minor area(s) are administered to all students as well. Students not able to pass the listed requirements must enroll in pre-graduate applied study in that particular area until the proficiency is passed. Details of these auditions are delineated below.

- Piano (to be taken by vocalists and orchestral instrumentalists):
  - Play a hymn from a selected list at an acceptable tempo
  - Play a repertoire number of the student’s choice
  - Accompany a soloist using an arrangement of the student’s choice
  - Play from an open choral score, reading two of the lines (usually soprano and tenor or alto and bass)
  - Play any major and minor scale two octaves, ascending and descending, both hands
  - Play by ear familiar hymns in the keys of C, F, B flat, G and D
- Voice (to be taken by pianists, organists, and orchestral instrumentalists):
  - Demonstrate mastery of correct principles of breathing, phonation, registration, resonance, diction, and coordination by performing from memory four vocal compositions in English at an appropriate level of difficulty. Sacred solo compositions of this difficulty should be included in the student’s repertoire.
  - Sing a self-prepared hymn solo. This hymn will be assigned one week prior to the exam date.
- Service Playing (to be taken by organists on the organ and pianists on the piano):
  - At sight, play a simple anthem accompaniment (degree of difficulty to be determined by keyboard faculty)
  - At sight, play a vocal score using G and F clefs on four staves (pedals not required of organists)
  - Play a simple keyboard harmony passage from a figured bass (for example, a continuo score of a recitative)
  - Transpose any hymn in The Baptist Hymnal (1991) into another key not more than a major second above or below the printed score
  - Sight read a short passage of music (with clear, simple rhythm and style) and then continue to improvise a few measures in the same style, coming to a full close in a related key
  - At sight, play any hymn in The Baptist Hymnal (1991) in a style suitable for accompanying congregational singing

Accelerated Pre-Graduate Study

The School of Church Music and Worship is a graduate-professional school and, as such, does not offer an undergraduate degree. The seminary faculty recommends that the prospective student earn a bachelor’s degree with a major in music at an accredited college or university before enrolling at Southern Seminary. However, the seminary does recognize that many men and women respond to the call to ministry after the completion or near completion of an academic program in a field other than music. Such students, who already have a bachelor’s degree in an area other than music, can be enrolled in an accelerated pre-graduate program that prepares them for graduate study in church music.

Pre-graduate courses are provided in music theory (12 hours), music history (6 hours), orchestration (2 hours), conducting (2 hours), and applied music (as needed). If the student did not give a 25-minute recital in college, this requirement must be fulfilled at the seminary prior to enrolling in graduate applied concentration instruction. Pre-graduate courses carry no graduate credit and cannot be counted toward the requirements for any of the master’s degree programs offered through the School of Church Music and Worship.

Students with considerable musical experience may take placement examinations and auditions in music. If the student does not successfully pass these exams and auditions prior to beginning course work toward a degree, that student must take the pre-graduate course(s) in the area(s) of deficiency.

Minimum Grade Point

Students in the Master of Church Music or Master of Divinity with emphasis in Church Music program of study must earn a minimum grade point average of “B-” (7.0 on a 12.0 scale) in the following courses:

- all but 4 hours in the church music core
- all but 1 hour in applied studies
- all but 2 hours in a second major or in elective courses

Academic credit will not be given for any church music course (either pre-graduate or graduate) in which the student earns lower than a “C-” (4.0 on a 12.0 scale).

Transfer of Credit

Students may receive transfer credit from accredited graduate schools or seminaries. The Dean of the School of Church Music and Worship evaluates official transcripts and determines the number of hours that may be applied toward the degree.

Courses accepted for transfer credit must be of similar content and difficulty as a corresponding course at The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. No grade below “C-” from American institutions or “B-” from foreign institutions will be accepted for transfer credit.

Recital Attendance Requirements

All music students in the School of Church Music and Worship must attend Recital Laboratory for four semesters according to the following guidelines:

- 50 percent of daytime and 50 percent of evening recitals
- 75 percent of all Church Music Institute sessions
- students may substitute as many as two off-campus recitals each semester with the approval of their applied area teacher. The teacher will sign the off-campus program copy, and the student will submit it to the Recital Lab Coordinator.

Ensemble Requirements

Of the four required semesters of ensembles, two semesters are to be in a large-sized ensemble and two semesters in a medium-sized ensemble. Applicable large-sized ensembles include Oratorio Chorus (50700), Seminary Orchestra (50990), or Chapel Orchestra (50985). Medium-sized choral ensembles include Seminary Choir (50710), and Chapel Choir (50730).

All orchestral instrumentalists are required to have two semesters of a large- or medium-sized choral ensemble in addition to two semesters of Chapel Orchestra (50985) or Seminary Orchestra (50990).

After completing the required four semesters, students may enroll in ensembles for graduate credit if the ensembles are applicable to the related applied area. No ensemble may be used as elective credits on music and worship degrees. All ensembles are exempt from the standard course fee charge.

Literature Requirements

Each semester, until the completion of the graduate level recital, all church music students are required to be examined by a faculty jury in their major applied area. In addition to assigned literature, students concentrating in vocal and orchestral instrumental areas are required to prepare independently and perform four sacred solos each semester. These solos do not need to be memorized. Students concentrating in organ or piano are required to prepare independently one piece from the standard solo repertoire. On jury examinations as well as recitals, no student will be allowed to perform from photocopies of currently copyrighted music.

Degree Recital

All music students in the School of Church Music and Worship must present a satisfactory recital in his or her applied area. This recital is in addition to the pre-graduate recital required prior to taking any graduate work.

Stipulations for memorization of material in the recital vary from one applied area to another.

Possible Recital Formats

Graduate-level recitals will be presented according to one of the following three formats:
• 15-minute jury recital with a supporting historical/theoretical research document. This is the minimum recital requirement.
• 25-minute public recital. Students must receive permission from their semester jury examination panel in order to give a public recital.
• 50-minute public recital. This is the recital requirement for performance second major and MM performance major students. At least two weeks prior to the selected recital date, the student must schedule a 30-minute hearing with a faculty panel to determine if the program is ready. If the panel decides that the program is not ready, the recital will be postponed.

Preparation for the Recital

The student is responsible to prepare his or her own programs and program notes and to gather knowledge relating to the works to be performed. The student must prepare a typed copy of the program exactly as he or she wants it to appear. At least four weeks before the recital date, the student must submit this typed copy to the Office of the School of Church Music and Worship. Once the program is typeset, the school office will give the student a proof copy. The proof copy must be proofread carefully by the student and his or her faculty advisor and returned as soon as possible to the school office.

If the student requires specialized instrumentalists, he should select those instrumentalists in consultation with an instrumental professor.

Taping of the Recital

All public degree recitals will be recorded by the Media Services department of the seminary. A copy of the recording will be cataloged in the James P. Boyce Centennial Library.

Grading of the Recital

Three faculty members grade each degree recital on a pass-fail basis. A passing grade indicates that the student has successfully completed the required master’s level applied study. A failing grade indicates that the student needs to do further study, and more specifically, needs to perform the degree recital again.

Financial Obligations

The student shall bear the cost of recording, printing programs and program notes, and other related recital expenses. If the student desires a special piano tuning just prior to the recital, the student will bear this extra cost as well.

Performer’s Certificate

Sometimes an unusually gifted student merits recognition beyond that ordinarily expected of a performance major. If the professor of such a student anticipates unusual artistry in an upcoming 50-minute recital, he or she may alert the faculty prior to the recital as to the student’s potential for earning a School of Church Music and Worship Performer’s Certificate. After the recital, the church music faculty may recommend that a Performer’s Certificate be awarded, and consequently, be recorded on the student’s transcript. A two-thirds faculty majority vote (taken by secret ballot) is required for a Performer’s Certificate to be awarded.

Length of Time Required for Completion of the Entire Program

Normally a full-time Diploma or Master of Church Music student will spend two years in residence in order to complete his or her program of study. This two-year time frame is projected for full-time students who have no undergraduate level music deficiencies or who do not need review of material studied in college.

Normally a full-time student in the Master of Divinity with emphasis in Church Music program will spend three years in residence in order to complete his or her program of study. This projected three-year time frame is also for full-time students who have no undergraduate level music deficiencies or who do not need review of material studied in college.

Master’s Level Church Music Program Descriptions and Requirements

Through its music programs of study, the School of Church Music and Worship attempts to provide the context through which the student may gain the attitudes, knowledge, and skills necessary for music ministry.

The master’s level programs of study within the School of Church Music and Worship vary in terms of requirements. The school has three basic masters’ degrees in church music:
• Master of Music with nine ministry track options
• Master of Church Music with the first major in church music and the possibility of a second major in performance, pedagogy, composition, theory, conducting, music education, musicology, or church music drama
• Master of Divinity with emphasis in Church Music

In addition, the School offers a Diploma in Church Music program for students without a baccalaureate degree.

Specific program descriptions and requirements are listed on the following pages.
Diploma in Church Music

A Diploma in Church Music program is offered for students who cannot enroll in a master’s degree program because they do not have a baccalaureate degree. Candidates must be at least 30 years of age to be admitted to the Diploma in Church Music program.

Up to 12 semester hours of transfer credit can be applied to the Foundational Studies portion of the Diploma in Church Music program. Those credit hours must have been taken through Seminary Extension (a ministry education system of the six theological seminaries of the Southern Baptist Convention) or Boyce College. Consult with the Director of Academic Counseling in the Academic Services office regarding such transfer of credit.

Since no two students enter with the same musical background, it is impossible to set any standardized sequence of studies. After the completion of placement examinations and during the first semester of enrollment, the student can determine a sequence of studies plan with his or her advisor.

Master of Music

The degree Master of Music is designed for laypersons (those not called to vocational ministry) who feel additional training in a specialized area of music ministry would make them more useful for service in the local church. The degree comprises three specific components: 1) Biblical and theological studies to give a firm grounding in the foundational core of all ministry in the church, 2) Applied studies to allow the student to become a better performer in the church, either in a solo, choral, or instrumental capacity, 3) Specialized church music studies, in one of nine tracks, to help the student focus on a particular area of music ministry where his/her gifts might best be utilized in the church. These tracks are Children’s Music Ministry, Youth Music Ministry, Instrumental Music Ministry, Teaching Ministry in the Church, Solo Ministry in the Church, Church Music Drama Ministry, Conducting, Composition, and Worship Studies.

Entrance requirements are: 1) acceptance by the seminary based on standards set up by the institution regarding laypersons, 2) a baccaulaureate degree with a major in music from an institution with both N.A.S.M. and regional accreditation (students without such a degree, or its equivalent, may not pursue this degree), 3) Music Placement Examinations during orientation to determine the student’s general music competence and candidacy into a particular applied emphasis, 4) any deficiencies discovered in the Music Placement Examinations will necessitate the completion of the appropriate pre-graduate areas of study that are prerequisites to all master’s-level church music study at the seminary, 5) for the Solo Ministry in the Church Track, a live or recorded audition and an undergraduate recital program are required before acceptance.

Master of Church Music

The Master of Church Music degree is a graduate, professional degree designed to educate ministers of music. As a result of the program, students will be raised to a higher level of musical performance, academic excellence, and ministerial competence.

Waiver exams are available for some courses. If a course is waived, the student must complete an equivalent number of hours in church music studies.

In addition to the first major of church music, students may elect to take a second major in one of eight areas, all approved by the National Association of Schools of Music: performance (vocal, piano, instrumental), pedagogy (vocal, piano), composition, theory, conducting, music education, musicology, and church music drama. The second major is usually determined within the student’s second semester of study. The student must satisfy any prerequisites for the chosen second major before submitting an application with the signature of approval from a faculty advisor who teaches in that field of study. The application and specific requirements for each second major can be obtained from the School of Church Music office. Descriptions of the second majors are found on page 88.

Since no two students develop the same curricular profile based upon the Placement Examinations, it is impossible to set any standardized sequence of studies. After the completion of placement examinations and during the first two semesters of enrollment, the student can determine a sequence of studies plan with his or her advisor.

Master of Divinity with emphasis in Church Music

The Master of Divinity program with emphasis in Church Music provides greater depth of preparation in biblical, historical, and theological studies than that found in the Master of Church Music degree program. At the same time, it provides the student with the musical requirements found in the Master of Church Music degree. The Master of Divinity with emphasis in Church Music is designed for persons who wish to prepare for church music ministry positions but who desire a more extensive biblical, historical, and theological focus.

Since no two students develop the same curricular profile based upon the Placement Examinations, it is impossible to set any standardized sequence of studies. After the completion of placement examinations and during the first two semesters of enrollment, the student can determine a sequence of studies plan with his or her advisor.

Total Master of Divinity with emphasis in Church Music Requirements

Second Majors

A student pursuing the Master of Church Music can undertake a second major area by substituting a prescribed course of study for electives. The second major requires an application signed by an advisor and the Associate Dean for professional studies.

Performance Second Major

The performance second major can be in voice, piano, or orchestral instruments. Curriculum focuses on both performance and literature. A 50-minute public recital is an exit requirement.

Performance majors are required to maintain a minimum grade of “B+” (9.0 on a 12.0 scale) in their applied area. If a student earns a grade lower than “B+” (9.0 on a 12.0 scale), that student will be dropped from performance second major status.

To be permitted to pursue a performance second major, the student must perform a successful 25-minute audition and must be approved by his or her professor of applied studies.

Pedagogy Second Major

The pedagogy second major can be in voice or piano. Curriculum focuses on both applied study and pedagogy. To complete this second major, the student’s major applied professor’s certification is required. For piano or organ pedagogy second majors, a 25-minute public recital is also required.

Students who are accepted into the program must have interest and background in teaching as well as performing ability. To be permitted to pursue a pedagogy second major, the student must be approved by his or her professor of applied studies.

Composition Second Major

Course work in the composition second major stresses composition, arrangement, and analysis. It culminates in either one of the following:
• a composition thesis or special project with a composition recital
• an additional elective and private composition instruction leading to a project

A student who wishes to declare a composition second major must secure an advisor from among the ranks of the composition faculty of the School of Church Music and Worship. Before beginning work on this second major, that student must complete either 51510, 51530, 51600, 51630, or 51660.

Theory Second Major

In the theory second major, curriculum centers on theory pedagogy, analysis, and styles. There are two options for exit requirements:
• 51450 Seminar in Theory combined with either 51350 Theory Pedagogy II or any composition, arranging, or transcription course
• a master’s thesis, which may be written only by special permission and only by students with exceptional aptitude in analysis and writing

Students may be approved for this second major after successfully completing one graduate-level course in theory (51110-51399) and securing approval of a written proposal submitted to the Coordinator of Music Theory.

Conducting Second Major

The curriculum in the conducting second major consists of private conducting, styles, literature, analysis, and pedagogy. The exit requirement is 52900 Conducting Recital or an additional semester of 52700 Private Instruction in Conducting with a recital.

To be allowed to complete this second major, students must:
• satisfactorily complete courses 52600 Graduate Conducting and 52650 Choral Techniques (in the church music core curriculum)

• perform a satisfactory audition after successfully completing 52600 and 52650
• secure approval from a conducting professor

Music Education Second Major

In the music education second major, students take courses in education, child development, methods, pedagogy, and accompanying. The supervising professor’s certification is required for completion of this second major.

In order to receive permission to attempt this second major, the student must:
• satisfactorily complete course 41150 Music Ministry with Preschoolers and Children from the church music core curriculum
• secure approval for a written proposal that is to be submitted to a faculty supervisor upon completion of 41150

Musicology Second Major

The curriculum in the musicology second major focuses upon research and historical style periods. A master’s thesis is also required.

In order to receive permission to pursue a musicology second major, a student must:
• present a paper in a graduate music history course at Southern Seminary
• receive preliminary approval, from the musicology faculty, of a written proposal

Church Music Drama Second Major

In the church music drama second major, students take courses in acting, literature, staging, and production. Students have a variety of exit requirement options from which to choose, including involvement in campus productions in either a leading or secondary role; working on technical assignments in productions; or producing a musical drama in a local church.

Students wishing to complete the church music drama second major must:
• satisfactorily complete course 50970 Church Music Drama Production
• secure approval from the Church Music Drama faculty advisor
Policies for Master’s Level Programs in Worship

Free Electives

Free electives applied toward School of Church Music and Worship programs may come from four distinct areas:

• any area within the School of Church Music and Worship
• any of the other master’s level schools of Southern Seminary (School of Theology; School of Leadership and Church Ministry; and Billy Graham School of Missions, Evangelism and Church Growth)
• courses offered through the Theological Education Association of Mid-America (TEAM-A)
• graduate-level courses through the Metroversity system (with approval of the Associate Dean of the School of Church Music and Worship)

Supervised Ministry Experience

In Supervised Ministry Experience (SME), the student is challenged to learn while engaged in the practice of ministry. The student is required to combine a period of actual experience as a minister with the following additional requirements:

• a goal-oriented ministry process
• reflections on personal occasions of ministry
• a weekly field supervisory session with an approved minister-supervisor
• thoughtful theological reflection on the process of ministry with a supervised group of peers
• careful attention to biblical, Christian life and thought, and practical resources

Specifics of Supervised Ministry Course Selection

Two semesters of Supervised Ministry Experience (SME) are required for all students in master’s level programs. Students are to take the SME courses specified in the degree requirements for their particular program of study. Requests for deviation from the prescribed requirements may be directed to the Director of Supervised Ministry Experience. SME courses or equivalent courses taken in excess of the stipulated SME requirements must be counted as free elective credits.

Enrollment Requirements

Students normally should enroll in their first SME course in the third semester of full-time study. Students may take only one SME course in a single semester.

To enroll in any SME course, the following is necessary:

• successful completion of course 40010 and 41005
• an approved title and ministry placement which requires a minimum of nine hours per week of ministry in an approved church or agency
• an approved field supervisor or a supervisory committee

Securing Ministry Placements

Assistance in securing ministry placements with remuneration is available in the Ministry Referral office of Southern Seminary. Assistance in obtaining volunteer positions in ministry can be secured from the Supervised Ministry Experience office.

Master’s Level Worship Program Description and Requirements

Recognizing the need for thorough understanding and preparation in worship leadership, the School of Church Music and Worship has developed two degree programs designed for those who have worship leadership as part of their calling, but do not feel called to the traditional music ministry. While neither degree requires a prerequisite baccalaureate degree in music, a basic knowledge of music is expected from students pursuing these degrees.

Placement Examinations

During orientation the new student of worship will be given diagnostic placement examinations to determine proficiency in music fundamentals (theory, ear training, sight singing, etc.), conducting, voice, and an accompanying instrument (piano or guitar). If deficiencies are discovered, the student will take requisite pre-graduate curriculum as determined by the faculty. Guidelines for the placement examinations may be secured from the office of the School of Church Music and Worship.
Master of Arts in Worship

Although it is not as comprehensive as the 91-hour Master of Divinity with emphasis in Worship, the Master of Arts in Worship is designed to provide the student a solid background in biblical studies and Christian life and thought, combined with a core of studies in the field of worship.

The worship and music studies portion of the curriculum involves the integration of music and worship, but a baccalaureate degree in music and proficiency in music are not prerequisites for this degree. Students choosing the Master of Arts in Worship should seek academic counseling from the Associate Dean of the School of Church Music and Worship.

Doctoral Programs in Church Music

The School of Church Music and Worship offers two doctoral degrees: the Doctor of Music Ministry (D.M.M.) and the Doctor of Musical Arts (D.M.A.).

Statements below give an overview of the two programs at Southern. A more thorough description is given in A Manual for Doctoral Studies in Church Music and various study guides for Qualifying Examinations available free of charge from the Associate Dean for Doctoral Studies, School of Church Music and Worship.

The following guidelines pertain to both degrees:

Placement Examinations

Pre-doctoral candidates coming from another institution and enrolling for classes or private instruction must enroll as a “special student”. Each special student must take the placement examinations administered to new masters students. Here strengths and weaknesses are identified, and approaches are prescribed by members of the faculty prior to the doctoral examinations.

Pre-Examination Essays

As a part of the qualifying examinations each candidate must provide two written papers. These papers should be submitted to the Associate Dean for Doctoral Studies approximately a month prior to the date of qualifying examinations. All members of the faculty will read the papers.

1. An autobiography which includes the candidate’s personal, professional, and spiritual history
2. A research project utilizing proper form, footnotes, etc., written for a bachelor’s or masters assignment, or written especially for this occasion

Pre-requisite

The MCM or MDivCM from Southern Seminary is the standard pre-requisite for the D.M.M. degree. The MM from Southern Seminary is the standard pre-requisite for the D.M.A. degree. Students with masters degrees from other institutions will be expected to complete—by class, by transfer of credit, by examination, by course audit or faculty assistance, or by professional experience—approximately 20 hours from the Southern Seminary Church Music and Worship core curriculum.

Qualifying Examinations

These tests are given each March and October. No one is officially a doctoral student until successful completion of the qualifying examinations. A student takes the qualifying examinations only once. In addition to evaluating musicianship and academic strengths, these tests help the student and the faculty decide upon a suitable plan of study.

Grades

For each individual component of the program a D.M.M. student must receive a minimum grade of “B-” (7.0 on a 12.0 scale). A D.M.A. student must receive a minimum grade of “B” (8.0 on a 12.0 scale). Any student who earns a grade lower than these minimums will:

- Lose credit for the work done in that component
- Be placed on academic probation
- Have the student status reviewed

Two successive semesters of unacceptable grades will result in the student’s being terminated from the program.

Research Doctoral Studies Grants

Each student admitted to a doctoral degree will have an automatic Research Doctoral Studies Grant for the first eight semesters of study. The grants are only revoked—and consequently repaid to the Seminary—if the student is terminated from the degree program by failing to maintain an acceptable grade point average.

Assistantships

Many doctoral students have opportunities, according to needs of the Seminary, to participate in the educational process.

Length of Time Allowed

The programs are designed to be completed in eight semesters or less. Students who take longer than eight semesters must make formal application with the Vice President for Doctoral Studies for each semester. Students who are granted extensions will be assessed an additional fee for each semester beyond eight. All doctoral degrees must be completed by the end of six years (twelve semesters) of enrollment.

Comprehensive Examinations

All D.M.A. students write a dissertation that may take the form of a research project or an annotated musical composition. The dissertation must demonstrate the ability of the student to conduct original research in a specific field. All conclusions reached and positions taken in a dissertation are those of the student. They do not necessarily represent the views of the Committee of Instruction or the faculty as a whole.

The subject of the dissertation is to be in the student’s major area of study and is to be selected in consultation with the student’s advisor. Before writing the dissertation, a prospectus must be submitted to the Committee of Instruction, the Research Doctoral Studies Committee, and the seminary faculty.

D.M.M. students have two choices; they may write a research project/composition based on the dissertation model, or they may write an “Integrative Essay,” an autobiographical paper reflecting competency in every area of the curriculum.

Final Paper

All D.M.A. students write a dissertation that may take the form of a research project or an annotated musical composition. The dissertation must demonstrate the ability of the student to conduct original research in a specific field. All conclusions reached and positions taken in a dissertation are those of the student. They do not necessarily represent the views of the Committee of Instruction or the faculty as a whole.

D.M.M. students have two choices; they may write a research project/composition based on the dissertation model, or they may write an “Integrative Essay,” an autobiographical paper reflecting competency in every area of the curriculum.

Oral Examination

All doctoral students realize the culmination of their work during a two-hour oral examination hosted by members of their Committee of Instruction, with other members of the Church Music and Worship faculty who are invited to participate. The main item of discussion is the final paper. In the case of a dissertation, the candidate will be allowed to describe influences and elements of the research, and the faculty will be allowed to present items needing pre-publication modifications and corrections. The successful completion of the oral examination serves as a harbinger for the awarding of the degree.

In the case of a D.M.M. candidate who writes an integrative essay, the oral examination represents total completion of the degree. Where there is a publishable project/dissertation, the work, upon final completion, is then processed through the seminary faculty for approval and then submitted for copyrighting, microfilming, and binding.

The following guidelines pertain specifically to each degree:

Doctor of Music Ministry Degree

The Doctor of Music Ministry is a professional degree designed for music ministers who wish to pursue educational enrichment related to the local church, denominational administration, or missions. To be admitted to the D.M.M. degree program a candidate needs to have completed three years of full-time church related service.

Residency: One academic year of residency on the Louisville campus is required.

Committee of Instruction: Once accepted into the D.M.M. program, the student chooses two professors to assist in the selection of courses, performance guidelines, and other elements that make up the degree. Sometimes a D.M.M. student may choose to have three members on the Committee of Instruction.

The D.M.M. candidate must produce two projects during the course of study. These projects may take the form of public performance/s—solo or conducting—written research, or musical composition.

Doctor of Musical Arts Degree

The Doctor of Musical Arts emphasizes performance and research and is designed for candidates who aspire to positions in higher education as professors or administrators. Areas of performance and research are evaluated carefully before a student is admitted as a candidate for the D.M.A. degree.

There are two structural tracks in the D.M.A. program:

1. Performance/Research. Includes 2 recitals and a major dissertation (250-300 pages) that carries eight hours of credit.

2. Performance. Includes 4 recitals and a minor dissertation (100-150 pages) that carries four hours of credit.

Requirements

Residency:

Two academic years of residency on the Louisville campus is required. “Residency” is defined as the participation on campus a minimum of 40 hours a week during the regular semester. Upon approval of the dissertation prospectus, a student may apply for non-residency status.

Committee of Instruction:

Once accepted into the D.M.A. program, the student chooses three professors to guide selection of courses, performance guidelines, and other elements that make up the degree.

Language:

Each candidate must demonstrate reading proficiency in a foreign language that is appropriate to the course of study. Normally the language is either French or German. For certain areas of specialization, such as vocal performance or musicology, two or more languages may be required. Once that proficiency is demonstrated, the student is to take either 54810 (Language Seminar: German) or 54820 (Language Seminar: French).
The mission of the School of Leadership and Church Ministry is to equip individuals for a theologically informed and skillfully practiced Christian education ministry.

Introduction

Historical Background

The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary was the first school of its kind to offer regular credit courses in religious education. In 1906 an endowed chair was established in the field of religious education, honoring one of the seminary’s original professors, Basil Manly, Jr. In subsequent years, the Department of Religious Education was developed. As the demand for professionally trained educators to lead the churches and denomination grew, the department expanded into the School of Religious Education in 1953. In 1984 the name of the school was changed to the School of Christian Education to define more accurately the work and purpose of the school. In 1996, the name was changed to the School of Christian Education and Leadership in order to reflect the increased emphasis upon the development of leadership for the church. In 2001, the name was changed to the School of Leadership and Church Ministry to reflect the changing nomenclature of Christian education used in local churches.

Purpose

The mission of the School of Leadership and Church Ministry is to equip individuals for a theologically informed and skillfully practiced Christian education ministry in congregations and church-related institutions. In keeping with the general mission statement of the seminary, the school has the following objectives:

- to prepare men and women for leadership roles, various staff positions and in Christian education and missions in churches, Christian schools, and denominational agencies at home and abroad
- to develop leaders who understand and appreciate the programs of the denominational agencies and who are able to evaluate such programs in the light of theological, philosophical, and scientific principles
- to increase each student’s appreciation of his or her calling, thereby deepening commitment as a minister and to guide each student toward greater self-understanding and more meaningful relationships with God and persons
- to contribute to the task of Christian education and missions in the denomination through faculty and student participation in the activities of its agencies and through research and publication in these fields

Ministry Studies

Students in the School of Leadership and Church Ministry receive a general and a specialized education. Students are trained through classroom courses, library research, supervised ministry education, and clinical practice in local churches and colleges. This school provides educational preparation for a variety of ministry positions including:

- Ministers of education who are equipped for service and leadership in churches and denominational agencies
- Ministers of children’s work, youth work, and adult work who are equipped to serve as ministers in churches and denominational organizations
- Campus ministers and directors of student work who are equipped to lead Baptist Student Union or other religiously oriented programs on college campuses and in churches in college communities
- Teachers in colleges and seminaries who are equipped to teach in the field of Christian education and/or leadership
- Denominational leaders on the association, state, or national convention level, including the fields of religious journalism, education, or age-level specialization in Southern Baptist agencies
- Other specialized ministries, including recreation, family life education, administration, missions education, and Christian schooling

Various combinations of these fields of specialization may be devised in order to prepare workers for a variety of other ministries.

Overview of Academic Programs

Academic programs in the School of Leadership and Church Ministry are of three types. The basic professional programs designed to equip qualified students for the practice of ministry are the Diploma in Christian Education, the Master of Arts in Christian Education, the Master of Arts in Christian School Administration, and the Master of Divinity degree with emphasis in Christian Education. The Doctor of Educational Ministry professional doctoral program is designed to equip ministry professionals for a high level of excellence in the practice of education and discipling ministries, Christian leadership, church growth, and administration. The research doctoral programs designed to qualify advanced students for research and teaching, as well as for other specialized leadership positions, are the Doctor of Education in Leadership degree and the Doctor of Philosophy degree.

Women’s Ministries

The School of Leadership and Church Ministry offers as a ministry core area studies in women’s ministry. The purpose of this ministry core is to provide specialized training for women called to minister to other women through the local church and denominational agencies.

LEAD@Home

In cooperation with the Southern Seminary Online program, the School of Leadership and Church Ministry offers online courses through its LEAD@Home program. This program consists of online courses intended to provide extension center students with faster access to theological core and LEAD degree core studies, and to allow new students who have not yet moved to Louisville to begin course work. Thus most online courses have enrollment restrictions that apply to on-campus students.

LEAD@Home certification courses and masters degree courses offered online are completed from the location of the student. Courseware is delivered via the Internet. Students are required to complete learning tasks each week, and participate in online discussions with the professor.

Online course offerings include studies toward Christian school administration certification, Internet instructor and courseware developer certification, and masters degree studies in Christian education, Christian higher education, church ministry, and leadership. Additional course offerings in theological studies, missions, evangelism, and church growth are available through Southern Seminary Online.

To complete an academic degree at Southern Seminary, the student must spend time in residence on-campus and/or complete a specified amount of course work on-campus. No more than one-third of the program of studies can be completed through online studies as follows:

- MA in CSA: 18 hours maximum through online studies
- Diploma or MACE: 21 hours maximum through online studies
- Mdiv/CE: 30 hours maximum through online studies

LEAD@Home online courses are offered Fall semester (late August), Spring semester (end of January), and Summer term (first week of June). The seminary application and admission process must be complete in full in order to enroll in online courses. For more information on the LEAD@Home program, go to: http://leadership.sbts.edu
Policies for Master’s Level Programs

Academic Advising

Each student is assigned a faculty advisor who relates to the student’s ministry objective. These assignments are made during orientation by the Associate Dean for Masters Studies of the School of Leadership and Church Ministry. Students can also receive assistance in planning their course schedules from any other faculty member in the School of Leadership and Church Ministry.

Before the final year of studies, students should request a graduation audit through the Office of Academic Records. By doing so, students will be advised of any deficiencies in meeting the requirements for graduation.

Shepherd Groups

Every faculty member in the School of Leadership and Church Ministry serves as a shepherd to provide spiritual support and pastoral oversight for students. The assigned faculty advisor shepherds his or her students throughout the program of study. The shepherd groups provide opportunity for prayer, development of relationships, encouragement, fellowship, and academic advising.

Leadership and Church Ministry Workshops and Conferences

Through a workshop, or conference experience, students have the opportunity to combine theory and practice. Students are required to successfully pass either one on-campus workshop or conference or off-campus workshop or conference. A workshop or conference must consist of a minimum of six contact hours. No credit hours are granted, and grading is done on a pass/fail basis. These grades appear on the student’s transcript.

Students may attend a workshop on-campus or a conference off-campus per the following stipulations.

On-Campus Workshop

On-campus workshops are offered at least once per semester, either on weekends or weeknights. Students are encouraged to take advantage of these workshops early in their degree work in order to fulfill the workshop requirement in a timely fashion. Registration for each on-campus workshop is completed through the Office of the School of Leadership and Church Ministry. Students pay the appropriate fees as required.

In order to secure credit for an on-campus workshop, the student must:
• attend all scheduled sessions of the workshop
• return the completed Workshop Evaluation Form to the Office of the School of Leadership and Church Ministry at the end of the workshop

Failure to complete one or both of these requirements will result in a loss of credit for the workshop.

Students from other schools of the seminary are invited to attend workshops as long as pre-registration is appropriately done and the predetermined maximum enrollment is not exceeded.

The annual field trip to LifeWay Christian Resources of the Southern Baptist Convention is counted as an on-campus workshop.

Off-Campus Conference

Students may discover an off-campus event that appears to meet their educational needs. Students are allowed to receive credit for an off-campus event if that event meets the following criteria and if the guidelines for substitution are met:
• it must include a minimum of six contact hours of in-class experience (not just six clock hours)
• it must be led by a recognized authority in the subject area
• it cannot duplicate content and learning experiences gained through normal on-campus courses of study

Examples of potential workshop events are those offered at Ridgecrest and Glorieta and those offered by state conventions, professional associations, and qualified publishing houses.

Students who discover an off-campus event that appears to meet workshop guidelines and is one that they would like to substitute for a workshop must adhere to the following procedure.
• Prior to the event, the student must submit a request for approval to the SME Director of the School of Leadership and Church Ministry. Approvals will not be granted after the event has occurred.
• As part of the request for approval, the student must describe
  • the educational nature of the program
  • the program’s structure
  • the number of contact hours
  • the name(s) of the workshop leader(s)

In order to secure credit for an off-campus workshop, the student must:
• attend all scheduled sessions of the workshop
• return the completed Workshop Evaluation Form to the Office of the School of Leadership and Church Ministry the next work day after the end of the conference.

Failure to complete one or both of these requirements will result in a loss of credit for the conference.

A pre-approved off-campus conference may require additional forms of registration. It also may require additional fees, which cannot be charged to the student’s account, such as travel expenses, housing costs, and registration fees.

Supervised Ministry Experience

In Supervised Ministry Experience (SME), the student is challenged to learn while engaged in the practice of ministry. The student is required to combine a period of actual experience in ministry with the following additional ingredients:
• a goal-oriented ministry process
• reflections on personal ministry
• a one-hour weekly field supervisory session with an approved minister-supervisor
• thoughtful theological reflection on the process of ministry with a supervised group of peers
• careful attention to biblical, Christian life and thought, educational, and practical resources

Specifics of Supervised Ministry Course Selection

Supervised Ministry Experience (SME) is required for all students in master’s level programs. Leadership and Church Ministry students take SME courses 44640 and 44660. Students in the Campus Ministry track of the Master of Divinity with emphasis in Christian Education program may substitute 43200 and 43220. Students in the Master of Arts in Christian School Administration take SME courses 44760 and 44780.

The SME requirement is normally fulfilled during the second or third year of study. Prerequisites for SME courses include 40010 Formation for Christian Ministry (except in the M.A. in Christian School Administration) and 21 other credit hours of study, of which 12 hours must be in LEAD School studies.

Enrollment Requirements

Students should enroll in their first SME course or its equivalent no later than the third semester of full-time study. Students may take only one SME course (or its equivalent) in a single semester. Summer enrollment is limited to SME II (44660) students.
SME Courses

To enroll in 44640 or 44660, the following is necessary:
• an approved ministry placement which requires 120 clock hours of ministry commitment in an approved church or agency
• an approved field supervisor or supervisory committee

The SME Director of the School of Leadership and Church Ministry provides approval forms for all placements and supervisors.

Campus Ministry Internships

To enroll in either 43200 or 43220, the following is necessary:
• an approved nine-month (one academic year) ministry placement in a college or university setting
• an approved supervisor
• approval of the professor of the course

Details concerning campus ministry internships may be obtained from the SME Coordinator of the School of Leadership and Church Ministry.

Securing Ministry Placements

Each student is responsible for securing an appropriate ministry education placement. Assistance in this process can be secured from the SME Director of the School of Leadership and Church Ministry or faculty members of the school. All placements must receive final approval from the professor who is teaching the SME course.

When a placement has been secured, the student signs a placement contract with the church or agency in which he or she is serving. This contract gives the name of the student’s field supervisor, describes the nature of the work expected, and provides other pertinent information about the placement.

Leadership and Church Ministry Internships

In addition to required Supervised Ministry Experience, students may earn six hours of credit through an advanced supervised ministry internship. While enrolled in an advanced internship, students engage in professional work under intensive supervision, either in residence or at other locales.

Prior to enrollment in the advanced internship course, a student must secure approval from the Dean or the Associate Dean for Masters Studies of the School of Leadership and Church Ministry. Students wishing to enroll must submit a written proposal to the faculty. In that proposal, they are to specify the nature of the work contract. Final approval is based upon the suitability of the work experience and the availability of an approved field supervisor.

Leadership and Church Ministry Degree Core and Ministry Core Studies

The student is required to complete 15 hours of degree core studies and 12 hours of ministry core studies. A student who completes twelve hours in one ministry core area with a grade point average of “B” or higher in the core area can receive certification in that ministry core area. Transfer courses cannot be counted toward this certification. The assigned faculty advisor must pre-approve any course substitutions to the courses listed, and the student must file the appropriate form. Courses not pre-approved will not count toward LEAD Studies.

Master's Level Program Descriptions and Requirements

The School of Leadership and Church Ministry offers three master's degrees:
• Master of Arts in Christian Education (M.A.C.E.)
• Master of Arts in Christian School Administration (M.A. in CSA)
• Master of Divinity with emphasis in Christian education (M.Div./CE)

In addition, the school offers a Diploma in Christian Education program for students without a baccalaureate degree. These programs of study vary in terms of requirements and each will be treated separately.

Diploma in Christian Education

A Diploma in Christian Education program is offered to a limited number of students who are high school graduates but who do not have a baccalaureate degree. Candidates must be at least 30 years of age to be admitted to the Diploma in Christian Education program.

Up to 12 semester hours of transfer credit can be applied to the Diploma in Christian Education program if they are taken through Seminary Extension (a ministry education system of the six theological seminaries of the Southern Baptist Convention) or Boyce College. Consult with the Director of Academic Counseling, in the Academic Services office regarding such transfer of credit.

Requirements:

Complete the requirements for the Master of Arts in Christian Education.

Master of Arts in Christian School Administration

The Master of Arts in Christian School Administration is a professional degree program that is designed to meet the learning needs of two populations: teachers and administrators who currently hold a master’s degree and are seeking to obtain the academic hours necessary in acquiring certification in Christian school administration; and persons seeking a master’s level degree in Christian school administration.

The program integrates theology with Christian school administration. It includes courses in theological studies and biblical studies along with courses in Christian schooling.

Because Southern Seminary is not a school teacher training institution, it is important that those seeking a degree and/or certification in Christian school administration ministry possess the necessary teacher training vital to effective school leadership prior to entrance in the program. Completing program requirements will provide the student with the necessary school administration hours to receive certification by the Association of Christian Schools International and the Southern Baptist Association of Christian Schools. The student needs to be aware that other certification requirements, not related to school administration, may be required. It is the responsibility of the student to become familiar with all certification requirements of the agency from which they are seeking certification.

Teachers and administrators wishing only to complete course work toward Christian school administration certification must make application to the MA in CSA degree program, but will not need to complete all the degree requirements.

Policies for the Professional Doctoral Program

Overview of Doctor of Educational Ministry Program

The Doctor of Educational Ministry (D.Ed.Min.) degree is an advanced professional doctorate degree in ministry based on the Master of Arts in Christian Education or its equivalent. The purpose of the Doctor of Educational Ministry (D.Ed.Min.) degree is to equip persons committed to a Christian education vocation for a high level of excellence in the practice of education and discipling ministries, Christian leadership, church growth, and missions administration. The distinctive features of the Doctor of Educational Ministry degree program include:

- participation in interdisciplinary academic seminars
- practical application of classroom learning to the student’s ministry
- a Ministry Research Project related to the student’s ministry setting
- an oral defense of the research project

In the School of Leadership and Church Ministry the D.Ed.Min. degree is offered in four functional concentrations:

- Christian Education: Discipleship and Educational Ministry
- Christian Education: Church Leadership
- Christian Education: Evangelism and Church Growth
- Christian Education: Missions Administration

Registration

Students accepted into the Doctor of Ministry program must register for their first seminar no later than one year after acceptance to the program. After initial registration, a student is expected to register for seminars every term and for Applied Ministry Experience (AME) every semester.

Unforeseen circumstances do at times require that students temporarily halt their studies. Any interruptions in study, however, are strongly discouraged for the following reasons. First, students who interrupt their studies must recognize that faculty supervision may be affected by prolonged interruptions. As a result, the student may not be readmitted back into the program unless alternate and acceptable faculty supervision can be arranged. Second, programs with a cohort experience are disrupted and progress toward graduation is delayed. Students who must take some time off from the program of study must request permission for “Continuing Enrollment Status” from the Office of the School of Leadership and Church Ministry at least one month prior to the first day of classes in the semester.

Length of Time Allowed

Students who enter the D.Ed.Min. program are expected to pursue the degree concurrently with their full-time vocational involvement in ministry and should plan on a minimum of four years of study with a maximum of six years. Students who take longer than four years will be assessed an additional fee for each semester of extension. Under no circumstances shall a student extend the time of completion beyond six years.

Minimum Grade Point

Students must earn a minimum grade of “B” (8.0 on a 12.0 scale) for each individual component of the D.Ed.Min. degree. If a student receives less than a “B’’ (8.0 on a 12.0 scale) on any individual component, that component must be repeated and the student is placed on probation. If a student receives two successive grades that are lower than a “B” (8.0 on a 12.0 scale), the student will be terminated from the program.

Attendance

Because seminars are accelerated, attendance is required at every session for the entire session. Absence from any portion of the seminar will necessitate retaking the seminar. Class participation will be weighted heavily in the student’s final grade for that seminar.

Assignments

The accelerated seminar plan and the sequential Applied Ministry Experience process require that all assignments be completed on time. Faculty supervisors will work with students to maintain a submission schedule for all assignments.

Doctor of Educational Ministry Program Description and Requirements

The Doctor of Educational Ministry (D.Ed.Min.) degree is designed to meet the needs of Christian education ministry professionals who desire further academic and practical training in a contemporary ministry setting, but whose ministerial responsibilities do not allow them to suspend full-time employment or relocate to Louisville to pursue that training.

Curriculum Plan

The D.Ed.Min. program consists of 48 hours of study across four component areas. Each component relates clearly and specifically to the other components of the degree program. Specific components include:

- 12 hours of foundational seminar participation with specific application to educational ministries
- 12 hours of ministry concentration seminar participation from a ministry field of choice
- 12 hours of Applied Ministry Experience related directly to the preceding seminars
- 12 hours of research in the practice of ministry including project methodology seminars and the preparation of a ministry research project, including an oral defense.

Foundational Seminars

Three on-campus foundational seminars for a total of 12 credit hours are required:

- 80801 Theological and Philosophical Issues in Christian Education ................................................................. 4
- 80802 Foundations for Teaching/Learning in Christian Education Contexts ......................................................... 4
- 80803 Biblical and Contemporary Models of Christian Leadership .................................................................... 4

These seminars should be taken consecutively. Prior to the time the seminar meets, students are required to complete a significant amount of work such as reading a minimum of 2500 pages, completing a major writing assignment, completing critical reviews, and, on occasion, participating in online discussion groups. After each foundational seminar, students will submit a reflection paper.

Ministry Concentration

Students will select a concentration of studies from one of four ministry tracks. Each track consists of three seminars (12 hours) and is designed specifically to provide the student with focused studies in the selected field. Students will be required to select a track of studies rather than select individual seminars at random. The academic requirements for these seminars are identical to those described for the foundational seminars. The four ministry concentrations are as follows:
Christian Education: Discipleship and Educational Ministries
- 80804 Charting Christian Education Mission and Vision
- 80805 Contemporary Strategies for Christian Education Ministries
- 80806 Leadership in Age-grouped and Interest-based Christian Education Ministries

Christian Education: Church Leadership
- 80807 Leadership and Management Theory in Church Administration
- 80808 Leadership of Effective Ministry Teams
- 80809 Leadership in Volunteer Ministries

Christian Education: Evangelism and Church Growth
- 80511 Theoretical and Practical Issues in Evangelism and Church Growth
- 80512 Biblical and Theological Issues in Evangelism and Church Growth
- 80513 Historical Issues in Evangelism and Church Growth

Christian Education: Missions Administration
- 80611 Biblical and Theological Issues in Missions
- 80613 Mission Strategy: Theory and Practice
- 80614 Administration for Mission Leaders

Applied Ministry Experience
Because this degree is a professional degree, it is expected that students will incorporate classroom material into an acceptable vocational placement under the supervision of a faculty member. Through Applied Ministry Experience, students can develop higher competence and can increase skills in the performance of ministry.

Each AME seminar will continue the focus of theological integration in order to relate biblical and theological components to the actual practice of ministry, and students will be permitted to enroll in an AME course only after completing the corresponding seminar. Students complete three Applied Ministry Experiences under the foundational seminars (6 hours) and three AME’s under the ministry concentration (6 hours).

Professors for each foundational seminar will negotiate appropriate AME projects based on the seminar’s focus, and the student must complete the AME projects during the semester following the foundational seminar. Applied Ministry Experience projects will accomplish two purposes:
- reinforce and expand the seminar content
- help prepare the student for the extensive research project that will culminate the student’s degree program

Research in the Practice of Educational Ministry
Twelve hours of academic credit are awarded for successful completion of the research phase of study as specified below:
- 80851 Project Methodology I ................................................. 2
- 80852 Project Methodology II ..................................................... 2
- 80853 Ministry Research Project ................................................. 8

Project methodology courses provide preparation for the research project and interaction between students, faculty supervisors, and resource persons. During the courses, the student will write the prospectus, which is a proposal of the project in which the student wishes to engage. To secure approval, the student must submit a project prospectus to appropriate faculty members. Once these faculty members deem the prospectus to be satisfactory, they will recommend the prospectus to the Leadership and Church Ministry Doctoral Studies Committee and through that committee to the seminary faculty.

The Ministry Research Project is a written presentation of the completed prospectus combining professional knowledge, documented research, and ministry application. The project must have direct relevance to Christian leadership in a particular ministry setting. An oral defense of the project before appropriate faculty and available cohort members is required.

Cohort Group
Each student is part of a cohort group composed of Doctor of Educational Ministry students. The cohort system helps to foster and maintain collegiality as well as help to provide an open and effective learning atmosphere. Cohorts are expected to complete together the prescribed sequence of seminars, applied ministry experiences, and research project.

Faculty Supervision
Upon acceptance into the program, a student is assigned a faculty supervisor from the School of Leadership and Church Ministry faculty. The supervisor will guide the student’s progress through the entire program of study.

Policies for Research Doctoral Programs

Overview of Research Doctoral Programs
The School of Leadership and Church Ministry offers two research doctoral programs: the Doctor of Education in Leadership degree (through a nontraditional delivery system) and the Doctor of Philosophy degree (campus-based study).

The purpose of both research doctoral programs in the School of Leadership and Church Ministry is to give educational ministry professionals with superior ability an opportunity to prepare themselves thoroughly for enhanced effectiveness as a leader in the church, an institution of Christian higher education, a denominational organization, or a para-church ministry. Program objectives include the development of advanced research skills for the exploration and evaluation of educational ministries and the enhancement of critical thinking, problem solving, and leadership skills that increase the effectiveness of the Christian educator. Both programs of study are designed to equip the doctoral student for creative scholarship and its application to Christian ministry.

Program Supervision
Each student has two supervisors: a faculty advisor and a dissertation supervisor. The Leadership and Church Ministry Doctoral Studies Committee assigns the faculty advisor and the dissertation supervisor.

Faculty Advisor
At the start of a student’s program of studies, the Leadership and Church Ministry Doctoral Studies Committee assigns the student a faculty advisor from among the graduate faculty of the School of Leadership and Church Ministry. The supervisor will have research interests and expertise in the student’s chosen area of research.

The faculty advisor and the dissertation supervisor may be the same individual. If the faculty advisor is not assigned as the dissertation supervisor, he or she will be assigned to serve as second reader for the dissertation.

If the faculty advisor and the dissertation supervisor are the same, the faculty advisor/dissertation supervisor suggests another graduate faculty member to serve on the Comprehensive Examinations Committee and one to serve as second reader for the Dissertation Committee.

Dissertation Supervisor
Early in his or her program of studies, the student is assigned a dissertation supervisor from the graduate faculty of the School of Leadership and Church Ministry. The supervisor will have research interests and expertise in the student’s chosen area of research.

The faculty advisor and the dissertation supervisor may be the same individual. If the faculty advisor is not assigned as the dissertation supervisor, he or she will be assigned to serve as second reader for the dissertation.

If the faculty advisor and the dissertation supervisor are the same, the faculty advisor/dissertation supervisor suggests another graduate faculty member to serve on the Comprehensive Examinations Committee and one to serve as second reader for the Dissertation Committee.

Research Doctoral Program Descriptions and Requirements

Doctor of Education in Leadership
The Doctor of Education in Leadership degree is designed to meet the learning needs of a particular student population: educational ministry professionals with substantive full-time ministry experience who wish to earn a research doctorate but who are unable to relinquish or suspend their full-time employment or change locations in order to attend Southern Seminary. The primary educational objective of the Doctor of Education in Leadership degree is the development of leadership, advanced research, and critical thinking and problem solving skills in persons continuing in full-time practitioner status in local church, denominational, or higher education leadership positions in the field of Christian education. The program of study, including the dissertation, consists of consistent full-time, non-resident study that can be completed in three years. Students enroll in a class that will move together through a prescribed sequence of research seminars. These seminars are held for two weeks each July and in Thursday-Tuesday modular formats the second weekend of November and March. Research seminars are preceded by a foundational research component and followed by an advanced research component, both completed at the student’s home location. Extensive use of the Internet, seminary web site, and e-mail are required.

Residency Requirements
Resident-level full-time study is sustained in the nontraditional delivery system through consistent, full-time academic research and dialogue with faculty and peers for three full years. Resident-level study is maintained through:
• a cohort approach to the learning community in the seminar experiences
• substantial research immediately preceding and following each research seminar
• consecutive enrollment in full-time course work (fall and spring semesters and summer terms) for three years
• required Internet access to Southern Seminary and other research library resources
• required participation in weekly Internet-based discussion groups on seminar issues
• required e-mail access to remain in contact with professors and colleagues throughout the program

Length of Time Allowed
The Doctor of Education program is designed to be completed in three years. This time frame includes all seminars plus the dissertation. A student must enroll every semester until the dissertation has been accepted. If a student requires additional time beyond four years, that student must petition for an extension of time. The petition must be submitted to and approved by the Leadership and Church Ministry Doctoral Studies Committee. Students who are granted extensions are assessed an additional fee for each semester of extension beyond the four-year limit. Under no circumstances shall a student extend the time of completion beyond six years.

Minimum Grade Point
In order for a student to receive credit for a research seminar, that student must earn a “B” (8.0 on a 12.0 scale). Any grade below a “B” (8.0 on a 12.0 scale) results in loss of credit for the course and the student is placed on probation. An additional research seminar grade below a “B” (8.0 on a 12.0 scale) during the following semester results in termination from the program. Additional academic evaluations are conducted during the entire program of studies to ensure that the student remains capable of completing doctoral studies in the nontraditional format.

Curriculum Plan
In order to complete the Doctor of Education in Leadership program, students must complete a total of 64 credit hours. Of this 64 hours, 44 credit hours (2 years) are earned through research seminars. The remaining 20 credit hours are granted for dissertation research.

No work done in other doctoral programs is transferable to the Doctor of Education in Leadership program.

Language Requirements
Graduate studies in empirical research methodologies, statistical analysis, and computer applications serve as language studies in the Doctor of Education in Leadership program. Additional foreign language studies are not ordinarily required unless mandated by the dissertation research topic.
Deficiencies

At the time of admission, a student may be notified of any academic deficiency and the requirements necessary to satisfy the deficiency. Any prescribed requirements for the deficiency must be completed by the end of the first year of the program.

Seminars

Students enter the Doctor of Education in Leadership program as a cohort of 15 to 20 students. These students enroll together in the prescribed sequence of consecutive seminars.

Seminars are held three times a year. During the fall and spring semesters, the seminars are held in a Thursday through Tuesday modular format. During the summer, the seminars are held for two consecutive weeks in early July.

Prior to coming on campus for each seminar, students are required to complete a foundational research component. After they attend the on-campus session of the seminar, students are required to do an advanced research component. Both components relate to the seminar and are completed at the student’s home location by use of the Internet, the seminary web site, and e-mail.

Course Sequence:

1. Summer 1: 95500, 96100
2. Fall 1: 95100, 96200
3. Spring 1: 95200, 95300
4. Summer 2: 96400, 96800
5. Fall 2: 96300, 95600
6. Spring 2: 96850, 96920
7. Summer 3: 93980
8. Fall 3: 93980
9. Spring 3: 93980

A short two-week break is scheduled shortly after each on-campus session.

Comprehensive Examinations

Comprehensive examinations consist of written and oral evaluations of the student’s ability to integrate and incorporate the research findings of Doctor of Education in Leadership seminars. These exams are taken at the end of the student’s second year and immediately preceding preparation of the dissertation prospectus.

Preparation for the exams begins during the final year of course work under the supervision of the student’s faculty advisor. The student must successfully complete the exams before he or she can begin research on the dissertation prospectus.

Dissertation

The purpose of the dissertation is threefold:

• to demonstrate competency in empirical research and critical thinking skills
• to serve as the culmination of doctoral study
• to attempt to make a significant contribution to the theory and praxis of Christian education and leadership

Worthy topics for dissertation research generally will arise out of a specific relational or conceptual problem in reference to human development; theory and praxis of teaching and learning; organizational management or leadership; decision-making; or other social-interactional dimensions of Christian education and leadership broadly defined.

The student’s Dissertation Committee supervises the dissertation writing process. The first step in the process is submission of a research prospectus. The student defends the prospectus in an open hearing. The student cannot begin dissertation research until the Dissertation Committee accepts the prospectus.

Research methods utilized for the dissertation must be appropriate to the type of research being conducted by the student. Qualitative and/or quantitative social science research methodologies appropriate for the dissertation include: descriptive research, ethnographic research, historiographic research, and experimental methodologies and their variants. Humanities research methodologies are also appropriated where applicable to the proposed dissertation research.

Dissertation Defense

The completed dissertation is defended in an open hearing supervised by the student’s Dissertation Committee. To graduate, the student must receive a minimum grade of “B” (8.0 on a 12.0 scale) on the dissertation. A grade of “B-” (7.0 on a 12.0 scale) or below will require the student to rewrite the dissertation and defend it again. Failure to pass the second submission and defense of the dissertation will result in forfeiture of the Doctor of Education in Leadership degree.

The dissertation, upon completion, is submitted for copyrighting, microfilming, and binding.

Doctor of Philosophy Degree

The purpose of the Doctor of Philosophy degree program is to give students of superior ability an opportunity to prepare themselves thoroughly for effective Christian education. It is designed for persons who have demonstrated significant potential for making contributions in research, teaching, and/or administration. It also is intended for Christian educators who are seeking to enhance their ministry in the church or in a denominational organization or to prepare themselves for teaching and leadership in Christian higher education.

Residency Requirements

The Doctor of Philosophy is a residential degree program. Students are required to remain in residency a minimum of 6 semesters and until the dissertation prospectus has been approved. Residency is defined as participation of the student on campus for a minimum of 40 hours each week during the regular semester. A student must enroll every semester through the term of completion, defense, and acceptance of the dissertation.

Length of Time Allowed

The Doctor of Philosophy program is designed to be completed in three years. This time frame includes all seminars plus dissertation. A student must enroll every semester until the dissertation has been accepted. If a student requires additional time beyond four years, that student must petition for an extension of time. The petition must be submitted to and approved by the Leadership and Church Ministry Doctoral Studies Committee. Students who are granted extensions will be assessed an additional fee for each semester of extension beyond the four-year limit. The extension fee, however, will be waived for each semester a student has served as grader, teaching assistant, or sole instructor of a class during his or her program of study. Under no circumstances shall a student extend the time of completion beyond six years.

Course Load

The maximum course load is 14 credit hours per semester. A student may appeal to the Leadership and Church Ministry Doctoral Studies Committee for additional hours up to an absolute limit of 16 credit hours.

Minimum Grade Point

In order for a student to receive credit for a research seminar, that student must earn a “B” (8.0 on a 12.0 scale). Any grade below a “B” (8.0 on a 12.0 scale) results in loss of credit for the course and the student is placed on probation. An additional research seminar grade below a “B” (8.0 on a 12.0 scale) during the following semester results in termination from the program. Additional academic evaluations are conducted during the entire program of studies to ensure that the student remains capable of completing doctoral studies.

Curriculum Plan

Students are allowed considerable flexibility in the order in which research foundations and research praxis courses must be taken. No work done in other doctoral programs is transferable to the Doctor of Philosophy program.

Language Requirements

Graduate studies in empirical research methodologies, statistical analysis, and computer applications serve as language studies in the Doctor of Philosophy program. Additional foreign language studies are not ordinarily required unless mandated by the dissertation research topic.

Deficiencies

At the time of admission, a student may be notified of any academic deficiency and the requirements necessary to satisfy the deficiency. Any prescribed requirements for the deficiency must be completed by the end of the first year of the program.

Seminars

In order to graduate with a Doctor of Philosophy degree, the student is to complete 64 hours of study as follows:

- 36 hours in research seminars
- 8 hours in doctoral colloquia
- 20 hours for the dissertation

Research Seminars

Each student must complete 36 hours of research seminars from the following areas. Where more than one course is listed, a student has the freedom to choose between the courses listed.

Before taking the comprehensive examinations, the student must have:

- successfully completed all research seminars and 12 hours of colloquia

Preparation for the exams begins during the final semester of course work. The Comprehensive Examinations Committee supervises the student in this preparation.

Comprehensive exams must be taken during fall or spring semesters, not during January or summer terms. The examinations last for two days. The student must successfully complete the comprehensive examinations before the dissertation prospectus can be approved and the student can enroll in doctoral dissertation research.

A grade of “B-” (7.0 on a 12.0 scale) or below will require the student to rewrite the dissertation and defend it again. Failure to pass the second submission and defense of the dissertation will result in forfeiture of the Doctor of Philosophy degree.

The defense hearing must be held during a fall or spring semester, not during January or summer terms.

The dissertation, upon completion, is submitted for copyrighting, microfilming, and binding.

Introduction

Purpose

The primary purpose of the Billy Graham School of Missions, Evangelism and Church Growth is to conduct a post-baccalaureate professional and graduate theological curriculum with an emphasis on Great Commission ministries. In so doing, it seeks to equip students for ministry as pastors, teachers, evangelists, missionaries, urban ministers, church planters, and denominational workers. In addition, the Graham School seeks to render training that is foundational for all other church-related ministries that emphasize missions, evangelism, and church growth. The Graham School seeks to provide a sound biblical and theological foundation while providing practical training in ministry.

The wide spectrum within which Christian ministers function necessitates both comprehensive and highly specialized education. To meet the demand for comprehensiveness, students are exposed to a nucleus of courses and seminars that will enable them to think theologically and to make practical application. To meet the demand for specialization, each student has the opportunity to focus his or her interests in an area of specialized vocational preparation: missions, evangelism, church planting, church growth, communications, world religions, pastoral ministry, and other specializations.

The Graham School seeks to serve and to lead the denomination of which it is a part. The Southern Baptist Convention has always been a missions-centered denomination, and the Graham School focuses upon and continues that historic tradition. While closely related to the academic and evangelical Christian communities of the world, the focus of the Graham School is Christian ministry in Southern Baptist churches and on mission fields.

Overview of Academic Programs

Academic programs in the Graham School are of two types. The basic professional programs designed to equip qualified students for the practice of ministry are the Diploma in Missions, the Master of Arts in Theological Studies, the Master of Arts in Missiology, and the Master of Divinity degree. The Master of Divinity is offered in two formats:
- the normal format with classes on weekdays
- a special format with classes on Fridays and Saturdays

The professional doctoral degrees are the Doctor of Ministry degree and the Doctor of Missiology degree. The research doctoral programs designed to qualify advanced students for research and teaching, as well as for other specialized leadership positions, include the Master of Theology degree and the Doctor of Philosophy degree.

Professional Programs

Professional studies in missions, evangelism and church growth are offered to equip qualified students for the practice of effective Christian ministry. The goal of this faculty is for every graduate:
- to be a called disciple and minister of Jesus Christ, serving his Kingdom
- to possess an abiding love for people and the work of Christian ministry in the context of the church
- to bear witness to the truth of Holy Scripture
- to maintain the historic principles of the Christian faith and of the Baptist heritage
- to learn and do Great Commission ministries in the areas of missions, evangelism and church growth

Great Commission ministry demands preparation in four distinct yet related dimensions:
- Christian commitment, integrity, and spirituality
- mature, integrated, and functional personhood
- knowledge of the Bible and of historic and contemporary Christian thought and practice
- specialized training and skill development in missions, evangelism, church growth, communication, world religions, and church and society.

Research Doctoral Programs

Research doctoral programs in the Billy Graham School of Missions, Evangelism and Church Growth are designed to give students of superior ability an opportunity to prepare themselves thoroughly for effective leadership in religious thought and life, particularly in light of the Great Commission. This purpose embraces the preparation of students for many areas of service. Its main objective is the advanced preparation of pastors and teachers of religion. Each program of study is designed to equip the student for creative scholarship and its application to Christian ministry.

Policies for Master’s Level Programs

Academic Advising

Each student is assigned an advisor who relates to the student’s ministry objective. Academic advising is available for new students during orientation. Academic advising is also available during the year, especially at the time of registration for classes.

Students who wish to secure needed information about the curriculum or who desire assistance in course planning should contact their faculty advisor. Prior to any academic advising sessions, students should ensure that they are acquainted with the recommended sequence of studies for their particular program of study. Students may also seek academic advising from one of the associate deans of the Graham School.

Before the final year of studies, students should request a graduation audit through the dean’s office. By doing so, students will be advised of any delinquencies in meeting the requirements for graduation.

Supervised Ministry Experience

In Supervised Ministry Experience (SME), the student is challenged to learn while engaged in the practice of ministry. The student is required to combine a period of actual experience as a minister with the following additional ingredients:
- a goal-oriented ministry process
- reflections on personal occasions of ministry
- a one-hour weekly field supervisory session with an approved minister-supervisor
- thoughtful theological reflection on the process of ministry with a supervised group of peers
- careful attention to biblical, Christian life and thought, and practical resources

Specifics of Supervised Ministry Course Selection

Supervised Ministry Experience (SME) is required for all students in master’s level programs. Students may select courses from the options given in the degree requirements section of their particular program of study. SME courses or equivalent courses taken in excess of the stipulated SME requirements must be counted as free elective credits.

Students may select SME Internships (44520-44550), free-standing SME courses (44400), or SME courses connected with particular lecture courses in the following areas: pastoral care (course 44300), evangelism (course 44310), missions (course 44330), family ministry (course 44340), or church and society (course 44420). These SME courses and sections are carefully identified on all course schedules compiled for registration purposes. The attached lecture courses are
Enrollment Requirements

Students may take only one SME course (or its equivalent) in a single semester. To enroll in any SME course, the following is necessary:

• successful completion of course 40010
• attendance at SME Orientation
• an approved title and ministry placement which requires a minimum nine-hour-a-week ministry commitment in an approved church or agency
• an approved field supervisor or a supervisory committee
  Approval forms for all placements and supervisors are found in the Supervised Ministry Experience Manual that is available for sale in the campus bookstore.

Consult with the Director of Academic Counseling in the Academic Records office regarding such transfer of credit.

Requirements:

Complete the requirements for the Master of Divinity degree program except for the common core language requirement of Hebrew and Greek. Choose any one of the vocational focus options.
Master of Arts in Theological Studies

The Master of Arts in Theological Studies (MATS) is designed to offer ministry training for those persons who are not preparing for a professional ministry vocation. The purpose of this degree is to provide biblical, theological, historical, and practical training to laypersons who desire to be better equipped to do ministry in the local church. The MATS in the Billy Graham School focuses on Great Commission studies built upon a biblical and theological foundation. This program blends academic excellence with practical methodology in the areas of missions, evangelism and church growth. It is suggested that students in this degree program also take 1) the second section of Church History and 2) either Apologetics, Philosophy, or Ethics as electives unless there is a particular reason that would legitimate their exclusion. Contact an associate dean for more information.

Master of Divinity with emphasis in Missions, Evangelism and Church Growth – Great Commission Flex Track

The Master of Divinity is the foundational professional degree program for persons in ministry. The program of study leading to this degree is designed to provide the student with comprehensive knowledge in biblical studies and Christian life and thought studies. In addition, it will help the student to develop the specific skills necessary for effective ministry.

The curriculum combines the cohesiveness of a core of required courses with considerable choice and flexibility. The need of today’s ministerial student for specialized preparation in specific forms of ministry is met through vocational focus options. Under the direction of an advisor, students in this track choose courses specifically applicable to their calling.

In addition to offering the Master of Divinity in a weekday format, the School offers it in a special Friday/Saturday format. Courses (both required and optional) are offered on a rotating basis over a four-year cycle. All but one to three of the courses can be taken in the Friday/Saturday format. The remaining courses can be taken in short terms during January or during the summer months. For information, contact an associate dean in the Graham School.

Master of Divinity with emphasis in North American Church Planting

This program is often called the “two plus two” program. It involves two years of study on campus or at an extension center and two years of church planting internship in a North American missions setting. The Billy Graham School cooperates with the North American Mission Board in providing internships in the U.S. and Canada. Students who participate in this program complete 74 semester hours of basic subjects at the Louisville campus or at an extension center. After approval by the North American Mission Board, the students go to their field of assignments, working under the mentorship of veteran church planters. Participating students will complete the last 17 semester hours on their fields of service. When the two-year church planting assignment is completed, the students receive their Master of Divinity. Advanced Master of Divinity

The Advanced Master of Divinity in the Billy Graham School is an accelerated professional degree program for students who have a baccalaureate or Master of Arts degree in religion or biblical studies, who have at least a 3.3 college grade point average, who have completed at least 6 hours at the introductory level in Old Testament Survey, New Testament Survey, Church History, and Systematic Theology (or 5 hours at the introductory level plus 3 hours at an advanced level in each of these subjects), and who have submitted an acceptable 12-20 page research paper. Students are also encouraged to have completed 3 hours each in ethics, philosophy, hermeneutics, preaching, elementary Hebrew, and elementary Greek.

The program is designed to allow a student to acquire a comprehensive knowledge of biblical and theological studies and to gain specific ministry skills as is expected at the Master of Divinity level. In addition, students who choose the thesis track will complete more in-depth study through the writing of a 40-60 page research paper. The curriculum for the Advanced Master of Divinity combines the cohesiveness of a core of required courses with the flexibility of elective choices. All entering students begin with a core group that takes many of the required courses together, thus strengthening the student’s overall academic experience. All assistance in planning course schedules is provided on a personal basis through the Billy Graham School and the Director of the Advanced Master of Divinity Program.

Policies for Doctor of Ministry Programs

Overview of Doctor of Ministry Programs

The Doctor of Ministry (D.Min.) degree is an advanced professional doctorate degree in ministry. The purpose of this program of study is to equip persons who are committed to a Christian vocation for a high level of excellence in the practice of ministry.

The distinctive features of the Doctor of Ministry degree program include:
- participation in interdisciplinary academic seminars
- practical application of classroom learning to the student’s ministry setting
- a written research project or thesis that is related to the student’s ministry setting
- an oral defense of the written project

In the Billy Graham School of Missions, Evangelism and Church Growth, the degree is offered in four areas with optional tracks:
- Evangelism and Church Growth:
  - Pastor and Church Staff Leadership
  - Church Consultation
- Missions Leadership
- Black Church Leadership
- Korean Church Leadership

Registration

Students accepted into the Doctor of Ministry program must register for their first seminar no later than one year after acceptance to the program. After initial registration, a student is expected to register for seminars every term and for Applied Ministry Experience every semester.

Unforeseen circumstances do at times require that students temporarily halt their studies. Any interruptions in study, however, are strongly discouraged for the following reasons. First, students who interrupt their studies must recognize that faculty supervision may be affected by prolonged interruptions. As a result, the student may not be readmitted back into the program unless alternate and acceptable departmental supervision can be arranged. Second, programs with a cohort experience are disrupted and progress toward graduation is delayed.

Students who must take time off from the program of study must request permission for “Continuing Enrollment Status” from the Director of Professional Doctoral Studies at least one month prior to the first day of classes in the semester.

Length of Time Allowed

Students in the program are expected to pursue their degree concurrently with full-time vocational involvement in ministry. Students should allow at least three years of study to complete their program. Students should take no more than four years to finish their degree. If a student takes time off from the program, that absence does not count toward the four-year limit. Students who take longer than four years will be assessed an additional fee for each semester of extension beyond the four-year limit. Under no circumstances shall a student extend the time of completion beyond six years.

Minimum Grade Point

For each individual component of the program, a student must receive a minimum grade of “B-” (7.0 on a 12.0 scale). If a student receives a grade that is lower than a “B-” (7.0 on a 12.0 scale) on any individual component, that component must be repeated. Furthermore, that student is placed on probation. If a student receives two successive grades that are lower than a “B-” (7.0 on a 12.0 scale), the student will be terminated from the program.

Attendance

Because the foundational seminars are accelerated, attendance is required at every session for the entire duration of these seminars. Absence from any portion of any foundational seminar will necessitate retaking that seminar. Class participation will affect the student’s final grade.

Assignments

The accelerated plan for foundational seminars and applied ministry experience mandates that all assignments be completed on time, including reading and book critiques that are to be done before the seminar and the papers that are to be done after the seminar. Faculty will work with students to maintain a submission schedule for all assignments.

Doctor of Ministry Program Descriptions and Requirements

Doctor of Ministry-Evangelism and Church Growth

The Doctor of Ministry with emphasis in evangelism and church growth is designed to equip ministers for a high level of excellence in the fields of evangelism and church growth. This non-resident degree program is intended for ministry professionals who desire further academic and practical education but who simultaneously wish to remain on the field of service where God has placed them. Two tracks are offered in the Evangelism and Church Growth degree program: 1) Pastor and Church Staff Leadership, and 2) Church Consultation.

Curriculum Plan

The program of study consists of four areas:
- foundational seminars ............................................................ 16
- applied ministry experience ................................................... 8
- project methodology ............................................................... 2
- ministry research project ....................................................... 6
Total D.Min. credit hours .......................................................... 32

Foundational Seminars

Four on-campus foundational seminars, for a total of 16 credit hours, are required:
- 80511 Theoretical and Practical Issues in Evangelism and Church Growth ........................................... 4
- 80512 Biblical and Theological Issues in Evangelism and Church Growth ........................................... 4
- 80513 Historical Issues in Evangelism and Church Growth ...... 4
- 80514 Leadership and Contemporary Issues in Evangelism and Church Growth ................................ 4

These seminars are not taken concurrently and may be taken in one of two ways. A student can enroll in the seminars when they are offered on the Louisville campus. Each seminar meets for five days (Monday through Friday all day and in the evenings) during a January or summer term. A student also can enroll in the seminars when they are offered at selected extension sites.

Prior to the time the seminar meets, students are required to complete a significant amount of work (such as reading a minimum of 2500 pages plus completing written assignments). After attending the seminar, students are to write a reflection paper.

Applied Ministry Experience

Because this degree is a professional degree, it is expected that students will incorporate classroom material into an acceptable vocational placement under the supervision of a faculty member.
Through Applied Ministry Experience, students can develop higher competence and can increase skills in the performance of ministry. Students are to complete the following courses, each of which corresponds to a specific foundational seminar:

- 80521 Applied Ministry Experience I ............................................. 2
- 80522 Applied Ministry Experience II ........................................... 2
- 80523 Applied Ministry Experience III .......................................... 2
- 80524 Applied Ministry Experience IV ......................................... 2

Each course requires one or more projects or assignments related directly to course material covered in the foundational seminar that accompanies it. A written summary for each project is also required. The projects accomplish two purposes:

- to reinforce, expand, and provide a practical experience relative to the seminar content
- to assist the student in preparing for the research project that will culminate the student’s degree program

Project Methodology

Students are required to complete two project methodology courses, for a total of 2 credit hours:

- 80601 Project Methodology I ....................................................... 1
- 80602 Project Methodology II ....................................................... 1

Course 80601 is attached to the second foundational seminar. Course 80602 is attached to the fourth foundational seminar. Each project methodology course is held during a three-day period of time and provides preparation for the research project.

Ministry Research Project

The ministry research project (course 80700), is the culmination of the program of study. Through a written report of 75-100 pages, the student has opportunity to apply professional knowledge and documented research into the context of ministry. The entire project is designed to equip ministers with a high level of excellence in missions and leadership. This non-resident degree program is intended for ministry professionals who desire further academic and practical education but who simultaneously wish to remain on the field of service where God has placed them.

Curriculum Plan

The program of study consists of four areas:

- foundational seminars ................................................................. 16
- applied ministry experience ....................................................... 8

Each seminar meets for five days (Monday through Friday all day and in the evenings) during a January or summer term. Prior to the time the seminar meets, students are required to complete a significant amount of work (such as reading a minimum of 2500 pages plus completing written assignments). After attending the seminar, students are to write a reflection paper.

Applied Ministry Experience

Because this degree is a professional degree, it is expected that students will incorporate classroom material into their ministry setting. Through Applied Ministry Experience, students can develop higher competence and can increase skills in the performance of ministry. Students are to complete the following courses, each of which corresponds to a specific foundational seminar:

- 80621 Applied Ministry Experience I .......................................... 2
- 80622 Applied Ministry Experience II ......................................... 2
- 80623 Applied Ministry Experience III ....................................... 2
- 80624 Applied Ministry Experience IV ....................................... 2

Each course requires one or more projects or assignments related directly to course material covered in the foundational seminar that accompanies it. A written summary for each project is also required. The projects accomplish two purposes:

- to reinforce, expand, and provide a practical experience relative to the seminar content
- to assist the student in preparing for the research project that will culminate the student’s degree program

Project Methodology

Students are required to complete two project methodology courses for a total of 2 credit hours:

- 80601 Project Methodology I ....................................................... 1
- 80602 Project Methodology II ....................................................... 1

Course 80601 is attached to foundational seminar 80612. Course 80602 is attached to foundational seminar 80614. Each project methodology course is held during a three-day period of time and provides preparation for the research project.

Ministry Research Project

The ministry research project (course 80700), is the culmination of the program of study. Through a written report of 75-100 pages, the student has opportunity to apply professional knowledge and documented research into the context of ministry. The entire project is supervised by a committee comprised of the faculty supervisor and the professor who taught courses 80601 and 80602. Prior to beginning the ministry research project, the student must secure approval of a proposal. To secure approval, the student must submit a project prospectus to the two-person committee mentioned above. Once this committee approves the prospectus, the Director of the Doctor of Ministry program will recommend the prospectus to the Associate Vice President for Doctoral Studies for recommendation to the faculty for final approval. Once the prospectus is approved, the student engages in simultaneous research and practice to conduct the project. The results of the project are compiled in written form per specific guidelines. After the project paper has been written, the student must successfully defend the project in an oral exam before a committee of three persons. This committee includes the faculty supervisor, the professor of the project methodology courses, and a third professor who has expertise in the area in which the student prepared his or her project but who has not been involved with the student’s project. The Director of Professional Doctoral Studies will select this third person.

Faculty Supervision

Upon acceptance into the program, a student is assigned to a faculty supervisor. The supervisor is responsible for supervising the student’s progress through the entire program of study.

Doctor of Ministry–Black Church Leadership

The Doctor of Ministry degree with emphasis in Black Church Leadership is designed primarily to equip ministers who serve African-Americans and other racial minorities. The program of study emphasizes meeting needs through urban community ministries and focuses upon the unique concerns relative to ministering to people of color. It is a non-resident degree program that is intended for ministry professionals who desire further academic and practical education but who simultaneously wish to remain on the field of service where God has placed them.

Curriculum Plan

The program of study consists of four areas:
- foundational seminars: 16
- applied ministry experience: 8
- project methodology: 2
- ministry research project: 6

The Director of Professional Doctoral Studies will select this third person.

Faculty Supervision

Upon acceptance into the program, a faculty supervisor will be assigned to the student. This faculty supervisor will guide the student’s progress throughout the program of study.

Doctor of Ministry–Korean Church Leadership

The Doctor of Ministry with emphasis in Korean Church Leadership is designed to support the work of Korean churches in the United States of America. The Doctor of Ministry is a non-resident degree program that is intended for ministry professionals who desire further education but who simultaneously wish to remain on the field of service where God has placed them. The program provides instruction, for the most part, in Korean. Instruction is cross-cultural and entails a team-teaching approach. An adjunct professor from the Korean community is teamed with a professor from Southern Seminary. The Korean professor lectures in Korean and translates for the Southern Seminary professor.
Curriculum Plan

The program of study consists of four areas:
• foundational seminars: 16
• applied ministry experience: 8
• project methodology: 2
• ministry research project: 6
Total D.Min. credit hours: 32

Foundational Seminars

Four foundational seminars, for a total of 16 credit hours, are required:
• 80300 Christian Scripture and the Practice of Ministry .......... 4
• 80400 Christian Heritage and the Practice of Ministry .......... 4
• 80500 Practical Theology and the Practice of Ministry .......... 4
• 80612 Christian Leadership and Missions ............................ 4

Each seminar requires advanced reading and written assignments. These four seminars are not taken concurrently and can be taken in one of two ways. A student can enroll in the seminars when they are offered on the Louisville campus. These seminars are held for one week in January and in summer. A student also can enroll in the seminars when they are offered in off-campus training modules, which are held during fall or spring semesters. Students may take the seminars in any combination of locations. Thus, for example, a student may take one seminar on campus and two at off-campus training sites.

A student may substitute a Doctor of Philosophy degree seminar in place of one of the above-mentioned seminars. A possible substitute course must be in the area of study in which the original seminar was categorized. Permission to substitute must be granted by the following persons:
• the professor in the seminar or course
• the faculty supervisor
• the Director of Professional Doctoral Studies
• the Director of Research Doctoral Studies

Applied Ministry Experience

Because this degree is a professional degree, it is expected that students will incorporate classroom material into their ministry setting. Through Applied Ministry Experience, students can develop higher competence and can increase skills in the performance of ministry. Students are to complete the following courses, each of which corresponds to a specific foundational seminar:
• 80001 Applied Ministry Experience I .............................. 2
• 80002 Applied Ministry Experience II .............................. 2
• 80003 Applied Ministry Experience III ......................... 2
• 80004 Applied Ministry Experience IV ............................ 2

Each course requires one or more projects or assignments related directly to course material covered in the foundational seminar that precedes it. A written summary for each project is also required. The projects accomplish two purposes:
• to reinforce, expand, and provide a practical experience relative to the seminar content
• to assist the student in preparing for the research project that will culminate the student’s degree program

Project Methodology

Students are required to complete a two-hour project methodology seminar (course 80600).

During the course, students interact with one another and with their faculty supervisors. Peer groups, library research, and resource personnel are utilized extensively.

Prerequisites for this seminar include:
• three foundational seminars
• advanced reading requirements

The ministry research project, a written report of 75-100 pages (course 80700), is the culmination of the program of study. Through the project, the student has opportunity to apply professional knowledge and documented research into the context of ministry. Prior to beginning the ministry research project, the student must secure approval of a proposal. To secure approval, the student must submit a project prospectus to the Professional Doctoral Studies office. The project must be written in English. The results of the project are compiled in written form per specific guidelines. After the project paper has been written, the student must successfully defend the project in an oral exam before a committee of three persons, including the faculty supervisor and two other faculty readers. The Director of Professional Doctoral Studies and the faculty supervisor will choose the additional committee members. Specific details concerning the Ministry Research Project may be secured from the Professional Doctoral Studies office.

Faculty Supervision

Upon acceptance into the program, a faculty supervisor will be assigned to the student. This supervisor will guide the student’s progress throughout the program of study.

Policies for Doctor of Missiology Program

Overview

The Doctor of Missiology (D.Miss.) is an advanced professional degree in missiology designed especially for missionary practitioners. Students who expect to teach missions should pursue the Doctor of Philosophy program of study rather than the Doctor of Missiology program.

The purpose of the Doctor of Missiology program is to prepare persons for enhanced cross-cultural ministry by means of advanced studies in Christian missions and related disciplines. Students in the program take Doctor of Philosophy seminars in Christian missions and related subjects. The program culminates with a field research project that addresses an issue in the student’s missionary context.

Faculty Supervision

Each student in the Doctor of Missiology program is under the guidance of a faculty supervisor. The student is to request one of the Graham School graduate faculty as that supervisor. The faculty supervisor will advise the student in all matters related to the course of study, colloquium work, comprehensive examinations, and field research project writing.

Length of Time Allowed

Students should allow at least three years of study to complete their program but should take no more than four years. Students who take longer than four years will be assessed an additional fee for each semester of extension beyond the four-year limit. Under no circumstances shall a student extend the time of completion beyond six years. An exception to these time limitations may be granted to students who are international missionaries and who study only during their periods of stateside assignment.

Minimum Grade Point

For each individual component of the program, a student must receive a minimum grade of “B” (8.0 on a 12.0 scale). If a student receives a grade that is lower than a “B” (8.0 on a 12.0 scale) on any individual component, that component must be repeated. Furthermore, that student is placed on probation. If a student receives two successive grades that are lower than a “B” (8.0 on a 12.0 scale), the student will be terminated from the program.
Doctor of Missiology Program Description and Requirements

The student is to complete the following with passing grades in order to graduate with a Doctor of Missiology degree.

- working knowledge of one modern language .................... 0
- 81020 Graduate Research Seminar .................................. 2
- 81160 Empirical Research and Computer Applications ........ 0
- four doctoral colloquia (one per semester) ......................... 8
- 86100 The History of Christian Missions ............................ 4
- 86120 Philosophy and Methodology of Missions ................... 4
- 86140 Theology of the Christian Mission ............................ 4
- 88620 World Evangelization Strategies ............................... 4
- one additional Billy Graham School elective seminar .............. 0
- elective seminar in world religions (88100-88300) ................. 4
- elective seminar in evangelism and church growth (88580-88750) ................................................................. 4
- 86130 Cultural Anthropology and Christian Witness ............ 0
- comprehensive exams .................................................... 0
- 80700 Ministry Research Project ...................................... 6
Total D.Miss. credit hours .................................................. 48

The student is allowed considerable flexibility in the order in which required seminars must be taken.

Language Requirement

A working knowledge of one modern language (other than English) is required. The faculty supervisor must approve the language. The decision as to the language to be learned will take into consideration the student’s area of specialization, the field language that is appropriate to his or her missions work, and particular needs. Students for whom English is a second language may substitute English for the modern language.

A student demonstrates a working knowledge of a language by earning a passing grade in a non-credit course offered under faculty supervision or on a doctoral language proficiency examination. The exams are offered twice a year in August and in January.

Graduate Research Seminar (course 81020) should be taken in the student’s first or second semester.

Empirical Research and Computer Applications (course 81160) may be waived if the student can demonstrate proficiency in empirical research methodologies, statistical analysis, and computer applications.

Doctoral Colloquia

Doctoral colloquia are designed to be a forum for exploration of issues and developments in particular areas of study. Students normally are required to take four doctoral colloquia.

Comprehensive Examinations

Comprehensive examinations are written examinations that correspond to the student’s doctoral study. Although doctoral seminars help to develop the student’s knowledge, they are not sufficient to acquire the breadth of knowledge that competency in a field mandates. Thus, preparation for comprehensive exams will begin immediately upon acceptance into the doctoral program and continue until the time that comprehensive examinations are taken. Guidance toward developing a plan of preparation for the exams will be offered by the student’s faculty supervisor.

The written comprehensive examination lasts for four hours. The examination will include four one-hour examinations on the following areas of study: missions history, missions strategy, anthropology, and world religions. Students are required to take their comprehensive examinations at the end of the semester in which they complete their seminar requirements or during the next semester. A student may not be on Interrupted Status during the semester he or she takes the comprehensive examination. A notice of intention to take the comprehensive examination should be submitted to the Doctor of Missiology Program Director at the beginning of the semester when the examination will be taken.

In order to pass the comprehensive examination, the student must earn a score of “B+” (9.0 on a 12.0 scale). If the student receives a grade lower than a “B+” (9.0 on a 12.0 scale), his performance will be reviewed. Permission for a second examination may be granted. A second failure on the comprehensive examinations will result in forfeiture of Doctor of Missiology candidacy status.

Field Research Project

Following satisfactory completion of the seminar requirements and the comprehensive examinations, the student will conduct a field research project that addresses a missiological issue in his or her missionary context and that demonstrates a high level of research skill. This research will be presented in a project similar to that written by Doctor of Ministry students.

Before writing the project, the student must submit a prospectus for approval by the Graham School faculty and the seminary faculty. The project must be prepared according to the guidelines approved by the seminary faculty.

Upon completion of the project report, the student must successfully defend it before a committee of three persons who have been approved by the faculty of the Department of Christian Missions.

Specific details regarding the research project report may be obtained from the Professional Doctoral Studies office.

Policies for Research Doctoral Studies

Overview of Research Doctoral Programs

The purpose of the Master of Theology degree program and the Doctor of Philosophy degree program is to give students of superior ability an opportunity to prepare themselves thoroughly for effective leadership in religious thought and life. This purpose embraces the preparation of students for many areas of service. Its main objective is the advanced preparation of pastors and teachers of religion. The entire program of study is designed to equip students for excellence in advanced scholarship and its application to Christian ministry.

Residency Requirements

Both the Master of Theology and the Doctor of Philosophy are residential degree programs. Candidates must reside within a 50-mile radius of the seminary. Students are required to spend at least 40 hours per week on campus engaged in serious theological study. Petitions for exemption to this residency requirement should be directed to the Graham School Director of Research Doctoral Studies, who will forward the request to the Associate Vice President for Doctoral Studies.

Research Doctoral Areas of Study

The Master of Theology (Th.M.) program and the Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) program involve specific areas of study. An authorized professor or professors oversee each area of study. The areas of study along with the authorized professor or professors are as follows:

Christian Missions

- W. Bryant Hicks
- George H. Martin
- John Mark Terry
- David Sills (Th.M. only)
World Religions
• James D. Chancellor

Evangelism and Church Growth
• Timothy K. Beougher
• Don R. Cox
• Charles E. Lawless, Jr.
• Thom S. Rainer
• John Mark Terry

Additional areas of study may be chosen from the School of Theology research doctoral divisions.

Research Doctoral Program
Descriptions and Requirements

Master of Theology Degree
The primary purpose of the Master of Theology program is to equip students for advanced scholarship and its application to Christian ministry. Through this program, students have opportunity to cultivate their competencies in a chosen field of specialization.

Committee of Instruction
The student, in consultation with a supervisory professor, will select two other professors who, together with the supervisory professor, will form the student’s Committee of Instruction. This committee will direct the student’s course of study and thesis research.

Length of Time Allowed
The Master of Theology degree is designed to be completed in two semesters (one year). After three semesters, a student must apply through the Office of Doctoral Studies for an extension in order to continue in the program. An extension of up to two additional semesters may be allowed. Under no circumstances shall a student extend the time of completion beyond a total program length of five semesters (two and a half years).

Students who are granted extensions will be assessed an additional fee for each semester beyond the one and a half-year limit. The extension fee, however, will be waived for each semester a student has served as grader, teaching assistant, or sole instructor of a class during his or her program of study.

Course Load
The normal semester course load is 12 credit hours per semester. The maximum course load is 14 credit hours per semester.

Minimum Grade Point
The minimum passing grade in any course (doctoral seminar, advanced master’s level elective, or colloquium) is a “B-” (7.0 on a 12.0 scale). Any student who earns a grade lower than a “B-” (7.0 on a 12.0 scale) on any course will:
• lose credit for the work done in that course
• be placed on probation
• forfeit the Resident Doctoral Grant for that semester
• have his or her status reviewed

If after two semesters of probation a student cannot maintain a “B-” average (7.0 on a 12.0 scale), the student will be terminated from the program. Furthermore, the student will need to reimburse the seminary for the amount of the Research Doctoral Studies Grant issued to that student.

Curriculum Plan
Normally, no academic work done prior to acceptance as a student in the Master of Theology degree program will be credited toward that program. The one exception to this policy is course 81020: Graduate Research Seminar, which may be taken as a Master of Divinity student at Southern. Two programs of study are available to Th.M. students.

The traditional program of study leading to the Th.M. degree requires the submission and defense of a thesis. In addition, the following coursework in doctoral colloquia and doctoral seminars or advanced level master’s electives must be completed with passing grades. At least one doctoral seminar must be included in the program of study. The doctoral colloquia and at least two of the seminars/electives must be completed in the student’s major area of study.

Traditional Program
First Semester:
• Doctoral colloquium (major area) ................................................. 2
• 81020 Graduate Research Seminar ............................................. 2
• Doctoral seminar or advanced master’s level elective (major area) ................................................ 4
• 81050 Thesis Research ............................................................... 4

Second Semester:
• Doctoral colloquium (major area) ................................................. 2
• Doctoral seminar or advanced master’s level elective (major area) ................................................ 4
• Doctoral seminar ................................................................. 4
• 81060 Thesis Writing ............................................................. 2
Total program credit hours ...................................................... 24

A program of study which does not require the writing of a thesis is also available but should only be pursued upon the recommendation of the student’s supervisory professor. Two additional doctoral seminars (or advanced master’s level electives) are to be taken in the place of the thesis. At least one doctoral seminar must be included in the program of study. The doctoral colloquia and at least three of the seminars/electives must be completed in the student’s major area of study. The curriculum plan for the no-thesis Th.M. degree follows:

Non-Thesis Program
First Semester:
• Doctoral colloquium (major area) ................................................. 2
• 81020 Graduate Research Seminar ............................................. 2
• Advanced master’s level elective or doctoral seminar .................. 4
• Advanced master’s level elective or doctoral seminar ............... 4

Second Semester:
• Doctoral colloquium (major area) ................................................. 2
• Doctoral seminar ................................................................. 4
• Advanced master’s level elective or doctoral seminar ............... 4
• Advanced master’s level elective or doctoral seminar ............... 4
Total program credit hours ...................................................... 26

Students who have been admitted to the Th.M. program will need to discuss program options with their supervisory professors at orientation. Application is made to the Th.M. program at Southern Seminary.

Course Selection
Students may receive four hours of credit for a three-hour Master of Divinity elective if:
• the professor teaching the course gives written approval prior to registration
• the professor submits this approval to the Research Doctoral Studies Office and the Academic Records office

Thesis

Students pursuing the traditional Th.M. program shall write a thesis of between 50 and 100 pages (in courses 81050 and 81060). The subject is to be in the student’s major field of study and is to be selected in consultation with the student’s supervisor and Committee of Instruction.

Before writing the thesis, the student must submit a prospectus for approval by the Committee of Instruction and the seminary faculty.

The thesis is designed to demonstrate the student’s research abilities. The conclusions reached and positions taken in a thesis are the student’s. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the student’s Committee of Instruction or the seminary faculty as a whole. The student is required to remain in residence until the thesis has been completed and submitted.

Information concerning requirements and procedures is available from the Graham School Director of Research Doctoral Studies.

Thesis Defense

The Committee of Instruction must unanimously approve the thesis. If the student fails the thesis, the committee may allow the thesis to be resubmitted. A second failure will result in the student’s forfeiture of status as a Master of Theology student.

The thesis, upon completion, is processed through the seminary faculty for approval. It is then submitted for copyrighting, microfilming, and binding.

Doctor of Philosophy Degree

The primary purpose of the Doctor of Philosophy program is to provide students of exceptional ability and promise with the highest level of academic training. This training is designed to prepare students for Christian leadership in advanced scholarship, independent research, and effective ministry. The cultivation of these competencies in a chosen field of specialization is intended to qualify graduates for college or seminary teaching, for the pastorate, and for other church-related ministries that utilize such training and expertise.

Areas of Study

Students in the Doctor of Philosophy program in the Billy Graham School have a major area of study and one or two minor areas. The minor or minors must be determined in consultation with the faculty supervisor. A student who chooses to pursue only one minor has the option to take two seminars as free electives in consultation with the faculty supervisor. For a listing of fields and areas, see page 134-135.

Committee of Instruction

The student’s Committee of Instruction is normally composed of the student’s supervisor and two other professors whose doctoral areas the student elects. This committee will work with the student in all matters related to the course of study, colloquium work, comprehensive examinations, and dissertation research and writing.

Length of Time Allowed

There are many factors which affect the length of time needed to complete the Ph.D. program. Although students typically need four years to meet all requirements, some have finished in as few as three years. Students may apply for extensions for any semester beyond four years through the Office of Doctoral Studies. Students who are granted extensions will be assessed an additional fee for each semester of extension beyond the four-year limit. The extension fee, however, will be waived for each semester a student has served as grader, teaching assistant, or sole instructor of a class during his or her program of study. Under no circumstances shall a student extend the time of completion beyond twelve semesters (six years).

Course Load

The normal course load is 10 credit hours per semester. The maximum load is 14 credit hours per semester.

Minimum Grade Point

The minimum passing grade in any course (seminar, external work, or colloquium) is a “B” (8.0 on a 12.0 scale). Any student who earns a grade lower than a “B” (8.0 on a 12.0 scale) on any course will:

• lose credit for the work done in that course
• be placed on probation
• have his or her student status reviewed

If after two semesters of probation a student has not maintained a “B” average (8.0 on a 12.0 scale), the student will be terminated from the program. Furthermore, the student will need to reimburse the seminary for the amount of the Research Doctoral Studies Grant issued to that student.

Curriculum Plan

Normally, no academic work done prior to acceptance as a student will be credited toward a doctoral degree.

Students are allowed considerable flexibility in the order in which required seminars must be taken. The student is to complete the following with passing grades in order to graduate with a Doctor of Philosophy degree:

• working knowledge of two modern languages .......................... 0
• eight seminars ................................................................. 32
• 81020 Graduate Research Seminar ...................................... 2
• 81200 Teaching Principles and Methods ................................. 4
• 81300 Higher Education .................................................... 2
• five doctoral colloquia (one per semester) ............................... 10
• comprehensive exams ....................................................... 0
• dissertation ................................................................. 8
• dissertation defense ......................................................... 8
Total Ph.D. credit hours ....................................................... 66

Language Requirements

A working knowledge of two modern and/or classical languages is required. In some cases a third language may be required if the Committee of Instruction determines that the chosen program of study requires it. In all cases, the Committee of Instruction must approve the languages chosen in consultation with the Director for Research Doctoral Studies. The decision as to the languages to be learned will take into consideration the student’s area of specialization and particular needs.

A working knowledge of one language must be demonstrated prior to taking doctoral seminars. If a student does not do so, that student will be required to take a reduced load during the first semester of study. Competence in the second language must be demonstrated prior to the beginning of the student’s third semester of study.

A student demonstrates a working knowledge of a language by earning a passing grade in a non-credit course offered under faculty supervision or on a doctoral language proficiency examination. The exams are offered twice a year during Th.M./Ph.D. orientation (August and January) and are administered by the Office of Research Doctoral Studies.

Exceptions to these language requirements may be made upon recommendation of the student’s Committee of Instruction and approval of the Director for Research Doctoral Studies. The only instances in which an exception will be granted are for students:

• for whom English is a second language. These students may substitute their native language for one of the modern or classical languages if the substitution would be viewed as an asset to the required research within the area of study.
• who major in missions and world religions may, as one of their options, choose a language appropriate to their work
• who are expected or required to engage in empirical research.
These students may substitute demonstrated competency in statistics and computer language for one of the modern or classical languages.

Required Eight Seminars in Two of Three
Areas of Study

Doctor of Philosophy students pursue the study of their major and minor areas through seminar research. Eight seminars, which carry four credit hours each, are required. Students must consult with their faculty supervisor to determine the courses to take.

Students in the Evangelism and Church Growth Ph.D. program must take four required seminars in their major field (88580, 88620, 88700, 88750). Two of the remaining four seminars must also be Graham School seminars, chosen with the input of the student’s faculty advisor. Students majoring in missions must take four seminars in missions (86100, 86120, 86130, 86140). Two of the remaining four seminars must also be Graham School seminars, chosen with the input of the student’s faculty advisor.

External Seminar Option

Upon recommendation of a student’s supervisor and approval by the Associate Vice President for Doctoral Studies, one or two of a student’s eight seminars may be taken at an approved doctoral-granting institute (other than Southern Seminary). Normally this study would contribute to the student’s major field of specialization or would be at least relevant to the student’s program of study. If the optional for external study is chosen, the work must be completed after the student is accepted into the Doctor of Philosophy program but before that student takes comprehensive examinations.

Upon completion of the external study, the student is to submit a descriptive and evaluative statement of that external study. The student’s supervisory professor and the Associate Vice President for Doctoral Studies must approve this report.

Students engaged in external study will pay fees and tuition charges prescribed by the host institution. The student will also need to register at Southern Seminary under Ph.D. Student: Affiliated Registration (course 81990) to receive credit for the external seminar (see p. 47 for fee). If the student is simultaneously taking courses for credit at Southern Seminary, the student also will pay the seminary registration fees. The seminary endeavors to negotiate with universities and seminaries to abridge or eliminate the full admissions process for a Southern Seminary student who enrolls as a visiting student to complete external studies.

The student is responsible for requesting that an official transcript of course work taken at other institutions be sent to the Academic Services office at Southern Seminary.

Courses 81020, 81200 and 81300

Three seminars focusing on academic relation and research meth-dology are required of every Doctor of Philosophy student in the Graham School.

Graduate Research Seminar (course 81020) should be taken in the student’s first or second semester.

Teaching Principles and Methods (course 81200), which is only offered in Summer term, can be taken any time after the student completes two semesters of study.

Higher Education (course 81300) is offered in the Summer only as a two-day conference/workshop. It may be taken after the student has completed comprehensive examinations or with special permission.

Doctoral Colloquia

Doctoral colloquia are designed to be a forum for exploration of issues and developments in a student’s major area of study. Students normally are required to take five doctoral colloquia—four before comprehensive examinations and one after. After a student has passed comprehensive examinations, colloquium responsibilities are related as closely as possible to his or her dissertation research. Each department reserves the right to require additional colloquium participation beyond the minimum of five.

Comprehensive Examinations

Comprehensive examinations are written and/or oral examinations that correspond to the student’s three areas of doctoral study.
Although doctoral seminars help to develop the student’s knowledge, they are not sufficient to acquire the breadth of knowledge that competency in an area mandates. Thus, preparation for compre-prehensive exams will begin immediately upon acceptance into the doctoral program and continue up to the time that comprehensive examinations are taken. Guidance toward developing a plan of preparation for the exams will be offered by the student’s Committee of Instruction. The written examinations last for three days and entail four hours of writing each day.

Comprehensive examinations are offered twice each year (in November and in May). Normally, a student will be required to take comprehensive examinations during the semester which follows the completion of all area seminar requirements. A student may not be on Interrupted Status during the semester he or she takes the Comprehensive Examinations.

A notice of intention to take the comprehensive examinations must be filed with the Associate Vice President for Doctoral Studies.
The Research Doctoral Studies calendar, available from the Office of Doctoral Studies, provides deadlines for filing this notice of intention.

Failure on any of the three written parts of the exam will result in a review of the student’s performance by the Committee of Instruction and the Associate Vice President for Doctoral Studies. Permission for a second examination in the area of the failure may be granted, or the committee may require that the student take a second exam in all three areas. A second failure on the comprehensive examinations will result in forfeiture of Doctor of Philosophy candidacy status. Students who forfeit candidacy status will be awarded the Master of Theology degree provided they have satisfactorily completed, as part of their Ph.D. programs, the 26 hours of coursework required by the no-thesis Th.M. program.

Dissertation

Each student must demonstrate the ability to conduct original research by submitting to the faculty a dissertation in some specific field. The dissertation should be between 150 and 300 pages in length (+/- 10%). In rare instances permission may be given to either fall short of the minimum or exceed the maximum page length. All conclusions reached and positions taken in a dissertation are the student’s. They do not necessarily represent the views of the student’s Committee of Instruction or those of the seminary faculty as a whole.

The subject of the dissertation is to be in the student’s major field of study and is to be selected in consultation with the student’s Commitee of Instruction. Before writing the dissertation, the student must submit a prospectus for approval by the Committee of Instruction, the faculty of the Billy Graham School, the Associate Vice President for Doctoral Studies, and the seminary faculty.

Upon completion, the dissertation is to be submitted to an external reader. This external reader must have acknowledged competency in the student’s area of study. The external reader will submit a written evaluation to the student’s Committee of Instruction. Information on dissertation requirements is available from the Graham School Director for Research Doctoral Studies or the Associate Vice President for Doctoral Studies.

Dissertations may not be written in absentia. Any student who wishes to appeal this rule must petition the Associate Vice President for Doctoral Studies.

Dissertation Defense

The Committee of Instruction will give a final two-hour examination on the student’s dissertation and any relevant subjects. The Committee must unanimously approve the dissertation. If the student fails the dissertation or the dissertation defense, the Committee may allow the dissertation to be resubmitted and may require a second dissertation defense. A second failure will result in the student’s forfeiture of status as a Doctor of Philosophy student. If this forfeiture of status occurs, the student will be awarded the Master of Theology degree provided he/she has successfully completed, as part of the Ph.D. program, the 26 hours of coursework required by the no-thesis Th.M. program.

The dissertation, upon completion, is processed through the seminary faculty for approval. It is then submitted for copyrighting, microfilming, and binding.
